History: Grades 7-8 (Canada)

GRADE(S): 7-8

About the Course

This course includes the following topic(s): Canadian History: Grades 7-8, World History: Grades 7-8, Ancient History: Grades 7-9

About Ancient History: Grades 7-9
Read about ancient history from 100 BC-350 AD through biographies, primary source documents, and history spines. Students will view images, reference maps, and update their Book of Centuries as part of the lessons.

About Canadian History: Grades 7-8
Read about Canadian history from 1800-1900 through books that immerse students in the time period and allow them to see the world through the eyes of those who lived it. Through engaging narratives, biographies, history spines, primary source documents, oral histories, historical fiction, and books that show different perspectives, students come to see history as more than dates and events and develop relationships with people from the past. Viewing images, looking at maps, and working on one's Book of Centuries are also part of developing this relationship.

About World History: Grades 7-8
One of the most powerful truths that history can teach us is that the past was different from the present. The way things are now is not the way they have always been, which should make us aware of the likelihood that the way things are now is not how they will be. The study of world history exposes students to what life was like in different places and at different times. As students read about people and events from 1800-1900 through history spines, historical novels, and primary source documents, they will get a better picture of the way people viewed the world, the challenges they faced, and the legacy they left behind. Students will also view images, reference maps, and work on their Book of Centuries as part of their lessons.

Placement & Combining Tips

Canadian History: Grades 7-8
Canadian history may be suitable for grade 9 students if combining.

World History: Grades 7-8
Suitable for Grade 9. However, Grade 9 does include a term of lessons on historical thinking skills, which should not be skipped. So if combining 9th graders in this course, be sure to have them read that book next year.

How To Teach

Prepare

- Read through the lesson and gather any necessary links.
- If you have not read the book, you may want to read the selected pages in advance.
- Decide which lessons/books to read together and which to have students read independently.

Recap

- Connect back to the previous lesson. Have students give a summary of what they remember. (Full narration is not necessary.)
- If the previous passage is difficult to remember, teachers may ask a leading question: "What can you tell me about..." Or students may try looking back at any chapter/section headings or illustrations or reading the first paragraph to jog the memory.

Introduce

- Use a picture, map, or engaging question to pique the student's interest in the day's lesson (often included in lesson plans).
- If necessary, talk about a few unfamiliar words that will be crucial to understanding.

Read

- Read the day's passage out loud or have the student read independently. Sometimes reading for the specified time is a better guide.
- If a book is challenging, try stopping to narrate every now and then rather than waiting until the end. It can also help to read aloud. Or you might want to use an audiobook version of the text and have students read along with it.
- Have students keep an eye out for events or characters to add to their Citizenship Notebook, Book of Centuries, or Copywork Book.

Narrate

- Have students retell the passage orally or write a narration.
- Alternatively, students might analyze a character, trace cause to consequence, outline a passage, or use one of the other methods indicated by Charlotte Mason in School Education Chapter 16, especially p.180.
- Students who enjoy writing can experiment with different types of written narrations, but this is not required.

Discuss

- Give the student an opportunity to share thoughts on the lesson and any connections made (orally or in writing).

• You could ask them what they thought about the passage or ask an open-ended question to stimulate discussion. Discussion questions are often included in the lesson plans.

Connect

• Optional: Add something to the Book of Centuries, Century Chart, Citizenship Notebook, or Commonplace book. If students would like to include pictures, these may be drawn or printed.

WEEK 1 ⬚ 30m Canadian History: Grades 7-8 - Lesson 1

Introduction - The War of 1812

Materials: Jeremy's War 1812

→ INTRO
Throughout much of the eighteenth century and into the second decade of the nineteenth century, the British Navy was engaged in near-continuous naval conflicts until peace was declared in 1815, after the Battle of Waterloo. One of Britain's last major battles before then was the War of 1812, in which Canada, then still a collection of British colonies, became the battleground for a conflict between the United States and Britain over many long-standing grievances, including shipping rights and American expansionist plans.
The first historical novel we will read in this course is Jeremy's War 1812, a gripping account of the war told from the perspective of a fifteen-year-old orphaned boy who joins a regiment of British soldiers and eventually becomes the personal servant of Sir Isaac Brock. Historical details blend smoothly with a fictional story to create a detailed recreation of this definitive period in Canada's pre-Confederation history.

→ VIEW
The following video gives some background on the stakes for Canada in the War of 1812 and its importance for Canada's history.
∞ Video Link: The War of 1812 | The Canadian Perspective

WEEK 1

30m Ancient History: Grades 7-9 - Lesson 1

Meeting Sulla

Materials: A Short History of Ancient Rome, Historical Atlas of the World

→ INTRO

This year, you are learning about ancient Rome. We are not starting at the beginning with the legend of Romulus and Remus in 753 B.C. We are jumping ahead to 88 BC. The Roman Republic has become a world power. It has marched through the Greek world, razed cities like Carthage, and unseated powerful people. As Pascal Hughes says, "The march of Rome appears unstoppable."

However, what had once been a republic, which had enabled certain people to vote in their leadership, was quickly becoming more of a dictatorship, which is where one person assumes absolute power. There were a number of factors that led to Sulla becoming the first dictator in the Roman Republic. He assumed power through political violence, manipulation of land and resources, and military coups. In 88 BC, the Republic found itself in danger.

Sulla's story doesn't start at the beginning of his dictatorship.

→ READ, NARRATE & DISCUSS

Ch.6 p.89-99 - end at "political violence tamed"

→ LOCATE

Map Resource: Historical Atlas of the World p.14-15

Find Carthage, Rome, and any other cities that pop up in your reading to familiarize yourself with the world of Ancient Rome.

• STUDENT TIP

Be sure to add some people, events, and drawings of artifacts to your book of centuries. Mark potential items with a Post-it note as you read so you remember to find something when you sit down to work in your book.

Take a few minutes to look at this map of York, now Toronto, made in 1813. In today's reading, Jeremy travels south on Yonge St. (most likely the sole road on this map that stretches north through the forest). Notice in the "Remark" on the map, that bridges over the Don River to the east of York were "decaying fast" and "in so great danger of falling that it was thought requisite at this time (Nov. 1813) to support." While the bridge that collapsed under Jeremy was north rather than east of York, this map shows that at this time, bridges could be hazardous for travellers.

WEEK 3 ⬚ 30m Ancient History: Grades 7-9 - Lesson 3
Spartacus and a Revolt

Materials: A Short History of Ancient Rome, Historical Atlas of the World

→ INTRO
Rome was built on slavery. In 73 BC, there were more than a million people enslaved in Rome's Italian lands. As Pascal Hughes says, "Some have been bought from foreign merchants, others taken by military conquest, or enslaved as a punishment for criminality. Then there are the unfortunates who were born into bondage, or who are the victims of kidnap by slavers, or who could see no other option in life than to sell themselves into servitude."
However, revolution came to Rome, and it was led by a slave named Spartacus. There are modern-day movies that praise the bravery of this man and those who rose up with him against the powers that shackled them. Spartacus' story is fraught with bravery and peril, yet it left him a legend in the history books.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS
Ch.7 p.110-118 - stop at "Third Servile War"
