World History: Grades 10-12

How To Approach

Recap

- Take a second to recall what you read previously in the same book or topic.
- If the previous passage is difficult to remember, try looking back at any chapter/section headings or illustrations or reading the first paragraph to jog the memory.

Read

- Read the selection assigned OR read for the number of minutes allocated, leaving time for narration and mapwork. Use whichever guide (i.e., pages or minutes) works best for you. You want to read enough to be interesting, but not so much that you feel overwhelmed.
- If a book is challenging for you as a student, try stopping to narrate to yourself silently for a minute every now and then to make sure you are tracking. You might also want to read aloud to yourself. Or you might want to listen to an audiobook version of the text and read along with it.
- If a book is an easy read, enjoy the ride!
- Keep an eye out for quotes to put in your commonplace book or events or characters to put down in your Book of Centuries.

Narrate

- Process and integrate your reading by narrating either orally or in writing. Some lesson plans will give you a suggestion of how best to narrate.
- To keep yourself on track, you might want to set a timer, so you stop reading with enough time to narrate.

Connect

- After your narration, think about how what you read connects to other subjects, other books, and other things you've read, watched, or seen in the past or present.
- Share any ideas that are particularly interesting to you with your fellow classmates, teachers, parents, friends, or others. You might even want to do a bit more reading or research on something on your own time in the afternoon or evenings.

Teacher Note

These lessons are written directly to the student, but to assist them throughout the year, please read through this section and the lesson plans so you are familiar with the instructions and flow of the lessons. Accountability components are added to facilitate teacher/student discussion and growing independence.

Those educating at home might pick one or two history lessons to read aloud with their students to keep up the habit of oral narration and foster conversation and relationship, and then simply give students these lesson plans and the rest of the books and check in with them throughout the term for conversation, support, and accountability.

It is valuable for those in a classroom setting to also have a mix of lessons that students complete themselves silently and others read aloud and narrated together. Classroom settings lend themselves well to additional discussion and sharing at the end of lessons, after everyone has narrated either together or independently in writing.

Term 1

WEEK 1

30m World History: Grades 10-12 - Lesson 1

Materials: When America First Met China

→ INTRO

One of the most important actions one can take when creating a new nation is establishing trade with other countries. As a newly founded nation, that is exactly what the United States of America set out to do. The United States traded for things like silk, gold and tea while other nations traded for everything from sea otter and seal pelts, to sandalwood, to opium, to cotton, and tortoiseshell. As the United States navigated new waters--both literally and figuratively--they will come into contact with a mighty trade nation that has a lot to offer them including the ever-important tea. However, China had it's own rules and regulations as well as it's own system of justice that was very different to the United States.

As you read through the chapter, I invite you to ponder what it must have been like to navigate these new waters and to meet new peoples whose way of life was so different from yours? What are the things you see in the text that surprise you? What things challenged your way of thinking? You will reflect on these questions after the reading.

→ ANNOTATE

When America First Met China is a non-fiction book which makes it a good candidate for annotation. While you are reading through the text you may encounter an interesting point or main idea that you want to underline. You could put a question mark next to a statement you find unclear. You may place sticky notes on a page that you want to return too. Experiment with different ways to engage with the information in the book. Some students will record themselves reading or talking about the reading. Others may start a discussion with an acquaintance about the material. Try different ways and see what works and what doesn't work for you. You can discuss your findings with your teacher.

→ READ & NARRATE

Ch.6 p.146-161 - Stop at "Bêche-De-Mer,"

Narrate silently.

Answer the following questions in 3 paragraphs

What are the things you see in the text that surprise you? What things challenged your way of thinking? What things made you uncomfortable and why?

WEEK 2

30m World History: Grades 10-12 - Lesson 2

Materials: When America First Met China

→ INTRO

When reading history, we must be fully aware of the primary sources being used in the text. As you read through the next section, pay attention to the documents Eric Jay Dolin is mentioning.

→ READ & NARRATE

Ch.6 p.161-176 - Start at "Bêche-De-Mer," stop at "The American Community"

Narrate silently.

Answer the following questions in 3 paragraphs

What are the primary sources Eric Jay Dolin is using to support his story telling?

WEEK 3

30m World History: Grades 10-12 - Lesson 3

Materials: When America First Met China

→ INTRO

In this chapter you will encounter a woman named Harriet Low who has recounted many of her adventures in journals. Harriet Low talked much about her time in an area of China that was a forbidden to women and her journals are insightful to anyone interested in history. Her journals are a primary source.

Throughout the coming chapters, Eric Jay Dolin will rely heavily upon primary sources to help his story telling, while keeping it factual and correct. As you read through the next section, pay attention to the documents Eric Jay Dolin is mentioning.

→ READ & NARRATE

Ch.6 p.176-192 - Start at "The American Community" to the end of the chapter

Narrate silently.

Aside from Harriet Low's journals, what are some other primary sources Eric Jay Dolin is using to support his story telling?

→ EXTRA HELPING

WEEK 4

30m World History: Grades 10-12 - Lesson 4

Materials: When America First Met China

→ INTRO

In Chapter 7, Eric Jay Dolin will explore China through America's eyes. Specifically, he will explore how the nation came to be perceived through all different means. People spoke about subjects such as the rampant poverty, their treatment of women, the things they ate and drank and the violence of their justice system which created a picture of the China and it's people which influenced the perception of the nation.

→ READ & NARRATE

Ch.7 p.192-208

Narrate silently.

In three paragraphs, take time to reflect on what influenced the perception of the Chinese people.

WEEK 7

30m World History: Grades 10-12 - Lesson 7

Materials: When America First Met China

→ RECAP

You've come to the chapter concerning the opium war. I invite you to think on a few questions as you read though this rest of this chapter. Who was in the right? Who was in the wrong? How did each nation navigate this war? How do you think this impacted the trade relationship?

→ READ & NARRATE

Ch.8 p.242-264 start at "This time the British"
Narrate silently.

In one paragraph, express how you see the participation of each nation mentioned in the chapter in the opium war. What surprised you about this chapter?

WEEK 8

30m World History: Grades 10-12 - Lesson 8

Materials: When America First Met China

→ INTRO

How long do we wait for our packages? Perhaps if we have fast shipping we'll only have to wait one or two days for our order to be at our doorstep. In the 1800s, it would take weeks for one ship to get to the other side of the world and pick up the items and then weeks to return. So, as one can imagine, there was a need to be the fastest ship out there in order to get the items back before anyone else. Many people took on the challenge of building these ships. Think on how shipping and trade has changed over the years as you read through this chapter?

→ READ & NARRATE

Ch.9 p.264- 277 end at "Ever since the..."
Narrate silently.

WEEK 9

30m World History: Grades 10-12 - Lesson 9

Materials: When America First Met China

→ INTRO

As you will read about in the next chapter, exploitation is a part of human history and the abuse of humans is something in every cultural and background. We invite you to lament the abuse of God's image bearers. It is not an easy thing to read about and consume.

→ READ & NARRATE

Ch.9 p.277-290 start at "The plantation economies..."

WEEK 1

30m World History: Grades 10-12 - Lesson 13

Materials: Erebus

→ INTRO

What happens when nations finds themselves with war vessels, but no wars? For 1800s Britain, the answer was to send its ships on exploration missions. The Erebus was just one of the ships that made the transition from military vessel to a vessel used for research and exploration. The captains and crew of the vessel changed over the many years it spent on the seas.

In Erebus, you will read a book about a legendary ship. However, there is another benefit to Michael Palin's book which makes it a helpful read as well as an enjoyable one. Erebus does not just share the story of the ship itself, but of the world in which this ship sailed. As you read through Erebus, take note of the names being mentioned in each chapter.

I also invite you to adventure with the people on Erebus and on the HMS terror. Pay attention to the letters and journals that are being mentioned and remember that these were real people who experienced a world very unlike our own. And yet, you'll also see a world that is very familiar too.

→ ANNOTATE

Erebus is a non-fiction book which makes it a good candidate for annotation. While you are reading through the text you may encounter an interesting point or main idea that you want to underline. You could put a question mark next to a statement you find unclear. You may place sticky notes on a page that you want to return to. Experiment with different ways to engage with the information in the book. Some students will record themselves reading or talking about the reading. Others may start a discussion with an acquaintance about the material. Try different ways and see what works and what doesn't work for you. You can discuss your findings with your teacher.
