About the Course

This course includes the following topic(s): Plutarch: Grades 6-8, American Government: Grade 7, Ethics: Part 1, Current Events: Grades 5-8, Community Read Alouds: Grades 1-12

About Plutarch: Grades 6-8

Plutarch's Lives is a collection of biographies written 2,000 years ago, which has influenced prominent thinkers from Montaigne to Bacon to Shakespeare. Plutarch's stories are often difficult to read (and are therefore often dropped by teachers), but their value to help students evaluate the characteristics that define a good citizen cannot be overstated. The lesson plans will contain additional support to what is already included in the Anne White guides.

About Current Events: Grades 5-8

Students are exposed to current events by reading from a variety of sources and having age-appropriate conversations with teachers. Topics such as scientific discoveries, the arts, and human interest stories are generally suitable.

About American Government: Grade 7

Students will gain a better understanding of the foundation of American democracy as they learn about the key principles of the Constitution, including the separation of powers, checks and balances, and the responsibilities of each branch of government. There will be a special focus on the Bill of Rights so students understand their rights as citizens and the limits of the government. Supplemental material is provided through articles, videos, and Supreme Court cases. Students will engage with these ideas using their Citizenship notebook.

About Community Read Alouds: Grades 1-12

This is meant to be a read-aloud for all ages to enjoy together in the afternoon at least 1 time a week. We encourage you to choose a book that is specific to your region. However, we will offer some suggestions in the Grades 1-3 Literature lessons and Grades 4+ Citizenship lessons. The suggested book titles will be available June 1st in the lesson plans.

About Ethics: Part 1

One of Mason's main pillars is that the student is born a "person." Ourselves is the book in which she defines that term, and it is the only volume she wrote directly to students. The book is divided into two parts. We use Ourselves Part 1 in Grades 7-9 and Part 2 in Grades 10-11, as Mason did in her own schools. In these books, students will explore characteristics shared by all Image-Bearers and learn how to guard against good servants becoming bad masters with Charlotte Mason's text written directly to students.

Placement & Combining Tips

Plutarch: Grades 6-8

Students in 5th grade or new to Plutarch may want to take the Beginner's Track, which covers the life of Publicola over two terms. It is advisable to have students read Beesly's Stories From the History of Rome and complete one year of Shakespeare before beginning Plutarch.

American Government: Grade 7

If 8th-grade students have not taken this course or studied the Constitution, they should consider taking it instead of the 8th-grade option.

Ethics: Part 1

Ourselves by Charlotte Mason is scheduled over five years. In a multi-age context, students can jump into the book wherever the class is reading. Otherwise, students should begin the book in Part 1.

Citizenship: Grade 7 (U.S.)

☐ Make sure your student sets up a Citizenship Notebook. They will need a 3-ring binder, lined notebook paper, and 5 Tabbed Dividers. You can read more about how to set one up and suggestions for various sections in the document in Quick Links.

☐ As desired, plan for a read aloud time. Suggestions are provided in the Community Read Aloud Quick Link, but local favorites are highly recommended whenever possible.

☐ Make a Calendar of Events for Current Events lessons by drawing a calendar grid in a notebook (or print a blank calendar from the internet).

Plutarch: Grades 6-8

☐ Watch the video in Quick Links about teaching Plutarch.

How To Teach

Prepare

Plutarch: Teachers will find it helpful to preread the entire Life first, and then preread the day's passage before each lesson. Mark any passages that should be omitted due to content. (In Anne White's Plutarch Project books, the recommended source for this course, objectionable content has already been omitted.)

Current Events: Preview the news source for suitability.

Most other citizenship topics don't require additional prep.

Recap

Connect back to the previous lesson. (Optional for Current Events).

Introduce

For news sources, show students how to scan the headlines to get an overview first and then choose a story to read.

For Plutarch or other books: Use a picture, a map, or an engaging question to prepare students to receive the story as relevant. You may talk about one or two unfamiliar words that will be crucial to understanding. It is not necessary to cover all unfamiliar words.

Read

Read the selection assigned or the news story chosen. For rich, dense, or more challenging books such as Ourselves and Plutarch, it is a good idea to read them aloud. Have students keep an eye out for things to add to their Citizenship Notebook, Book of Centuries, and/or Commonplace book.

Narrate

Have the students narrate orally or in writing.

Discuss

Give students an opportunity to share their thoughts on the story and any connections made. For current events, look up where events occurred on a map and ask questions to help students discern the quality of the piece. (e.g., Are there sources cited? Is there an obvious bias? If so, what do other authors have to say on this subject? Are arguments supported by evidence? Is that evidence credible?) Consider reading an alternative perspective.

Citizenship Notebook

Have students record important ideas in their Citizenship Notebooks.

Term 1

WEEK 1 25m Ethics: Part 1- Lesson 1

Country of Mansoul

Materials: Ourselves

→ INTRO

Charlotte Mason, the author of this text, felt that the available material on formal formation during her time was severely lacking; what was available she considered unsuitably preachy and uninteresting. She felt compelled to write an approachable but challenging alternative, which is the text for this course: Ourselves.

Mason believed that before we could fully consider our duties to God, country, and others, we must first know and begin to understand ourselves, including the possibilities and risks inherent in all of us. Self-knowledge, in her view, was the inevitable prerequisite to self-direction, which is why she aptly named the first and second "Books" of Ourselves after each.

In order to present these ideas in an interesting way, she used the allegory of a country and its government. In her own words: "The realised self of each of us is a distressfully poor thing, and yet upon its insight and its action depends the redemption of that greater self, whose limitations no man has discovered. It is, to use a figure, as the relation between a country and its government. The country is ever greater than the governing body; and yet, for its development, the former must depend upon the latter."

∞ Video Link: The Declaration of Independence

→ READ

Now, use the link below to read parts of The Declaration of Independence. You don't need to read the whole thing. Try to read something from every section. Here is some background information about it. This document contains five parts. "The introduction 'declares' why the colonies need to be independent of the British Empire. Next, the Preamble explains views about freedom and self-rule. The First Section of the Body states the abuses of King George III, and the Second Section explains how the Colonists appealed in vain to the king, concluding that the United Colonies have the right to be free from the tyrant." (Painless American Government, p.23).

WEEK 1 30m Plutarch: Grades 6-8 - Lesson 1

Introduction and Lesson 1 Julius Caesar p. 1-12

Materials: The Plutarch Project Volume 3, Historical Atlas

PREP: We highly recommend reading a retelling so you can be familiar with the story. This is for your understanding and should not be read to the students. Read introduction, review vocabulary, and preread the lesson.

∞ Link: Retelling of Caesar (from Our Young Folks' Plutarch)

→INTRO HAVE YOU EVER HEARD OF JULIUS CAESAR? IF SO, WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT HIM?

→VIEW

∞ Image Link: Julius Caesar

Map Resource: Historical Atlas, p.14-15

→LOCATE

Take 1-2 minutes to look over the map of The Roman Republic and the surrounding "world" in Caesar's time. Find Rome in Italy. Find the Aegean Sea between the province of Asia and Achaea. This is the coastline where the pirates operated. Find Bithynia on the southern shore of the Black Sea where Caesar went after his release. These are the places where a teenager on the wrong side of Roman politics spent his first years away from home.

→ VIEW & PRACTICE

Review the vocabulary section before each lesson to familiarize yourself with unfamiliar terms. It may be helpful for students to write definitions into the text, so they do not have to review terms mid-lesson.

→ READ, NARRATE

Lesson One, Parts One - Three, p.9-12. Once finished, ask, "What do you remember?" + "What else?" Keep narration to 2-3 minutes.

→DISCUSS: CHARACTER SIMULATOR

In the introduction of Lesson One, we learn that "young Julius Caesar was on the wrong side. Most people in that position would have stayed hidden or at least tried to live quietly." (p. 7) In a situation where staying silent means comfort and safety, what factors or beliefs might make a person decide that standing up is worth the risk?

→ WRITE (OPTIONAL CITIZENSHIP NOTEBOOK EXERCISE)

If you found yourself on the "wrong side" of a big decision at school or with your friends, and staying quiet was the only way to stay safe and comfortable, how would you decide which ideas are worth being "exiled" for and which ones are just you being stubborn?

★ TEACHER TIP

∞ Link: Character Cards
To keep track of all of the characters in the story, it may be helpful for your student to keep a list or chart of some kind in their citizenship notebook. They could also sketch the characters and include facts about them. Or, you could use the character cards linked.

● CHARACTERS

-Julius Caesar (JOOL-yus SEE-zar): born in 100 B.C. He was a Roman statesmen and general during the last years of the Roman Republic. He held many high civic, military, and religious positions and was a noted orator and writer.

-Sulla (SUH-luh): was made the Perpetual Dictator, but resigned after one year and was elected as a consul instead.

-Cinna (SIN-uh) There are several Cinna's in the story. This Cinna, Lucius Cornelius Cinna the Elder, is Caesar's first father-in-law and ally of Marius, Caesar's uncle.

-Marius (MARR-ee-us): He was involved in a Civil War against Sulla and was also Caesar's uncle by marriage. Marius was an ally of Cinna, the father-in-law of Caesar. Julius Caesar was on the side of Cinna and Marius in the Civil War.

-King Nicomedes (nih-kuh-MEE-deez): King of Bithynia 94 B.C.-74 B.C.

-Marcus Juncus (MAHR-kuss)

Types of Government

☐ Materials: Our Rugged Constitution

→ RECAP

What do you remember about the Declaration of Independence?

→ INTRO

What kind of government does the United States have? There are three types of governments: 1. Autocracy-one ruler has absolute control and decision-making power 2. Oligarchy-a small group of landowners, military officers, or wealthy business people control the government institutions. 3. Democracy- The citizens together rule themselves (It comes from two Greek words—demos (the people) and kratos (rule of power). The Constitution establishes a federal democratic republic form of government. That is, we have a union of 50 sovereign States. It is a democracy because people govern themselves. It is representative because people

→ DISCUSS: CHARACTER SIMULATOR

You are a young officer who rode with Caesar when he passed through a tiny village in the Alps and said he would rather be the first man there than the second in Rome. What do you think about that comment?

→ WRITE (OPTIONAL CITIZENSHIP NOTEBOOK EXERCISE)

Explain how you might distinguish between a person who wants to do great things and a person who simply wants to be the greatest.

★ TEACHER NOTE

The map shows the world in 31 B.C., shortly after Caesar's time. You will notice Italy is shaded pink; while it was the Roman Homeland and not a province, it is colored here to show it was under central Roman control.

While all of Gaul is pink on this map, remember that when Caesar began his command, only the southern tip belonged to Rome. His campaigns are what eventually brought the rest of that territory into the Empire.

→ WRITE (OPTIONAL CITIZENSHIP NOTEBOOK EXERCISE)

Describe the different ways Caesar and his companions responded to the dish served by their host in Milan. (p. 23)

★ TEACHER NOTE

Germania was entirely outside Roman control.
- The Rhine was the line Caesar pushed against, even crossing it twice (in 55 and 53 BC) to build famous bridges and conduct show of force expeditions.
- Despite these incursions, Rome never successfully turned the main body of Germania into a permanent province, even in the centuries following Caesar

● CULTURAL CONNECTION

Sweet Ointment: also translated "oil of perfume" or "myrrh." It appears that Valerius Leo hadn't just pulled out the wrong bottle of salad dressing, rather that he was trying to show off his wealth. The reference to the host's want of breeding seems to confirm that.

The Senate

Materials: Our Rugged Constitution

→ RECAP

What do you remember about The Great Compromise?

→ INTRO

"As the Constitution's framers sweated and fretted through the Philadelphia summer...the question of impeachment worried Benjamin Franklin. America's elder statesmen feared that without a means to remove a corrupt or incompetent official, the only resort would be assassination. As Franklin put it, this result would leave the political official 'not only deprived of his life but of the opportunity of vindicating his character.' Perhaps he had Julius Caesar and the Roman Senate in mind. Ultimately, the framers agreed with Franklin. There was some debate about which crimes would be impeachable, but the framers left us with 'Treason, Bribery or other High Crimes and Misdemeanors.' Though the first two are pretty clear-cut, the rest of the definition leaves considerably more wiggle room." (The History of American Impeachment, Kenneth Davis, Smithsonian Magazine)

WEEK 6 25m Ethics: Part 1 - Lesson 6

Esquires of the Body: Hunger

☐ Materials: Ourselves

→ INTRO

What do you remember about the government of Mansoul? Why is it important to understand these powers within a person?

In today's reading, you'll hear the word esquire. In Mason's time, an esquire was often one who received a title (such as "lord") for service to the king. Sometimes they worked for the good of the kingdom, but other times to gain an advantage over others. How would that affect the kingdom? In this book, Mason gives the name "esquire" to the appetites of the body. As we read, keep this in mind.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Pt. I Ch. I p.11-13 "We will first" - "two hours long."

- CITIZENSHIP NOTEBOOK

Start a chart of the government of Mansoul that includes the King, the Prime Minister, and the Esquires. As you read, tell what their duties are and how each has the potential to damage the kingdom of Mansoul when they try to become too powerful.

Your general just risked his life sneaking across a war zone in a twelve-oar boat dressed as a slave, without telling anyone. What specifically bothers you about what he did, and what does your reaction say about what you believe a leader owes the people who follow him?

→ WRITE (OPTIONAL CITIZENSHIP NOTEBOOK EXERCISE)

Caesar's plan to aim at the faces of the young cavalymen worked because he thought carefully about who they actually were, not just what they were doing on the battlefield. You are one of Pompey's soldiers who has just been taken prisoner and is now being folded into Caesar's legions. Yesterday you were fighting against this man. Today, he is your general. What do you do with that, and what would you need to see from him before you trusted him? (p. 58-59)

Term 1

→ WRITE (OPTIONAL CITIZENSHIP NOTEBOOK EXERCISE): PICK 1 Caesar "daily saved the lives of some of his countrymen that bore arms against him" and considered this the greatest pleasure of his victory. Think of a conflict, whether between people, groups, or ideas, where the most meaningful thing a winner could do afterward was show restraint or generosity. What makes that kind of choice hard, and what makes it worth it? (p. 59)

"Veni, Vidi, Vici" worked because it was short, precise, and matched the reality of what had actually happened. Caesar put a man of the right family name at the head of his troops specifically to counter an oracle his enemies believed in. →DISCUSS: CHARACTER SIMULATOR, PICK 1

You are a senator who walked out when Caesar refused to stand up to greet you. You said nothing. You just left. What were you communicating, and do you think he understood it?

You are Caesar in the moment before you cover your face and give up. You have fought off the others. You are still standing. And then you see Brutus. Something finally stops all the fight in you. You have outrun everything your whole life. What is it that you are finally deciding to stop outrunning? (p. 78)

→ WRITE (OPTIONAL CITIZENSHIP NOTEBOOK EXERCISE): PICK 1

You have served Caesar since his early campaigns. You have watched him win in Gaul, survive civil war, defeat Pompey, and return to Rome in triumph. He is now planning new campaigns as if none of it happened. What does it feel like to follow a man who cannot stop? What do you think he is still looking for?

The crowd killed Cinna the poet because he had the same name as Cinna the conspirator. He tried to tell them who he was and it made no difference. Think about a situation where a person was judged entirely by something they had no control over. What does that kind of mistake reveal about what happens to people's judgment when they are driven by grief or rage? (p. 80)

→ DISCUSS: CHARACTER SIMULATOR - PICK 1

Agis is not yet twenty years old. He has grown up with wealth and comfort provided by his mother and grandmother, the richest women in Sparta. Plutarch says he "began to spurn against these womanish delights and pleasures" and chose the plain Spartan life instead. Nobody made him do this. What do you think happened inside him, and what does his choice tell you about what kind of person he was becoming? (p. 91)

Agis's mother and grandmother were the richest women in Sparta and had the most to lose from his reforms. They opposed him at first. Then something changed, and they not only consented but became his most vocal supporters, willing to give up their own wealth for his cause. What do you think changed their minds? What does their behavior tell you about those women? (p. 96)

→ WRITE (OPTIONAL CITIZENSHIP NOTEBOOK EXERCISE) - PICK 1

Agis "openly boasted besides, that he would not desire to be king, but only for the hope he had to restore the ancient Laconian life by his authority." (p. 91) What do you think he meant?

Agisilaus persuaded Agis to cancel the debts first and divide the land later, arguing that doing both at once might cause dangerous commotion. Then, Plutarch reveals his motives, "Agisilaus...having the best lands of any man in the country, and owing a great sum of money besides, would neither pay his debts, nor let go his land." (p. 99) Think about the difference between counsel and manipulation. How do you learn to tell the difference when someone gives you advice?

How has the role of the President changed since George Washington was first in office? What are some things that might be different for the current president than it was for George Washington?

p.120-129

The President's duties cover a lot of areas and require a lot of decisions. Presidents have a Cabinet, a group of experts in different areas who can inform the President as he makes decisions about what is best for the country. The word Cabinet is not in the Constitution, but "executive departments" are mentioned, which were the basis for the development of the Cabinet. President George Washington had four departments—the State Department (foreign nations), Treasury Department (money matters), War Department (military matters), and Department of Justice (legal matters). WEEK 2

30m Plutarch: Grades 6-8 - Lesson 14

30m Plutarch: Grade 9 - Lesson 3 Agis and Cleomenes p. 100-107

Materials: The Plutarch Project Volume 3, Historical Atlas p. 7

PREP: Read introduction, review vocabulary, and preread the lesson.

→ RECAP

What happened in the last reading?

→ LOCATE

Find Megara and Corinth. The narrow strip of land between them is the Isthmus of Corinth, where the sea presses in from both sides (The Saronic Gulf and the Gulf of Corinth). The large peninsula below Corinth is the Peloponnese. Neither label appears on this map, but you can see the shape clearly. Sparta is in the Southern Peloponnese region. This is the route Agis marched north with his young army to assist the Achaeans.

→ VIEW & PRACTICE

Review the vocabulary section before each lesson to familiarize yourself with unfamiliar terms. It may be helpful for students to write definitions into the text, so they do not have to review terms mid-lesson.

→ READ, NARRATE

Lesson Three, Parts One through Three, p. 102-106. Once finished, ask, 'What do you remember?' + 'What else?' Keep narration to 2-3 minutes.

→ DISCUSS: CHARACTER SIMULATOR

Agis was led to his death by men pretending to be his friends. When the moment came, he saw a sergeant weeping for him and said, "Good fellow, I pray thee weep not for me, for I am honestest man than they that so shamefully put me to death." (p. 106) He was twenty years old. What do you notice about that moment?

→ WRITE

When the ephor asked if Agis repented of what he had done, he answered that "he would never repent him of so wise and virtuous an enterprise, though he ventured his life for it." (p. 105-106) What do you think about that answer?

★ TEACHER NOTE

Plutarch pauses the story to say he writes about Aratus's failure "not out of any design to disgrace Aratus, for in many things he showed himself a true lover of Greece, and a great man; but to make us see the frailty and weakness of man's nature." (p. 126) He is telling you directly how to read what just happened. What does it mean when the biographer steps into the story and tells you what to think? Does it change how you receive it?

→ WRITE

You are a Greek citizen watching Aratus bring Antigonos and the Macedonians into the Peloponnese. Plutarch calls it "a practice far dishonest for a Grecian, very infamous for himself, but most dishonourable for the former noble acts he had done." (p. 126) What do you think about that?

→ DISCUSS: CHARACTER SIMULATOR

You are one of the soldiers who watched Cleomenes take Megalopolis. He had "taken strict care that the city should not be plundered" before offering it back to its citizens. When they refused, he destroyed it. (p. 138) What do you think about what you witnessed?

→ WRITE

You are standing at the temple door watching Cratesiclea say goodbye to her son before boarding a ship for Egypt as a hostage. She tells him, "O King of Lacedaemon, let no man see for shame, when we come out of the temple, that we have wept and dishonoured Sparta. For that only is in our power, and for the rest, as it pleaseth the gods, so let it be." (p. 135) What do you think about what she chose to say?

★ TEACHER NOTE

"Ptolemy (#1)...promised him aid, but upon demand to have his mother and children in pledge."

Important Vocabulary - in pledge: as hostages.

1. They were collateral: They were the price for ships and money.
2. They were high-ranking: Only the King's own mother and children were valuable enough to secure the alliance.
3. They were voluntary (in spirit): Cratesiclea views herself not as a victim, but as a Spartan citizen fulfilling a mission that is "profitable for Sparta."

You are standing on the deck of a ship looking back at the disappearing coast of Greece. The war is lost. Your home is occupied. Therycion turns to you, hand on his sword, and argues that living as a "fugitive" in Egypt is a fate worse than death. Cleomenes disagrees, calling suicide a "cowardly" escape from the hard work of hope. Discuss both sides of the argument. Do you think one of these men is correct? (p. 145-146)

→ WRITE

★ TEACHER NOTE
Therycion's speech and Cleomenes's reply are a genuine philosophical debate, not a simple case of one man being right and one wrong. Therycion is not a coward; he is making an argument about honor and the limits of hope. Cleomenes is not dismissing death; he is making an argument about the difference between dying with purpose and dying to escape. Let students sit with the difficulty of that before asking who they think is right.

Term 2

"King Ptolemy (#1), at his first coming, gave Cleomenes no special good, but indifferent entertainment. But when, upon trial, he found him a man of deep sense and great reason...conversation carried with it a noble and becoming grace...he was ashamed, and repented that he had neglected so great a man." (p. 146-147) Is firsthand experience the only way to judge a person's character? Does our character only count when we communicate it well to others?

Daemons of Intellect

☐ Materials: Ourselves

→ INTRO

What do you remember about the Hall of Simulation? Why and how is it a threat to Mansoul?

Today, we will read about the Daemons of Intellect. (Daemon is an old spelling for demon.) A daemon in our reading is a force, decision, or habit that takes something God created to be good and twists it into something unhealthy.

→ READ, NARRATE

Lesson Twelve, Parts One through Three, p. 149-153. Once finished, ask, 'What do you remember?' + 'What else?' Keep narration to 2-3 minutes.

→ DISCUSS: CHARACTER SIMULATOR

You are one of the thirteen Spartans. Why would you choose to "die like a man" in a foreign street rather than surrender and try to live? (p. 152) What did Cleomenes understand in this moment about the difference between giving someone liberty and that person being capable of being free? Can a person be given freedom if they are already commanded by their own love of ease and safety?

→ WRITE

Panteus was the last to die. Cleomenes had commanded him to check each fallen man and die last of all. He did exactly that: walked among his friends, tested each one, and then fell on Cleomenes and slew himself. Think about what it means to be given one last duty by someone you loved and to carry it out after they are already gone. What does faithfulness look like at the very end of everything?

★ TEACHER NOTE

This is the end of two lives, Agis's half of the story ended in Lesson Three. Now Cleomenes's ends here. Ask students to look back across both men before discussing: what did they share, where did they differ, and what does Plutarch seem to think each man's story teaches?

WEEK 1 30m American Government: Grade 7- Lesson 25

Amendment 1

 Materials: Our Rugged Constitution

PREP: You might want to read this article and share some thoughts with your student to give a little more background information about this idea of "separation of church and state" which is not found in the Constitution but stated often when discussing the First Amendment.

∞ Article Link: The History and Meaning Behind Separation of Church and State.

→ INTRO

Have you heard the phrase "separation of church and state"? What might that mean? It is not in the Constitution, but people often think it is because of the First Amendment. It was in a letter that President Thomas Jefferson wrote in 1802, a letter that said the establishment clause in the First Amendment should represent a "wall of separation" between church and state. We will explore what that means and how people might interpret it differently.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

WEEK 7 25m Ethics: Part 1 - Lesson 31

Lord Chief Attorney-General, Reason

☐ Materials: Ourselves

→ INTRO

Describe the dangers of viewing Reason as infallible. How are two sensible people able to come to equally good but opposing conclusions on the same subject?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Pt.II Ch.VI p.62-65 "We have all been" - "anything they see."

WEEK 7 30m American Government: Grade 7 - Lesson 31

Amendments 15 and 16

☐ Materials: Our Rugged Constitution

→ RECAP

What did you read last time?

→ INTRO

In 1913, two very important amendments were passed. One changed how Senators are elected. The other established a Federal Income Tax. (I wonder how popular that one was!)

Term 3

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.236-241

What do you think would happen if there was no Federal Income tax?

→ CITIZENSHIP NOTEBOOK

Write down the 15th-17th Amendments in your own words or in bullet points. Draw a picture or symbol to represent what it means.

WEEK 7

30m Plutarch: Grades 6-8 - Lesson 31

30m Plutarch: Grade 9 - Lesson 7 Tiberius and Gaius Gracchus - p. 187-192

Materials: The Plutarch Project Volume 3, Historical Atlas p.14-15

PREP: Read introduction, review vocabulary, and preread the lesson.

→ RECAP

What happened in the last reading?

→ LOCATE

Find Rome in Italy. The Tiber River flows through it, though it is not labeled on this map. This is where the victors threw Tiberius's body, denying him a burial. Now find Sardinia, the island to the southwest. This is where Gaius was sent as Quaestor to keep him away from the political fires in Rome.

→ VIEW & PRACTICE

Review the vocabulary section before each lesson to familiarize yourself with unfamiliar terms. It may be helpful for students to write definitions into the text, so they do not have to review terms mid-lesson.

→ READ, NARRATE

Lesson Seven, Parts One - Two, p. 189-191. Once finished, ask, "What do you remember?" + "What else?" Keep narration to 2-3 minutes.

→ DISCUSS: CHARACTER SIMULATOR

You are Gaius Gracchus. Your brother is dead, his friends were executed, and you have just had a dream where Tiberius tells you, "Brother, why dost thou prolong time... we were both predestined to one manner of life and death." (p. 191) How do you feel about the dream?

→ WRITE (OPTIONAL CITIZENSHIP NOTEBOOK EXERCISE)

Plutarch says of Gaius that "some were of opinion that he was more popular, and desirous of the common people's good will and favour, than his brother had been before him." (p. 191) Do you think it was a compliment?

25m Ethics: Part 1 - Lesson 32

Lords of the Exchequer, The Desires

Materials: Ourselves

→ INTRO

Describe the relationship between Reason and the Will from our last lesson.

Today, we will explore the Desires, which Mason refers to as the Lords of the Exchequer. The Exchequer is a British name for the government department responsible for the oversight and collection of revenue; in other words, the Treasury.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Pt.II Ch.VII p.66-68 "We consider" - "duly balanced."

• DEFINITIONS

approbation: approval

WEEK 8

30m American Government: Grade 7 - Lesson 32

Amendment 17 and 18

Materials: Our Rugged Constitution

→ RECAP

What did you read last time?

→ INTRO

From the years 1920-1933, due to the 18th Amendment, the production and sale of alcohol was prohibited. The Temperance (means abstaining from alcohol) Movement was a group of people that fought for this amendment for many years because of the negative effects that drunkenness had on families and work environments. This time period is called Prohibition. Although many people followed this law, there were many others who made alcohol illegally and there were even clubs called speakeasies where people would drink alcohol. It was a hard law to enforce. In 1933, the 21st Amendment repealed it, and it was no longer illegal to buy and sell alcohol. The states could make their own laws about the sale of alcohol.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.240-243

- What does the Bible say about the drinking of alcohol?
- Why do you think it was a hard law to enforce?

→ CITIZENSHIP NOTEBOOK

30m Plutarch: Grades 6-8 - Lesson 32

30m Plutarch: Grade 9 - Lesson 8 Tiberius and Gaius Gracchus - p. 192-197

Materials: The Plutarch Project Volume 3, Historical Atlas p.14-15

PREP: Read introduction, review vocabulary, and preread the lesson.

Term 3

→ RECAP

What happened in the last reading?

→ LOCATE

Find Rome in Italy. The Field of Mars lies just outside its walls, though it is not labeled on this map. Plutarch says so many people came to vote for Gaius that "the Field of Mars not being large enough to hold such a multitude of people, there were that gave their voices upon the top of houses." (p. 194, The Plutarch Project Volume 3) Now find Sardinia to the southwest. This is where Gaius "not only excelled all the young men of his age in his actions against his enemies" but also "in temperance, frugality, and industry, he surpassed those who were much older than himself." (p. 193)

→ VIEW & PRACTICE

Review the vocabulary section before each lesson to familiarize yourself with unfamiliar terms. It may be helpful for students to write definitions into the text, so they do not have to review terms mid-lesson.

→ READ, NARRATE

Lesson Eight, Parts One - Three, p. 193-197. Once finished, ask, "What do you remember?" + "What else?" Keep narration to 2-3 minutes.

→ DISCUSS: CHARACTER SIMULATOR

You are one of the censors hearing Gaius defend himself. He tells you he "alone of all men else that had been in the wars, had carried his purse full, and brought it home empty: where others having drunk the wine which they carried thither in vessels, had afterwards brought them home full of gold and silver." (p. 194) What do you think about his defense?

→ WRITE (OPTIONAL CITIZENSHIP NOTEBOOK EXERCISE)

Plutarch says that where all other orators turned toward the Senate, Gaius "in contrary manner when he made his oration, turned him outwards towards the other side of the marketplace." (p. 196-197) Plutarch calls it "a little turning." What do you think it meant?

Lesson Nine, Parts One - Two, p. 199-202. Once finished, ask, "What do you remember?" + "What else?" Keep narration to 2-3 minutes.

→ DISCUSS: CHARACTER SIMULATOR

Plutarch writes, "He won the good will of the common people, being more popular and familiar in his conversation and deeds than he was otherwise in his orations" (p. 200). Consider the Lives we have studied this year. What role does a person's personality play in their success?

→ WRITE (OPTIONAL CITIZENSHIP NOTEBOOK EXERCISE)

The Senate has hired a rival, Livius Drusus, to "play the demagogue" and outbid you. While you offer two colonies for the "honestest citizens," he offers twelve colonies for the "poorest," letting them have the land "scot free." (p. 201) As Gaius, how do you defend your laws in this situation?

→ DISCUSS: CHARACTER SIMULATOR - PICK 1

Plutarch wrote, "Gaius would not arm himself, but went out of his house in a long gown, as if he would have gone simply into the marketplace." (p. 210) What do you think about his choices?

You are a guest at Cornelia's home in Misenum. She tells the story of her sons' deaths "without shedding a tear," as if she were telling a history of someone else. Some guests think she has lost her "reason and sense" from grief. Do you agree? (p. 215)

→ WRITE (OPTIONAL CITIZENSHIP NOTEBOOK EXERCISE): PICK 1

Gaius' wife says, "Alas, what hope or trust is left us now, in laws or gods, since they have slain Tiberius?" (p. 211) What kind of loss do you think she is describing?

The people eventually built statues of the Gracchi and "consecrated the places where they had been slain." Looking back at their lives, did the Gracchi brothers "win" or "lose" their battle for the Roman people? Why? (p. 215)
