

Written Narration

About the Course

Students begin to make written narrations a weekly habit.

This topic is included in the following course(s): Language Study: Grade 4

Placement & Combining Tips

Students who are not yet secure with their penmanship are not yet ready for written narration. Instead of written narrations, use the time to have students work on skills that will better support their development. Also, be sure to include typing in life skills!

Written Narration: Grade 4

☐ Plan to complete one written narration every week and consider increasing to two by the end of the year.

☐ Written narrations can happen after reading at the end of any lesson if time allows and do not need to take up an extra 10 minutes in your schedule. This tracker serves to help you keep records of what was done throughout the year.

☐ To keep written narrations fresh and interesting, you can try different ways to have your students narrate what they read or observed outside. In addition to just “what did we read about?”, you can ask students to “write the story of ____.” (Example: “Write the story of Loki.”) Some students may also like to imagine they are a character in the story and write what happened as a diary entry (Example: “Pretend you are Christian in Pilgrim’s Progress and write a letter or diary entry telling what happened to him in today’s chapter.”)

Term Prep & Teacher Tips

Written Narration: Grade 4

Some ideas on helping students transition to written narration:

- ☐ Write down words on a whiteboard if a student wants to use a word they don’t know how to spell.
- ☐ Have students write down brief sentences (even numbered statements) telling the sequence of events, and then have them orally give more details about each of them.
- ☐ Write the beginning and then orally tell the rest, or vice versa.

Term 1

WEEK 1 10m Written Narration: Grade 4 - Lesson 1 → Complete one written narration this week. Make sure to write on a variety of different subjects, either over the term or at least over the year. → NOTE Written narrations can happen at the end of any lesson if time allows and do not need to take up an extra 10 minutes in your schedule. This tracker serves to help you keep records of what was done throughout the year.	★ TEACHER TIP Note that students who are not yet secure with their penmanship are not yet ready for written narration. Instead of written narrations, use the time to have students work on skills that will better support their development, such as climbing on trees or playground equipment, doing household chores, working with clay or dough, and doing mazes and dot-to-dot activities. Also, be sure to include typing in life skills!
WEEK 2 10m Written Narration: Grade 4 - Lesson 2 → Complete one written narration this week. → NOTE If the student is new to written narration, they may fatigue quickly. Others may do better by beginning their narration in writing, then completing it orally.	★ TEACHER TIP One way to help students transition to written narrations is to provide external supports before writing, such as index cards that can be arranged and re-ordered. You can also encourage students to talk aloud as they write or use speech-to-text and then edit.
