GRADE(S): 7-8

About the Course

This course includes the following topic(s): U.S. History: Grades 7-8, World History: Grades 7-8, Ancient History: Grades 7-9

About U.S. History: Grades 7-8
Read about U.S. history from 1800-1900 through books that immerse students in the time period and allow them to see the world through the eyes of those who lived it. Through engaging narratives, history spines, primary source documents, and books that show different perspectives, students come to see history as more than dates and events and develop relationships with people from the past. Viewing images, looking at maps, and working on one's Book of Centuries are also part of developing this relationship.

About Ancient History: Grades 7-9
Read about ancient history from 100 BC-350 AD through biographies, primary source documents, and history spines. Students will view images, reference maps, and update their Book of Centuries as part of the lessons.

About World History: Grades 7-8
One of the most powerful truths that history can teach us is that the past was different from the present. The way things are now is not the way they have always been, which should make us aware of the likelihood that the way things are now is not how they will be. The study of world history exposes students to what life was like in different places and at different times. As students read about people and events from 1800-1900 through history spines, historical novels, and primary source documents, they will get a better picture of the way people viewed the world, the challenges they faced, and the legacy they left behind. Students will also view images, reference maps, and work on their Book of Centuries as part of their lessons.

Placement & Combining Tips

U.S. History: Grades 7-8
U.S. history may be suitable for 9th graders as well if combining.

World History: Grades 7-8
Suitable for Grade 9. However, Grade 9 does include a term of lessons on historical thinking skills, which should not be skipped. So if combining 9th graders in this course, be sure to have them read that book next year.

How To Teach

Prepare

- Read through the lesson and gather any necessary links.
- If you have not read the book, you may want to read the selected pages in advance.
- Decide which lessons/books to read together and which to have students read independently.

Recap

- Connect back to the previous lesson. Have students give a summary of what they remember. (Full narration is not necessary.)
- If the previous passage is difficult to remember, teachers may ask a leading question: "What can you tell me about..." Or students may try looking back at any chapter/section headings or illustrations or reading the first paragraph to jog the memory.

Introduce

- Use a picture, map, or engaging question to pique the student's interest in the day's lesson (often included in lesson plans).
- If necessary, talk about a few unfamiliar words that will be crucial to understanding.

Read

- Read the day's passage out loud or have the student read independently. Sometimes reading for the specified time is a better guide.
- If a book is challenging, try stopping to narrate every now and then rather than waiting until the end. It can also help to read aloud. Or you might want to use an audiobook version of the text and have students read along with it.
- Have students keep an eye out for events or characters to add to their Citizenship Notebook, Book of Centuries, or Copywork Book.

Narrate

- Have students retell the passage orally or write a narration.
- Alternatively, students might analyze a character, trace cause to consequence, outline a passage, or use one of the other methods indicated by Charlotte Mason in School Education Chapter 16, especially p.180.
- Students who enjoy writing can experiment with different types of written narrations, but this is not required.

Discuss

- Give the student an opportunity to share thoughts on the lesson and any connections made (orally or in writing).

• You could ask them what they thought about the passage or ask an open-ended question to stimulate discussion. Discussion questions are often included in the lesson plans.

Connect

• Optional: Add something to the Book of Centuries, Century Chart, Citizenship Notebook, or Commonplace book. If students would like to include pictures, these may be drawn or printed.

Term 1

WEEK 1

⬚ 30m World History: Grades 7-8 - Lesson 1

Los Soldados, A Terrible Mistake

Materials: In the Shadow of the Alamo

→ INTRO

This is a historical fiction book that takes place in 1835-1836. This genre of book allows you to walk in the shoes of the soldiers of Mexico who were forced to fight the Americans at the Battle of the Alamo. As you read, you will see Spanish terms in italics. You can find the meaning of those words at the back of the book.

→ LOCATE

∞ Map Link: Mexico

Find Guanajuato, which is located in central Mexico, about 130 miles northwest of Mexico City. How would you describe the terrain of this area?

Lorenzo lives in this village.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.1-14 "If someone sat" - "frown on her face."

• How would you describe Lorenzo so far?

→ VIEW

The predominant religion of Mexico is Roman Catholicism. Our Lady of Guadalupe holds a special place in the religious life of Mexico and is one of the most popular religious devotions. Her image, a woman of mixed Indigenous and European features wearing a turquoise-colored mantle surrounded by a sunburst, has played an important role as a national symbol of Mexico.

∞ Image Link: Virgin of Guadalupe

• DEFINITIONS

conscript: (p.6) enrolled into service by compulsion : drafted

dragoon: (p.7) mounted soldiers that fought both on horseback and on foot

WEEK 1

⬚ 30m U.S. History: Grades 7-8 - Lesson 1

The War of 1812

Materials: PDF Link

→ INTRO

1. This year you are studying the time period 1800-1900. The books we are reading begin in 1820. Today's lesson will highlight some significant events that happened before 1820, and we will begin the book next week. The American Revolution ended in 1783 with the signing of the Treaty of Paris, where the U.S. was acknowledged as a sovereign nation. In 1800, the U.S. population totaled 5.3 million, including one million African Americans, of whom 900,000 were enslaved.

2. Imagine what life was like in the U.S. in the early 1800's. Describe what you know about transportation, communication, food production, and clothing. Many important inventions were created during this time, and people's way of life changed due to the Industrial Revolution. Watch this video to learn more about this.

→ VIEW

∞ Video Link: Industrial Revolution (8:00)

• What inventions do you think were the most impactful for people at that time? What are some of the inventions you are most grateful for?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

This is a chapter from Joy Hakim's book A History of US, Volume 4.

Term 1

WEEK 1

30m Ancient History: Grades 7-9 - Lesson 1

Meeting Sulla

Materials: A Short History of Ancient Rome, Historical Atlas of the World

→ INTRO

This year, you are learning about ancient Rome. We are not starting at the beginning with the legend of Romulus and Remus in 753 B.C. We are jumping ahead to 88 BC. The Roman Republic has become a world power. It has marched through the Greek world, razed cities like Carthage, and unseated powerful people. As Pascal Hughes says, "The march of Rome appears unstoppable."

However, what had once been a republic, which had enabled certain people to vote in their leadership, was quickly becoming more of a dictatorship, which is where one person assumes absolute power. There were a number of factors that led to Sulla becoming the first dictator in the Roman Republic. He assumed power through political violence, manipulation of land and resources, and military coups. In 88 BC, the Republic found itself in danger.

Sulla's story doesn't start at the beginning of his dictatorship.

→ READ, NARRATE & DISCUSS

Ch.6 p.89-99 - end at "political violence tamed"

→ LOCATE

Map Resource: Historical Atlas of the World p.14-15

Find Carthage, Rome, and any other cities that pop up in your reading to familiarize yourself with the world of Ancient Rome.

• STUDENT TIP

Be sure to add some people, events, and drawings of artifacts to your book of centuries. Mark potential items with a Post-it note as you read so you remember to find something when you sit down to work in your book.

• IMPORTANT DATES

Carthage is razed by Scipio Aemilianus in 146 BC

Tiberius Gracchus is elected in 133 BC

Sulla becomes dictator in 82 BC

Sulla resigns as dictator in 80 BC and dies in 78 BC

WEEK 1

30m U.S. History: Grades 7-8 - Lesson 2

The Beginning of the Story

Materials: Sacajawea

→ INTRO

By the age of 16, Sacajawea had been kidnapped from her tribe, gambled away to be a man's second wife, and was pregnant with that man's baby. That's when she would join the journey of Meriwether Lewis and William Clark down the Mississippi River and to the Pacific Ocean. But, where did her story begin?

Joseph Bruchac will explore the early life of Sacajawea as well as recount her journey with Lewis and Clark, which became one of the most famous expeditions to take place in American History. While it is well researched and Joseph Bruchac uses primary sources like the journals of Lewis and Clark as support for the story, it remains a work of fiction. There is much that we don't know about Sacajawea's story.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Begin with the "Author's Note" p.195-199.

Read the Prologue and Ch.1.

• How different would Sacajawea's life have been if she had stayed amongst her people?

• IMPORTANT DATES

Thomas Jefferson is voted in as the 3rd president of the United States in 1800

• TERMINOLOGY

The Minnatree tribe was also known as the Hidatsa tribe. Hidatsa is the more common name.

WEEK 2

30m U.S. History: Grades 7-8 - Lesson 3

Antebellum, The Long Way West

Materials: A History of US: Liberty for All?: 1820-1860

→ INTRO
Where can we find the words "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness"? (Declaration of Independence) What would you say is happiness? What did people in the 1800's think it was? For many people, it meant owning land. This year, you will read extensively about people exploring new lands, migrating to new places, and the formation of new states.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS
1. Poem on p.5
2. Preface & Ch.1 p.9-15 (Read the narrative and then go back and read captions and sidebars.)

- How did Long describe his findings from the edge of the plains of the Mississippi woodlands to the Rocky Mountains?

- DEFINITIONS

yeoman farmer (p.10): a person who owns and cultivates a small farm

cash crop (p.10): a readily salable crop (such as cotton or tobacco) produced or gathered primarily for market

The Corps of Discovery, Among the Minnetarees

Materials: Sacajawea

→ INTRO
In the election of 1800, Thomas Jefferson was announced as the third president of the United States. Arguably, one of his greatest actions as president came to be known as the Louisiana Purchase. Around the summer of 1803, after the Louisiana Purchase, Thomas Jefferson would choose a group of people, including William Clark and Meriwether Lewis, to explore the newly acquired land. They would be called the Corps of Discovery.

WEEK 3

⬚ 30m Ancient History: Grades 7-9 - Lesson 3
Spartacus and a Revolt

Materials: A Short History of Ancient Rome, Historical Atlas of the World

→ INTRO
Rome was built on slavery. In 73 BC, there were more than a million people enslaved in Rome's Italian lands. As Pascal Hughes says, "Some have been bought from foreign merchants, others taken by military conquest, or enslaved as a punishment for criminality. Then there are the unfortunates who were born into bondage, or who are the victims of kidnap by slavers, or who could see no other option in life than to sell themselves into servitude."

However, revolution came to Rome, and it was led by a slave named Spartacus. There are modern-day movies that praise the bravery of this man and those who rose up with him against the powers that shackled them. Spartacus' story is fraught with bravery and peril, yet it left him a legend in the history books.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

WEEK 3

30m U.S. History: Grades 7-8 - Lesson 6
York, Stories up the River, and Looking for Indians

Materials: Sacajawea

→ INTRO
One of the men who aided in the expedition was a man named York, who had grown up enslaved by the Clark family. He would be helpful on the expedition, but Lewis and Clark also knew that they needed someone who knew the lands they were sent to explore. These lands had been places no white man had ever entered before.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS
p.23-33 "Bad as the" - "a Supr. quallity."

• What were some struggles that the expedition encountered early on?

★ STUDENT/TEACHER NOTE
Quallity is intentionally misspelled as this is how it's written in the journal.

★ TEACHER NOTE
Due to some of the content, skip p.20-22.

WEEK 4

30m U.S. History: Grades 7-8 - Lesson 7
Trail of Tears

Materials: PDF link

→ INTRO
The settlers wanted more land. The Native American Tribes inhabited this land. So between 1816 and 1840, Tribes, including Cherokees, Chickasaws, Creeks, Seminoles, and Choctaws, signed treaties that gave up their land to the US. Around 1829, Andrew Jackson and Congress passed an act called the Indian Removal Act that forced remaining tribes to move west. There were over 100,000 Native Americans who were forced from their homes to make a journey that many of them would not survive.

Introducing Caesar

Materials: A Short History of Ancient Rome, Historical Atlas of the World

→ INTRO

Around the end of the 15th century, William Shakespeare wrote a tragedy titled Julius Caesar. The story of Julius Caesar captured audiences' attention then, and it remains prominent in our modern-day culture. The blood, betrayal, and scandal of the story is what has led to this story's permanence. But as you will read, there is more to this story. Julius Caesar becomes a famous leader for a number of reasons. As you read through the story retold by Pascal Hughes, consider the many reasons Julius Caesar's story might attract so much attention.

→ INTRO
Sacajawea found herself able to help the expedition in more ways than just translating for her people. Growing up in the village, she knew that there would come a time when it would be impossible to hunt and that the survival of people depended on finding food in other ways. Mainly, she taught them how to forage for edible roots.

There would be more difficulties than just running low on food. One of the largest would be grizzly bears. Even though Lewis and Clark were outfitted with guns and bullets, they had a hard time taking down the grizzlies, which caused Captain Lewis to say, “these bears being so hard to die rather intimidates me.” A canoe nearly sank, animals charged their tents, and Sacajawea came down with an illness.

Each chapter features recurring characters who were connected in some way to the 1889 World's Fair. Create a graphic organizer or a list that will help you keep track of the individuals that you will encounter in this text. You may want to put only one or two people on a page so you have room to add details. You will add to these pages when you encounter the character again in a subsequent chapter. A list of the people mentioned in this book is listed on p. ix-xi. It might be helpful to look back at it as you read. Begin your list of characters: Gustave Eiffel, Annie Oakley, William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), Thomas Edison.

This is an example of a graphic organizer that creates a timeline for the character. You can also just list descriptions about them in a column.

WEEK 6 ⬚ 30m U.S. History: Grades 7-8 - Lesson 36

Materials: Gold Mountain

→ INTRO
This historical novel is based on the building of the transcontinental railroad, which took place from 1863-1869. It was an arduous, dangerous job for the men who signed up to do it. Historians estimate that at any one time as many as 10,000 to 15,000 Chinese were working on constructing the railroad. It took more than four years to complete the western section of the railroad and connect the coasts. This story will bring this time period to life and give you a glimpse of what those workers endured so they could send money back to their families in China. Upon completion of the railroad, some workers went back to China; others stayed in America to work in agriculture, mining, logging, or domestic service or work in manufacturing to produce cigars and other items.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS
1. Read author's note p.274-276
2. p.1-12 beginning - "to say or do."

• What customs or traditions in Chinese culture have you noticed so far?"

→ BACKGROUND
1. Foot binding — the practice of applying tight binding to the feet of young girls to prevent further growth — was a Chinese custom historically associated with the wealthy. Small feet were considered more attractive and, therefore, necessary to find a more suitable partner. It was banned in 1911, but the practice continued in rural areas until circa 1949, when women were forced to remove the bindings on their "lotus feet" by governmental decree.

Why did the Chinese call America "Gold Mountain"?
In the 1840s, the news circled the globe: There was gold in California, and fortunes could be made by anyone who seized the opportunity. Within weeks, dreamers from far and wide came streaming into America's port cities, hoping to stake a claim and strike it rich. China was not immune to this new gold fever. Word of a mountain of gold across the ocean arrived in Hong Kong in 1849, and quickly spread throughout the Chinese provinces. By 1851, 25,000 Chinese immigrants had left their homes and moved to California, a land some came to call gam saan, or "gold mountain." (from History of Congress website)

→ VIEW

Throughout the lessons, you will be watching segments from a webinar that was hosted by the Chinese Railroad Workers in North America Project at Stanford University. Some people might think that history is about dates and events and that there is nothing new to find out about the past. But when we look at primary sources, there might be "new stories" to uncover that are not part of the usual narrative. That is what historians do. They study primary sources to answer questions about the past. Primary sources are forms of evidence that come directly from the period or persons or events we are seeking to understand. These can be journals, letters, photos, newspapers, and other writings. That is what this project is about. We don't know a lot about the Chinese railroad workers who came to America in the late 1800s to find jobs and build America. These historians are trying to bring these stories to us.

This segment talks about the project and the kinds of primary sources they studied.

Architecture

Materials: Notebook

→ INTRO
Today, we will look at another architectural style influenced by the Old World—Gothic Revival. These homes in the 1800s were romantic adaptations of medieval architecture. Delicate wooden ornaments and other decorative details suggested the architecture of medieval England. These homes did not try to replicate authentic Gothic styles—no flying buttresses were needed to hold up the Gothic Revival homes found throughout America. Instead, they became the elegant farm homes of a growing America. Here are some of the characteristics:
- Pointed windows with decorative tracery
- Grouped chimneys
- Pinnacles (spires or peaks)
- Leaded glass
- Quatrefoil and clover-shaped windows
- Oriel windows- bay window that projects from an upper floor and is supported by a bracket
- Asymmetrical floor plan
- Steeply pitched roofs

By 1861, an engineer named Theodore Judah had enlisted a group of investors in Sacramento to form the Central Pacific Railroad Company. He then headed to Washington, D.C., where he was able to convince congressional leaders, as well as President Lincoln, who signed the Pacific Railroad Act into law the following year. The Central Pacific Railroad Company would start building in Sacramento and continue east across the Sierra Nevada, while a second company, the Union Pacific Railroad, would build westward from the Missouri River, near the Iowa-Nebraska border.
The two lines of track would meet in the middle (the bill did not designate an exact location), and each company would receive 6,400 acres of land (later doubled to 12,800) and $48,000 in government bonds for every mile of track built. From the beginning, then, the building of the transcontinental railroad was set up in terms of a competition between the two companies. (from history.com)

Meeting Louis Hughes

Materials: A Year in the South: 1865

→ INTRO
In 1832, a baby boy was born around Charlottesville, Virginia. His name would be Louis Hughes, and he was the son of a black mother and a white father. Louis would marry, have children, and live through the events of the Civil War. In his old age, he would write a memoir, sharing his life story.
In A Year in the South, author and Civil War historian Stephen Ash uses Louis Hughes' memoir and other additional primary sources to detail one of the most eventful years in the history of the United States: 1865. This is the year that the Civil War would come to an end. But what did the victory of the Civil War mean for the men and women still enslaved in the South? When did freedom come? These are just a few of the questions Stephen Ash will answer in his book.

WEEK 1

30m Ancient History: Grades 7-9 - Lesson 25
The Christian Revolution

Materials: The Witness of Early Christian Women: Mothers of the Church

→ INTRO
How revolutionary was Christianity in the Roman Empire? Jesus' teachings challenged a lot of different ideas that had come to be accepted as truths, such as the belief that women were inferior. Mike Aquilina writes, "Males were superior (a man would say) because women were inferior. It was obvious — so obvious that it hardly needed an argument. Fire is hot, water is wet, and women are inferior to men. This unquestioned and unquestionable truth was the basis of all human society."
So what happens when one of Christianity's most prolific writers challenges this idea in his letters? Think about Galatians 3:28, which reads, "There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus." Paul's words would have registered as an attack on Rome's family values.
Paul promotes the idea that women have a place in society, a place in the Bible, and a place in the early church. As you read through this book, we encourage you to take note of anything that stands out, anything you agree with, and anything you disagree with.

★ TEACHER NOTE
Please preview the top of p.16 and you decide if you want to skip that paragraph which talks about the ill treatment of women.

Meeting Cornelia McDonald

Materials: A Year in the South: 1865

→ INTRO
In the prologue of A Year in the South, Stephen Ash introduces his audience to Cornelia McDonald. He writes, "When 1865 began, Cornelia McDonald was forty-two years old and living in a rented house in Lexington, Virginia, with her seven children. She was a widow and a war refugee. The death of her husband, a Confederate army officer, and the loss of her home had brought her to the verge of poverty and despair." Cornelia McDonald was born in Virginia. She was born in 1822 to a well-off family. Her family had owned slaves, and she had grown up never needing to work with her hands. How does the victory of the Union in 1865 impact this young mother and widow? Author and Civil War historian Stephen Ash will use many different primary sources to piece together this young woman's story.

WEEK 5

⬚ 30m U.S. History: Grades 7-8 - Lesson 57
Louis Hughes in the Spring

Materials: A Year in the South: 1865

➜ INTRO
Like many enslaved women and men, Louis Hughes had dreams of being free. He would run away a couple of times, and every time he received a punishment. His story highlights the evil that we must face as those who study history. Humans are capable of great evil towards each other. Sin is a part of the human experience, and we can trace it to every place and every time.

In his book, Why Study History, John Fea writes, "Indeed, anyone who studies the past realizes that there are no heroes in history. While people may perform heroic acts, all humans are tainted by sin and are susceptible to acting in ways that preference themselves over others and God. Historians understand, perhaps better than most, the reality of the pain, suffering, injustice, anger, and vice brought on by sin. In other words, they understand the tragic dimensions of life."

History reminds us of the inherent weakness in the human condition and the very real possibility that our fellow human beings are capable of horrendous things. This should humble us, for “there, but for the grace of God, go I.” One day, there will be a new heaven and new earth where there will be no more death or mourning or crying or pain.

➜ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS
p.109-118 stop at “and poultry alike."

• How does Louis Hughes' story tell you more about what's going on in his community?

• STUDENT TIP
Be sure to add some people, events, and drawings of artifacts to your book of centuries.

WEEK 5

⬚ 30m Ancient History: Grades 7-9 - Lesson 29
Perpetua and Felicity

Materials: The Witness of Early Christian Women: Mothers of the Church

➜ INTRO
Perpetua lived in the time of Emperor Septimius Severus. Mike Aquilina wrote that Septimius Severus "wasn't persecuting Christians per se at the moment, but he had made it a capital crime for Roman citizens to become Jews or Christians." Perpetua was a noblewoman and was able to write and read. She converted to Christianity and was sentenced to die with her servant Felicity. Her story is different from other accounts because it was written by her own hand. As you read through it, what kind of questions do you have for Perpetua and Felicity?

➜ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS
p.60-67 "Perpetua is almost" - "had willed it."

• What does their story reveal about the cost of discipleship?

★ TEACHER NOTE
This chapter is about martyrdom, so you may want to preview the reading.

• IMPORTANT DATES
Perpetua and Felicity martyred in 203 AD

• STUDENT TIP
Be sure to add some people, events, and drawings of artifacts to your book of centuries. Mark potential items with a Post-it note as you read so you remember to find something when you sit down to work in your book.

Cornelia McDonald and Louis Hughes in Fall

Materials: A Year in the South: 1865

→ INTRO
1865 was a year marked by many uncertainties. As men and women were freed from the bondage of slavery, they would need to find homes, jobs, and safe havens where they could relish their freedom. And households that had built their wealth on the backs of slaves would need to transition quickly to be able to sustain themselves. The year 1865 would be one of the most tumultuous years in the history of the United States, but the fight for freedom didn't end with the Emancipation Proclamation or the winning of the Civil War. The rest of the 1800s would be filled with a struggle for equality that was just beginning.
