Under the Hawthorn Tree

by Marita Conlon-McKenna ISBN/ASIN: 978-1402219061

→ RATIONALE: This book is a fictional account of a family during the 1840s when Ireland was devastated by the potato famine. Although it is a dark time in history, this story also shows the resilience of the three siblings, who continue to care for one another despite hunger, fear, and constant uncertainty. This is an important event that helps students understand why so many Irish immigrants came to the US during this time period.
