Term Prep & Teacher Tips

Ancient History: Grades 7-9

The Sand-Reckoner is a well-written and well-researched account of a portion of the life of Archimedes. Math, engineering, duty, justice, stewardship, and courage are some of the themes. The setting is Syracuse in 264 B.C. and as such has a few references to immoral behavior representative of the period as well as some light romantic content that you may want to preview to decide what is best for your particular student(s), especially those on the younger end of the age range. Some may choose to read the story aloud to edit on the fly if needed and to encourage discussion. Some may choose to edit some wording in the text. Others will be fine with the content as is. We encourage all to provide an inviting space for students to ask questions and share thoughts as they process what they are reading in their books. Pages to preview: 14, 36, 40-41, 171, 198, 204, 249. There is always the option of substituting for either of the books scheduled in Grades 4-6 as well.

How To Teach

Prepare

- Read through the lesson and gather any necessary links.
- If you have not read the book, you may want to read the selected pages in advance.
- Decide which lessons/books to read together and which to have students read independently.

Recap

- Connect back to the previous lesson. Have students give a summary of what they remember. (Full narration is not necessary.)
- If the previous passage is difficult to remember, teachers may ask a leading question: "What can you tell me about..." Or students may try looking back at any chapter/section headings or illustrations or reading the first paragraph to jog the memory.

Introduce

- Use a picture, map, or engaging question to pique the student's interest in the day's lesson (often included in lesson plans).
- If necessary, talk about a few unfamiliar words that will be crucial to understanding.

Read

- Read the day's passage out loud or have the student read independently. Sometimes reading for the specified time is a better guide.
- If a book is challenging, try stopping to narrate every now and then rather than waiting until the end. It can also help to read aloud. Or you might want to use an audiobook version of the text and have students read along with it.
- Have students keep an eye out for events or characters to add to their Citizenship Notebook, Book of Centuries, or Copywork Book.

Narrate

- Have students retell the passage orally or write a narration.
- Alternatively, students might analyze a character, trace cause to consequence, outline a passage, or use one of the other methods indicated by Charlotte Mason in School Education Chapter 16, especially p.180.
- Students who enjoy writing can experiment with different types of written narrations, but this is not required.

Discuss

- Give the student an opportunity to share thoughts on the lesson and any connections made (orally or in writing).
 - You could ask them what they thought about the passage or ask an open-ended question to stimulate discussion. Discussion questions are often included in the lesson plans.

Connect

- Optional: Add something to the Book of Centuries, Century Chart, Citizenship Notebook, or Commonplace book. If students would like to include pictures, these may be drawn or printed.

WEEK 1

30m Ancient History: Grades 7-9 - Lesson 1

Meeting Sulla

Materials: A Short History of Ancient Rome

→ INTRO

"Rome wasn't built in a day" is a popular proverb and may be one that you are familiar with. And it is true. Rome was founded in 509 B.C and from it's founding passed from any leaders and participated in many wars. As Rome and its leaders conquered people groups, many groups assimilated to life among the culture. Political leaders arose and fell and the Roman republic found itself under threat from outside forces and from within.

Leaders who were elected into positions within the Roman republic also found themselves under constant threat. Sulla, who will be introduced in this chapter, is one such man. He finds outside forces plotting against him and marshals an army to face his opponent. Sulla be only one of the many leaders of Rome that you will read about in Pascal Hughes' A Short History of Ancient Rome.
