About the Course

Journey into the 19th century via novels, short stories, personal narratives, fairy tales, and more. Students engage with a variety of authors and texts from and about the time period and reflect on literary techniques and the characteristics of multiple genres along the way.

This topic is included in the following course(s): Literature: Grade 11, Literature: Grade 12

Placement & Combining Tips

Some books shared with other high school grades. Literature, history, and geography lessons work in sync in Grades 9-12, so it is best to consider all three together when placing students.

General Lit.: Grades 11-12

☐ Jane Eyre (Term 2: Option 1) This novel touches on difficult themes, including a child in an unhappy home situation, loss, a romantic relationship with a significant secret, mental illness, and questions of faith and duty. Teachers may wish to preview these elements before assigning.

☐ James (Term 2: Option 2) This novel is recommended for mature students, as it includes strong language, racial slurs and stereotypes, and graphic scenes of violence and abuse, mainly directed towards the enslaved characters in the novel. These scenes intensify toward the end of the novel. Pre-reading or familiarizing yourself with the content to determine suitability for your student(s) is encouraged. Frankenstein or Silas Marner from General Lit.: Grades 9-10 are also possible alternatives.

How To Approach

Read

The lesson plans will guide you through what to read over the terms. Take a moment before reading to remember where you left off last time.

Narrate

The lesson plans will give you specific instructions or tell you to choose a way to narrate that helps you interact with the ideas.

Discuss

The lesson plans will guide you with questions or instructions to share your ideas or what you are reading with others.

Teacher Note

These lessons are written directly to students, but to assist them throughout the year, please read through this section and the lesson plans so you are familiar with the instructions and flow of the lessons. Accountability components are occasionally added to facilitate teacher/student discussion and growing independence.

It is also valuable for those in a classroom setting to have a mix of lessons that students complete themselves silently and others read aloud and narrate together. Literature lessons lend themselves well to a larger discussion time at the end of the lesson where student can share their ideas.

Term 1

WEEK 1 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 1

Materials: The Count of Monte Cristo

→ INTRO

Alexandre Dumas's The Count of Monte Cristo is a well-loved story of betrayal, revenge, and redemption. It was originally written as a serial, so as you read, imagine the experience of the first readers who were continuously given cliff hangers and had to wait for the next installment of the plot!

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Plan to read for about 20 minutes each week and leave 10 minutes for narration and discussion. The edition chosen for this course is the abridged version, but it is still too long to cover in two terms just by reading during lesson time. Feel free to read more of the book in your free time. Or just read 20 minutes each week, and if you are interested, you can finish the book after the end of the term.

- There are a lot of characters in this novel! Begin a character list today, and jot down a few details. What kind of man is Edmond Dantès at the opening of the novel?

WEEK 1 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 2

Materials: Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass or Up From Slavery

→ INTRO (OPTION 1: NARRATIVE OF THE LIFE OF FREDERICK DOUGLASS)

Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass is a classic 19th-century autobiography that details the author's story from slavery to freedom. Douglass was born enslaved in Maryland in 1818 and escaped to freedom when he was around twenty years old. He went on to have a remarkable life as a national leader of the abolitionist movement, writer, orator, and statesman.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.1-7 "I was born in Tuckahoe" - "a good overseer."

- What do we learn about Frederick Douglass's family in this opening reading?
 - What initial impressions do you have of his narrative style? How might this be connected to his aims for this autobiography? Consider in particular how he describes the more difficult and violent episodes from his childhood.

→ INTRO (OPTION 2: UP FROM SLAVERY)

Today, we begin reading the autobiography of Booker T. Washington. It was first written as a periodical, but was later put into book form. Washington was born a slave, but was still a child when emancipation occurred. He later founded Tuskegee Institute in Alabama and spent his life advancing the cause of equal rights. His writings give a window into the Reconstruction period that followed the American Civil War.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.I p.1-11 "I was born" - "owners as to the future."

- How does Washington describe his childhood? How does he describe the day of emancipation?

★ TEACHER NOTE

Sensitive content: Douglass's Narrative contains several graphic descriptions of beatings and racial slurs.

Materials: Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass or Up From Slavery

→ RECAP (OPTION 1: NARRATIVE OF THE LIFE OF FREDERICK DOUGLASS)

Term 1

What do you recall from last week's reading?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.13-19 "His savage barbarity" - "voice of tranquil music."

- Why do you think it is important for his narrative that Douglass describes violence in such detail? How does it strengthen his anti-slavery argument?
 - Why was leaving Colonel Lloyd's plantation such a turning point for Douglass?

→ RECAP (OPTION 2: UP FROM SLAVERY)

What do you remember from last week's reading?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

- What hardships does he encounter while traveling, and how does he respond to them? Where does he find the strength to persevere?
- Describe Mrs. Ruffner and how she impacted his life. Who else had an impact on Washington?

WEEK 4 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 7

Materials: The Count of Monte Cristo

→ RECAP

Take a moment to remember where you left off in the story last week.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Read for ~20 minutes and narrate.

- What is the political situation in France as the action of the novel begins?
- Continue to add to your character list.

WEEK 4 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 8

Materials: Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass or Up From Slavery

→ RECAP (OPTION 1: NARRATIVE OF THE LIFE OF FREDERICK DOUGLASS)

What do you recall from last week's reading?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.19-26 "But alas!" - "learning how to write."

- How did Douglass's experiences with the Aulds set him "on the pathway from slavery to freedom"? Why did Mr. Auld forbid his wife to teach Douglass to read, and what did Douglass learn from this about literacy?
 - How does Douglass teach himself to read and write? What obstacles does he face, and what does he learn about his own situation from what he reads?

→ RECAP (OPTION 2: UP FROM SLAVERY)

What do you remember from last week's reading?

→ NARRATE & DISCUSS

Write, sketch, or tell your narration briefly and then save 5-10 minutes to either answer the question(s) below or pick a few reflection questions of your own at the end of each chapter to discuss (orally or in writing).

- The first sentence of this novel is the famous: "There was no possibility of taking a walk that day." What is evoked by this sentence? What does it assume, deny, or allude to?
- View question #2 or #3 on p.263 and reflect orally or in writing,

→ INTRO (OPTION 2: JAMES)

Percival Everett described his novel James as a conversation with Mark Twain's The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, where events from Twain's novel are reimagined from the perspective of Jim, the runaway slave. It won the Pulitzer Prize in 2025, and the committee described it as "an accomplished reconsideration of Huckleberry Finn that gives agency to Jim to illustrate the absurdity of racial supremacy and provide a new take on the search for family and freedom."

→ NOTE

This book is too long to finish in the term, just by reading during lesson time. Feel free to read more of the book in your free time, or if you are interested, finish it after the end of the term.

• COMPOSITION

How does the scene in the red room reflect Gothic literature? (Elements of Gothic literature include mystery, death, the supernatural, gloom and doom, and horror.) Notice details such as the secret drawer in the wardrobe, the jewel-casket, and parchment, along with words such as spell, secret, blood, and chill. Does the scene become too unrealistic to be believable, or does Brontë succeed in making it realistic?

What stood out to you the most from the last reading? What questions do you have at this point in your reading?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.4-6 p.33-52

- Why do you think James is helping and protecting Huck when doing so puts him in danger?
- Why is James drawn to reading Enlightenment thinkers such as Voltaire, who wrote about freedom and equality while also espousing racist views? What does his fever-dream debate with Voltaire tell us about James's views and self-education?

WEEK 4 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 31

Materials: The Count of Monte Cristo

→ RECAP

Take a moment to remember where you left off in the story last week.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Read for ~20 minutes and narrate.

- Consider the character of Dantès/The Count. Do you recognize any of the traits he possessed at the beginning of the novel? Or did his time in prison transform him into a completely different person? Have you disapproved of any of his actions so far?

Term 2

WEEK 4 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 32

Materials: Jane Eyre or James

→ RECAP (OPTION 1: JANE EYRE)

In the last chapter, Jane was to be sent to Lowood Institution. Tell back what you remember.

→ READ

Ch.5 p.86-105 OR Read/listen for about 20 minutes and narrate for 10 minutes.

→ NARRATE & DISCUSS

Write, sketch, or tell your narration briefly and then save 5-10 minutes to either answer the question(s) below or pick a few reflection questions of your own at the end of each chapter to discuss (orally or in writing).

- View question #9 or #10 on p.264-265 and reflect orally or in writing, -----

→ RECAP (OPTION 2: JAMES)

Tell back what you remember about why James is on the run and why it is so much more dangerous for him with Huck along.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.7-10 p.53-70

- Reread what James wrote on p.55. He has never had the opportunity to write before: why do you think these are the words he composes first?
- Why does James not agree to go across the river to Illinois?

WEEK 5 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 33

Materials: The Count of Monte Cristo

→ RECAP

Take a moment to remember where you left off in the story last week.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Read for ~20 minutes and narrate.

- Review your character list: what early opinions about some of the characters are you beginning to change? Take some time to add to your notes about characters if you are behind.

WEEK 5 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 34

Materials: Jane Eyre or James

→ RECAP (OPTION 1: JANE EYRE)

What is Lowood Institution like so far?

→ READ

Ch.6-7 p.105-129 OR Read/listen for about 20 minutes and narrate for 10 minutes.

→ NARRATE & DISCUSS

Write, sketch, or tell your narration briefly and then save 5-10 minutes to either answer the question(s) below or pick a few reflection questions of your own at the end of each chapter to discuss (orally or in writing).

- View question #11 or #12 on p.264-265 and reflect orally or in writing, -----

Term 2

→ RECAP (OPTION 2: JAMES)

What do you recall from your reading last week about the relationship between Huck and James?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.11-15 p.71-92

- Why is reading such a dangerous act? Why does James want to hide it from Huck? What realization does he have about the power of reading?
- What are some examples of irony that you have come across so far? Irony can be verbal (characters saying the opposite of what they mean), situational (the opposite of what one might expect happens), or dramatic (the reader/audience knows more than the character).

WEEK 6 □ 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 35

□ Materials: The Count of Monte Cristo

→ RECAP

Take a moment to remember where you left off in the story last week.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Read for ~20 minutes and narrate.

- Which character are you enjoying reading about the most? Which character the least? Why?

WEEK 6 □ 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 36

□ Materials: Jane Eyre or James

→ RECAP (OPTION 1: JANE EYRE)

Tell what you remember about Jane's friendship with Helen Burns.

→ READ

Ch.8-9 p.130-153 OR Read/listen for about 20 minutes and narrate for 10 minutes.

→ NARRATE & DISCUSS

Write, sketch, or tell your narration briefly and then save 5-10 minutes to either answer the question(s) below or pick a few reflection questions of your own at the end of each chapter to discuss (orally or in writing).

- View question #13 or #14 on p.265 and reflect orally or in writing, -----

→ RECAP (OPTION 2: JAMES)

What do you recall from your reading last week?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.16-19 p.93-113

- What does having a pencil mean to James? What did the risk cost George, and how does this change James's relationship with the pencil?
- What does James mean when he writes, "With myself I wrote myself into being. I wrote myself to here."? How does this reflect back on Everett's vision for his novel?
- Soon after James writes these words, there is a retelling of a scene from Huckleberry Finn when Jim and Huck reunite, and Huck witnesses the feud between the Harney and Grangerford families. If you are familiar with Twain's novel, how does Everett adapt this story into his own?

• COMPOSITION

Helen's moving deathbed scene is a central moment in Jane's life, in her faith, and in her development as a character. Write about the literary, emotional, and theological significance of this scene.

WEEK 7 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 37

Materials: The Count of Monte Cristo

→ RECAP

Take a moment to remember where you left off in the story last week.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Read for ~20 minutes and narrate.

- Reflect back on what you have read so far. What do you think of the pacing of the plot? Is it uneven? Too fast or slow? Would you describe the novel as a "page turner"? Is there a scene that you think would be a compelling scene in a play?

• COMPOSITION - Script

Choose a scene you have read so far in The Count of Monte Cristo, and rewrite it as a script for a play or movie.

WEEK 7 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 38

Materials: Jane Eyre or James

Ch.10 p.153-169 OR Read/listen for about 20 minutes and narrate for 10 minutes.

→ NARRATE & DISCUSS

Write, sketch, or tell your narration briefly and then save 5-10 minutes to either answer the question(s) below or pick a few reflection questions of your own at the end of each chapter to discuss (orally or in writing).

- What does it tell us about Jane that it takes Miss Temple's departure, rather than her own ambition, to push her toward a new life? Is she being passive, or is there something else going on?

→ RECAP (OPTION 2: JAMES)

What do you recall from last week about the introduction of the Duke and the King?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.20-22 p.114-132

- What happens at the revival?
- Why are James and Huck in so much more danger once they cross paths with the Duke and the King?
- If you know Twain's original story, discuss how Everett is adapting it with these episodes.

→ RECAP (OPTION 2: JAMES)

What do you remember from last week about James's interaction with Easter?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.26-29 p.149-169

- How is James being sold to Emmett so that he can sing with the Virginia Minstrels an example of irony?
- What do you think of the character of Emmett? Do you think he is trustworthy?

WEEK 10 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 43

Materials: The Count of Monte Cristo

→ RECAP

Take a moment to remember where you left off in the story last week.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Read for ~20 minutes and narrate.

- Since The Count of Monte Cristo was published in the mid-1840s, there has been a debate about what type of book it is. Some have seen it as a literary masterpiece, while others argue it is a precursor to popular pulp fiction. Do you have an opinion one way or another? Can you find examples that support and refute both sides of the debate?
- Continue to add to your character list.

WEEK 10 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 44

Materials: Jane Eyre or James

→ RECAP (OPTION 1: JANE EYRE)

How did Jane meet Mr. Rochester?

→ NOTE

This week is a longer reading. You can split this lesson between two days this week, or read some in your free time.

→ READ

Ch.13-14 p.209-244 OR Read/listen for about 20 minutes and narrate for 10 minutes.

→ NARRATE & DISCUSS

Write, sketch, or tell your narration briefly and then save 5-10 minutes to either answer the question(s) below or pick a few reflection questions of your own at the end of each chapter to discuss (orally or in writing).

- Why do you think Brontë introduces Rochester as someone who breaks the rules of polite behavior? How does Jane's refusal to defer to him set up their relationship as something different from the typical governess-employer dynamic?

Do you find Rochester sympathetic at this point in the novel, or does something about him make you uneasy?

What do you recall from last week about the members of the Virginia

Term 2

Minstrels?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.30-Part 2 Ch.1 p.170-196

- Why do you think it is at this stage of the story that James is beginning to experience some new, complicated feelings - "a good bad feeling," he calls one of them (176)?
- What do you think of the songs Emmett writes? Why does James think they need to be part of his story? (All the songs are included as a preface to the novel; if you want to review them.)
- What has the pencil come to mean to James?

WEEK 11 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 45

Materials: The Count of Monte Cristo

→ RECAP

Take a moment to remember where you left off in the story last week.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Read for ~20 minutes and narrate.

- At whatever point you are at in the novel, think about how you would describe Dantès/The Count of Monte Cristo. Is he the hero of the story? Is he a tragic anti-hero figure, like a good guy gone wrong? Or is he an outright villain?
- Several weeks ago, you reflected on the relationship between revenge and justice. Today, consider the question of morality. What actions taken by Dantès have been moral? Do you see him as fundamentally a moral character, or the opposite?
- Review your character list. How have the characters changed since your first impressions of them?

WEEK 11 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 46

Materials: Jane Eyre or James

→ RECAP (OPTION 1: JANE EYRE)

What do you think will happen next in the story?

→ READ

Ch.15 p.244-262 OR Read/listen for about 20 minutes and narrate for 10 minutes.

→ NARRATE & DISCUSS

Write, sketch, or tell your narration briefly and then save 5-10 minutes to either answer the question(s) below or pick a few reflection questions of your own at the end of each chapter to discuss (orally or in writing).

- Jane knows her feelings for Rochester are dangerous and tries to talk herself out of them. Why does she distrust her own emotions here, and is she right to?
 - What do we know at this point in the story that Jane doesn't?
 - What images and scenes come to mind when you think of this story? How would you describe it (so far) to someone who had never read it?

→ RECAP (OPTION 2: JAMES)

What do you recall from your last reading of James?

• COMPOSITION

It was common in this era for women to paint and participate in other ornamental arts. How does Brontë enliven this cliché in using Jane's paintings to reveal her inner psyche and to advance the plot?

WEEK 1 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 49

"The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County" by Mark Twain

Materials: Short Stories and Folk Tales PDF

→ INTRO

We've included audio versions of these stories as an alternative to reading the written stories. Short stories can be especially fun to hear aloud with a talented narrator, though it will take longer than reading the story.

Mark Twain (1835–1910) is the pen name of Samuel Clemens, one of America's most celebrated writers, who was known for his sharp wit. His most famous works include The Adventures of Tom Sawyer and Adventures of Huckleberry Finn. Published in 1865, "The Celebrated Jumping Frog" was the story that made Twain a household name. The story blends exaggeration and comic timing in a way that was fresh and distinctly American when it was published. As you read, pay attention not just to what happens, but to how the story is told.

In the second week of this term, we'll read "The Gift of the Magi" by O. Henry, which is a Christmas story. Feel free to reschedule this story for closer to Christmas if desired.

WEEK 1 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 50

Introduction - Things Fall Apart

Materials: Things Fall Apart

→ INTRO

Things Fall Apart by Chinua Achebe tells the story of the Igbo tribe in nineteenth-century Nigeria through the life of Okonkwo, a prominent and proud warrior at the center of his community. The story is divided into three parts: Part 1 depicts Okonkwo's life, family, and the culture of his tribe; in Part 2, Okonkwo has been exiled, and in the intervening seven years, missionaries and colonial administrators have come to the village of Umuofia; and in Part 3, Okonkwo returns to a changed village.

Achebe is careful not to present a romanticized or sanitized representation of the Igbo way of life. This novel is recommended for mature students, as it contains scenes of violence, including domestic violence, killings, and ritual practices that are unsettling both to readers and characters within the story.

→ VIEW

The following two videos will provide a helpful, interpretive framework for approaching the novel. Achebe wrote about the importance of having a "balance of stories," and this is a helpful concept to keep in mind as you read the novel.

WEEK 2 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 51

"The Gift of the Magi" by O. Henry

Materials: Short Stories and Folk Tales PDF

→ INTRO

O. Henry was the pen name of William Sydney Porter (1862–1910), an American writer famous for his short stories about ordinary people — especially the working poor of New York City. His warm, ironic style made him one of the most popular writers of his era. Published in 1905, "The Gift of the Magi" is perhaps his most beloved story. If you have extra time, his biography (see video link) is especially interesting.

WEEK 3 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 53

"The Gold Bug" by Edgar Allan Poe

Materials: Short Stories and Folk Tales PDF

→ INTRO

Edgar Allan Poe (1809–1849) is one of America's most distinctive and influential writers. Poe is known for dark, atmospheric tales of mystery and the macabre. Surprisingly, he also pioneered the detective story! Poe had a fascination with puzzles, codes, and the power of careful reasoning. Published in 1843, "The Gold Bug" is a mystery with a secret message written in code, and cracking it requires sharp eyes and sharp thinking. As you read, pay close attention when the cipher appears and to how the code is broken. If you'd like, see if you can work through it yourself!

"The Tale of the Golden Cockrel" by Pushkin

Materials: Short Stories and Folk Tales PDF

→ INTRO

Alexander Pushkin (1799–1837) is Russia's most celebrated and beloved writer, widely considered the father of modern Russian literature. His poetry, novels, and stories established the literary tradition that nearly every Russian writer after him would build upon. Written in 1834, "The Tale of the Golden Cockrel" is one of his narrative poems written in the style of a Russian folktale. The story reads like a fairy tale but carries the sharp edge of a fable. "How Much Land Does a Man Need?" by Leo Tolstoy

Materials: Short Stories and Folk Tales PDF

→ INTRO

Leo Tolstoy (1828–1910) is best known for lengthy novels like War and Peace and Anna Karenina. But Tolstoy was also a master of the short story, and late in his life he turned increasingly toward simple, moral tales. Published in 1886, "How Much Land Does a Man Need?" is one of those tales. WEEK 10 30m General Lit.: Grades 11-12 - Lesson 67

"The Adventure of the Speckled Band" by Arthur Conan Doyle

Materials: Short Stories and Folk Tales PDF

→ INTRO

Arthur Conan Doyle (1859–1930) was a British writer (born in Edinburgh, Scotland) and best known as the creator of Sherlock Holmes, arguably the most famous fictional detective in the world. He was knighted by King Edward VII in 1902. The Holmes stories defined the modern detective story and have never gone out of print. "The Adventure of the Speckled Band" is widely considered one of the finest Holmes stories ever written. As you read, pay attention to the clues Doyle plants along the way, and see how much you can figure out before he reveals the answer.

- Was the ending unexpected to you? What do you think of the final paragraph of the book? How does it reflect back on all that has come before? - The title of the novel comes from a poem called "The Second Coming" by William Butler Yeats. If you have time, read it and reflect on why Achebe chose it as his title. You may also consider why he chose to write this story in English. ∞ Link: The Second Coming

Examination

Term 1

· Count of Monte Cristo: Describe Edmond Dantès's relationship with Faria; in what ways are they father and son, as Faria claims (72)? How does Faria equip Dantès for his life after prison? OR Write a character sketch of Dantès at the very beginning of the novel, before he is arrested.

· Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass: Explain why reading and literacy were such an important first step in Douglass's path from slavery to freedom. OR Describe some of the ways Douglass's Narrative is such a powerful argument against slavery.

Up from Slavery & Souls of Black Folk: Describe Washington's and Du Bois's differing views on the purpose of education. OR Tell all you know about Washington's early life and how it impacted his future leadership at the Tuskegee school.

Term 2

· The Count of Monte Cristo: The final sentence of the novel is: "The count just told us that all human wisdom was contained in these two words: Wait and hope." No matter where you left off in the novel, reflect on how what you have read so far supports this conclusion. OR Write a character sketch of Dantès/The Count of Monte Cristo at the point in the novel where you stopped reading. How has he changed from the beginning of the story?

· Jane Eyre: What are some ways in which Brontë builds mystery and suspense in the first volume? OR What is the basis of the mutual attraction between Jane and Mr. Rochester? Does their attraction seem realistic or romantic? Or both?

James: Reflect on Percival Everett's use of irony in the novel. Why is this the mode he chooses when telling James's story? OR

Discuss the importance of literacy, literature, and writing in the novel. Can you connect it to other books you have read this year?

Term 3

· Short Stories and Folk Tales: Choose one story from this term that ends with a "twist" and explain how its ending works. What does it reveal? Why is it effective? What do you think the author most wanted you to take away?

OR

Poe's Legrand and Doyle's Sherlock Holmes both solve mysteries through observation and logic, but they are very different kinds of characters. Compare and contrast the two. Which one did you find more compelling and why?

· Readers have often compared the narrative arc of Things Fall Apart to a Greek or Shakespearean tragedy. Using what you know about the genre and conventions of tragedy, would you agree with this? Make reference to specific episodes and characters from the novel. OR Choose one main character from the novel and consider how they change from the beginning of the novel to after the missionaries and colonial government arrive.
