

Folk Songs

About the Course

Students sing folk songs connected to the time period (1800-1900).

This topic is included in the following course(s): Music: Intro, Music: Level 1, Music: Level 2, Music: Level 3, Music: Level 4, Music: Level 5

Folk Songs

The purpose of learning folk songs is twofold: to increase students' enjoyment of music and to situate folk music in its historical context in an effort to give students a richer understanding of the times and places that birthed the songs. A musical score is sometimes included for songs, but does not always exactly match the audio used, since folk songs are primarily oral songs and often take many different forms. Studying folk music helps students grow deep roots in our shared heritage and gives insight into historical events from the perspective of the people who were there.

Folk Songs

How To Teach

Recap

- Specific recap questions are often suggested in the day's plans; ask students what they remember from the last lesson. If nothing comes to mind at first, tell them to give themselves another minute or two and to keep thinking. Our brains are amazing and can usually recall the previous lesson with a minute of effort. Refrain from doing the work of remembering yourself if you are leading the lessons.
- For composer study, a recap might look like a brief discussion about the name or sound of the piece you listened to previously.
- For hymns and folk songs, this might be an effort to hum the melody or recite the words of the song you're currently learning.
- For sol-fa, it might be a quick explanation of the sol-fa syllable you learned or a tricky rhythm or interval you were working to master.
- If students have difficulty recalling, teachers might try showing them a picture or sharing something that the teacher remembers. This will often refresh their memory enough to allow them to recall.
- If students still cannot recall anything from the last reading, then teachers may consider continuing anyway or repeating the last lesson.

Introduce

- Prepare to listen to the day's musical selection by inviting students to consider an interesting musical or historical idea in the lesson. Perhaps it's a unique word, rhythm, instrument, or piece of historical background. You might introduce it by the way, or read a selection of a composer's bio or a brief article to students.

Listen & Sing

- Listen to the day's musical selection.
- Composer study lessons will usually have you listen to a piece of music for 3-8 minutes. If students have a difficult time listening for the duration of the lesson, stop the music at their limit.
- Some students might draw, color, or engage in a handicraft while listening to help extend their listening time. Students who have a difficult time sitting still or listening may benefit from: a fidget of their choice, such as a piece of putty or clay or an afghan; flexible positioning, such as a wobble seat or inverted sitting; or sensory modulation, such as a weighted vest or blanket or adjustment of light, temperature, or sound.
- Hymn, folk song, or sol-fa lessons will sometimes have you listen to a part of the song and then practice echoing back the melody and/or words.

Discuss

- Composer Study: Talk about the musical selection you heard. What stood out to you? What did you notice? What did it make you wonder? Did it remind you of anything? Discuss the tempo, the sound of the music, the instruments used, the volume, and the mood. Why do you think the composer wrote it the way he did?
- Hymns, Spirituals, & Folk Songs: What lines strike you particularly? Is there a rhyme scheme to the lyrics? Is there a progression to each stanza? If you were to add a verse to the song, what would you add? If you took a verse out, how do you think it would change the song? Do the melody and words go together? Why or why not?

- Sol-fa: Take a minute to reflect on what you learned in the lesson. Write down any notes you want to remember and practice any particular exercises that were tricky.

Connect

- At the end of the lesson, think about how the day's musical selection connects to other books, subjects, characters in history, etc.
- You might copy down a stanza of a hymn in your Commonplace or Copywork book, read a bit more about the history behind a piece of music, jot down a noteworthy date in your Book of Centuries, or discuss a broader question raised in the lesson.

Term 1

WEEK 1 10m Folk Songs - Lesson 1

Steal Away

Materials: Our Work or Music PDF, Like a Bird

→ INTRO

- The word "steal" usually means to take something that isn't yours. Can you think of any other meanings the word has?
- Tell what you think this sentence means: "Let's steal away now and tell them what we saw!"

→ READ & DISCUSS

Our first folk song for the year is called "Steal Away to Jesus." Its history is somewhat debated. Some think that Nat Turner was one of the first to sing it. Others tell the story of Wallace Willis and how the Reverend Alexander Reid heard Willis singing "Steal Away" (and Swing Low, Sweet Chariot) and told the Jubilee Singers, a famous singing group, about his songs in 1871. It's often hard to trace the history of songs that were orally composed and passed along to others!

Steal Away became an enormously popular song across the United States and the world because of the Fisk Jubilee Singers. Fisk University was founded in 1866, right after the Civil War ended with the Emancipation Proclamation. Students who had previously had limited access to higher education because of slavery and poverty flocked to its doors. But a few years later, the school was struggling financially, and many feared it would have to close. However, relief came from an unexpected source—one of the school's leaders organized a group of the school's talented singers and set up a series of concerts. Initially, they sang classical and popular songs familiar to their white audiences, but eventually the students began also singing the spirituals that they had sung during the years they were enslaved. These spirituals, like Steal Away and Swing Low, Sweet Chariot, skyrocketed the Fisk Jubilee Singers and the school to fame, and both still exist today! Read or watch more about the Jubilee Singers and listen to a recording of Swing Low, Sweet Chariot from 1909 with the remaining time!

WEEK 1 10m Folk Songs - Lesson 13

National Anthem

Materials: Our Work or Music PDF

PREP: You'll be choosing a national anthem to learn this term. Feel free to pre-select or use this lesson to decide. Consider having students learn their own national anthem (if young and/or unfamiliar with it) or another (pick based on interest and/or degree of challenge, since some are obviously not in English).

→ INTRO

The 19th century was a period of turmoil. The last part of the 18th century and the first half of the 19th is sometimes called the "Age of Revolutions." There was the American Revolution (1776), the French Revolution (1789), Haitian Revolution (1791) and then the Mexican War of Independence (1810s), uprisings across Latin American (one of the most famous was in Colombia with Simon Bolivar in 1810s), waves of revolutions across continental Europe (including Greece gaining independence from the Ottoman Empire in 1820s), revolts against British rule in India in the 1850s and against the shogunate in Japan in the 1860s (and that isn't all of them!).

Amidst all this upheaval, a new genre of folk song rose up—the national anthem. These folk songs gave a sense of shared identity and purpose among disparate peoples. Some sound like hymns, others like military marches, work songs, or even operas. You'll learn one anthem this term, but we'll listen to several different ones so you can hear these differences and similarities!

→ LISTEN & DISCUSS

- Scroll down the playlist to see multiple options or look up a different one if desired.
 - Once you've decided which anthem to learn, listen to the whole thing.
 - Read the words aloud and/or copy them into your Our Work Book or another notebook if needed.
- ∞ Music Links: National Anthems (YouTube Playlist or Spotify Playlist)

★ TEACHER NOTE

Students will learn their own (or a different) national anthem this term. This brings many opportunities to talk about healthy (and unhealthy) ways to relate to one's country.

WEEK 2 10m Folk Songs - Lesson 14

National Anthem (cont.)

Materials: Our Work or Music PDF

→ RECAP

What do you remember about the rise of national anthems?

→ SING & PRACTICE

- Listen to your National Anthem of choice to work on the tune. Hum any refrains or repeated parts you start to recognize.
 - Read or listen to the words aloud.
 - Finish copying the words (if applicable) into your notebook.

∞ Article Link: About National Anthems

★ TEACHER NOTE

Look up sheet music for your anthem of choice if desired to use as an aid in learning the tune, especially if it is one of the more complicated ones! Googling "[Name of anthem] sheet music PDF" is usually successful. Similarly, an audio recording of the lyrics can be helpful when learning an unfamiliar language.

Listen to the whole song. Then try listening to a line, pausing the video, and echoing it back.

∞ Music Links: National Anthems

→ LISTEN (OPTIONAL)

Did you know that the Star Spangled Banner has been the US national anthem for less than a century? Although Francis Scott Key composed the song in 1814, it was not adopted as the national anthem until 1931. Before then, the unofficial anthem was "My Country 'Tis of Thee," which was adapted from the English national anthem, "God Save the Queen." Many other anthems have evolved in a similar way.

Materials: Our Work or Music PDF

→ RECAP

Sing as much of your National Anthem as you can from memory.

→ INTRO

In her book Ourselves, Charlotte Mason talks about good and bad ways we can show loyalty to our country. It is a good thing when our love for our country makes us seek to understand its history, laws, institutions, people, strengths, and weaknesses. We should want to love and care for the place we live and the other people who live around us! It is not good when we use our love for our country as an excuse to look down on other people or countries and ignore our own country's weaknesses. On the other hand, it is also unhelpful when we only focus on what is bad about our country. As you sing your national anthem and read the words, think about what kind of love or loyalty the song displays.

→ SING

Try to sing with your recording of choice for the whole song.

∞ Music Links: National Anthems

→ EXPLORE (CHOOSE AN OPTION BELOW)

• Learn the story of the Star Spangled Banner

∞ Article Link: Star Spangled Story

• Listen to other national anthems in your music playlist with any extra time.

→ DISCUSS (GRADES 7+)

Many national anthems ask a god to protect their country (some mean the Christian God revealed in the Bible, and others refer to gods of other religions). For instance, the Canadian national anthem includes the prayer, "God, keep our land glorious and free," and the British anthem's name is "God Save the Queen (or King)." What do you think about asking God for protection and preservation of a nation or for wisdom for our leaders? If

★ TEACHER NOTE

★ TEACHER NOTE

• MUSICAL CONNECTION

While national anthems became a new genre of folk songs in the 19th century, other musicians composed new kinds of instrumental music that focused on trying to capture the local flavor and culture of their homelands. One example: Edvard Grieg, whom you'll recognize from Composer Study lessons!

WEEK 6 10m Folk Songs - Lesson 18

Bebi Notsa (Margaret's Lullaby)

Materials: Our Work or Music PDF

→ RECAP

Sing your National Anthem from memory (or look at the lyrics if needed). Think about the words and try to sing in a way that matches them!

→ INTRO

We're starting our next folk song today! It's important to remember that even while the big, loud anthems dealing with national events and identity were developing, mothers were still singing to their babies (sometimes even in the midst of those wars or other events). Our folk song for the rest of this term is sometimes called Margaret's Song because a girl named Margaret recorded it for the Library of Congress archives. It comes from around the 1830s.

→ STUDY & LISTEN

Read the translation of the song in your Our Work Book/Music PDF and then listen to the lullaby a few times.

∞ Video Link: Bebi Notsa

★ TEACHER NOTE

If your student(s) learned a national anthem not in English during the first part of this term, here is an alternate 19th-century lullaby option in English, if two folk songs not in English are too much of a stretch. There is a beautiful Celtic harp version in the folk song playlist, and a simpler version is linked here.

Our term's lullaby probably originated about the same time as the Trail of Tears, when President Andrew Jackson signed the Indian Removal Act in 1830, forcing many Native Americans (the Creek, Seminole, Muscogee (Creek), Chickasaw, Choctaw, and Cherokee primarily) who lived in the American Southeast to relocate to what is now Oklahoma. (Remember Wallace Willis, who may have authored "Steal Away" from Term 1? He was one of those who had to relocate!). View the Trail of Tears map and read more as desired.

WEEK 6 10m Folk Songs - Lesson 30

Aloha 'Oe

Materials: Like a Bird, Our Work or Music PDF, atlas

→ RECAP

Sing The San Juan Pig to warm up your voice and refresh your memory.

→ INTRO & MAPWORK

- Our last folk song takes us from San Juan Island to Hawaii!
- Locate the Hawaiian islands in your atlas.
- This song of farewell between two lovers was written by the last monarch of Hawaii and is her most famous composition. The story goes that the queen and her attendants visited a friend on Oahu. Then, "as they started their return trip to Honolulu on horseback up the steep Pali trail, the queen turned to admire the view of Kaneohe Bay. She witnessed a particularly affectionate farewell between Colonel James Boyd of her party and a lovely young girl from Maunawili. As they rode up the steep cliff and into the swirling winds, she started to hum this melody, weaving words into a romantic song. At the top of the pali, a cloud hung over the mountain peak and slowly floated down Nuʻuanu Valley. The queen continued to hum and completed her song as they rode the winding trail

How much of the song can you sing?

→ SING

Sing along with the recording and note any spots that need more work.

∞ Music Links: Aloha 'Oe (YouTube or Spotify)

→ LISTEN

Queen Lili'uokalani wrote a song that became the national anthem of Hawaii for a time. How is it different from or similar to the anthems you heard last term?

∞ Video Link: He Mele Lāhui Hawai'i

- How would you describe the mood of this song? Why?
- Over the years, people have come to see this song as a symbolic, sad farewell from the queen to her people. How does this fit with the mood you described?

WEEK 10 10m Folk Songs - Lesson 34

Aloha 'Oe (cont.)

Materials: Our Work or Music PDF, painting or sketching supplies (optional)

→ RECAP

Do you remember the words to "The San Juan Pig"?

→ SING

Sing "Aloha 'Oe" from memory, then listen to the video to check your work.

∞ Music Links: Aloha 'Oe (YouTube or Spotify)

- If you learned Angels We Have Heard on High in hymn lessons, do you notice any similarities between the two songs? [They both have two languages! The fancy name is that these are both "macaronic" songs.]

→ ILLUSTRATE

With extra time, sketch or paint an illustration to go with this song.

• TERMINOLOGY

macaronic songs: songs (often folk songs) that contain two languages in the same song.
