

Poetry

About the Course

Students learn to love the sight and sound of words through daily poetry reading covering a wide variety of poems. They also enjoy short picture book biographies and accessible poems corresponding to the historical time period as relevant, and lesson plans occasionally point out interesting poetic features.

Poetry: Grades 1-4

How To Teach

Overview

Poetry reading should be brief and pleasurable. There are also many lovely picture books of poems to include as free reads at this age (see Extra Helpings). Remember that poems are like paintings--they not only convey ideas, they create an experience with the sound of words, the way the words are arranged, and the emotions, thoughts, and images they evoke.

Read

Read the poem aloud a time or two. As students gain reading fluency, let them read the poem as well. It is helpful to hear poetry read by different voices. Try to read paying attention to the punctuation as well as the line breaks to get the sense of the poem.

Discuss

Allow students to share any thoughts or connections. What are your impressions of the poem? Talk about anything that stood out to you: the images, ideas, words, phrases, sounds, or even physical look of the poem. What kinds of things is the poem about?

Reread

Read the poem aloud again. Poetry is meant to be savored like a chocolate that you roll around in your mouth until the last bit melts.
