About the Course

This course includes the following topic(s): General Lit.: Grades 9-10, History of Lit: Grades 9-12, Plays: Grades 9-12, Poetry Study: Grade 9, Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12

About Poetry Study: Grade 9

Continuing in their poetry studies, students review a wide variety of poetic forms, learn how they have evolved over the centuries, and practice writing their own poems.

About General Lit.: Grades 9-10

Journey into the 19th century with novels, short stories, personal narratives, fairy tales, and more. Students engage with a variety of authors and texts from the time period and reflect on literary techniques and the characteristics of multiple genres along the way.

About History of Lit: Grades 9-12

Using Marshall's and Long's spines along with a variety of primary sources and additional readings, the History of Literature course introduces students to literary movements and figures in the 19th century. The course prioritizes influential texts in the English-speaking world but also seeks to give students glimpses of literary developments across the globe.

About Plays: Grades 9-12

Students read Shakespeare's plays with additional optional readings and extra helpings from the time period.

About Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12

In addition to reading a variety of poems from 19th century authors, students read biographies of two famous 19th century poets and dive into Virgil's Aeneid.

Plays: Grades 9-12

William Shakespeare (1564-1616) is perhaps the greatest writer in the English language. Reading and speaking his beautiful words will delight students as they learn his timeless stories, meet a variety of characters, enrich their minds, and instruct their consciences. Students will begin by simply enjoying the plays and later by writing short compositions, comparisons, and commonplace entries. Shakespeare covers the wide panorama of human experience through his nearly 40 plays; the comedies, tragedies, and histories that students read will spark their imaginations with stories that transcend time and culture.

Placement & Combining Tips

Poetry Study: Grade 9

Prerequisite: Grade 8 Poetry Study or a working knowledge of poetic forms and terminology.

General Lit.: Grades 9-10

Suitable for hungry 8th graders. Can be combined easily with Grades 11-12.

History of Lit: Grades 9-12

Lessons are shared across high school grades with grade-specific assignments in the lesson plans as appropriate.

Plays: Grades 9-12

This year, this course is the same as Shakespeare for Grades 5-8 with the only difference coming in Extra Helpings and additional options for further study.

Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12

Students new or struggling in their relationship with poetry should use Grade 8 lessons.

Responsibility for previewing all links rests with the teacher. All links were checked at the time of publication; however, websites change frequently and may contain objectionable content. Please report broken links by contacting us through our website.

History of Lit: Grades 9-12

☐ Print off the History of Literature PDF, as students will need to annotate and mark up various sections throughout the year.

☐ Although sources were condensed into one PDF when possible, there are still quite a few outside links due to the number of primary sources referenced, so make sure your student(s) has/have access to the internet for their course.

Plays: Grades 9-12

☐ You may want to read "Shakespeare and a Christian Worldview," which is Ch.9 in the book Echoes of Eden – Reflections on Christianity, Literature, and the Arts by Jerram Barrs. This is an excellent overview of why Shakespeare is important for everyone to know, including Christians.

☐ If your students are new to Shakespeare, read the tips for beginners (Found in Appendix link)

☐ You may want to read a retelling beforehand so you are familiar with the play. (Suggestions found in Extra Helpings)

☐ Read the discussion questions and skim the summaries of each scene each week before the reading to help guide emphasis and discussion with your students.

☐ Consider purchasing puppets to use while reading to keep track of all the characters.

NOTE on VERSIONS

Students should have an unabridged copy that is not in a modern language edition, such as the ones linked in the program. The language complexity gets easier to understand with practice. (Note: Shakespeare's work does often contain bawdy jokes or off-color content that will go over the heads of students if left in its original form; a modern language version will lay it all right out there in plain, modern English.) We like the Folger editions because they are inexpensive, the lines are numbered (making it easy to find your place), and they contain good notes. These are available on the Folger website as free PDFs as well, though the notes are omitted.

NOTE on CONTENT

Teachers are sometimes wary of reading Shakespeare with their students because the plays do contain material that they would deem inappropriate. The Alveary generally follows Mason's programs for younger students. That does not mean, however, that your student will never encounter anything unsavory. Our best advice is to read in such a way that these things are moved over quickly, without added attention being drawn to them. Mason assures us that Shakespeare provides students with rich language and character lessons that are unparalleled.

How To Approach

Read

The lesson plans will guide you through what to read over the terms. Take a moment before reading to remember where you left off last time.

Narrate

The lesson plans will give you specific instructions or tell you to choose a way to narrate that helps you interact with the ideas.

Discuss

The lesson plans will guide you with questions or instructions to share your ideas or what you are reading with others.

Teacher Note

These lessons are written directly to students, but to assist them throughout the year, please read through this section and the lesson plans so you are familiar with the instructions and flow of the lessons. Accountability components are occasionally added to facilitate teacher/student discussion and growing independence.

It is also valuable for those in a classroom setting to have a mix of lessons that students complete themselves silently and others read aloud and narrate together. Literature lessons lend themselves well to a larger discussion time at the end of the lesson where student can share their ideas.

Term 1

WEEK 1 30m History of Lit: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 1

Introduction - Romanticism

Materials: History of Lit PDF

→ INTRO

What authors and books come to mind when you think about literature in 19th century? You may be familiar with terms such as the "Romantic period" or "Victorian period." Tell or jot down anything that comes to mind.

Over the year we'll learn about the lives and writings of people who wrote from about 1800-1900 AD. These individuals wrote in a wide array of genres: poetry, essays, short stories, plays, science fiction, mysteries, thrillers, children's stories, and more. When possible, the readings scheduled in History of Lit will align with what you are reading in your Poetry and General Literature courses.

We'll focus on authors who wrote in English but will also spend some time getting a taste for influential texts written in other languages as well. Every culture has significant texts and stories, so while we're limited in this course to English texts and texts translated into English, it's important to remember there is a world of books and literary traditions from cultures around the world which we don't have the time or often the language to read in this course!

English writings from the end of the 18th century into the first half of the 19th century are sometimes grouped together as part of the "Romantic Period." As with any generalization, this is a label scholars have put on the time frame as they look back, not something authors were so much thinking about consciously as they wrote, although as we will see, writers and poets from this period were often aware that their style of writing was something new.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

- What are some of the themes to look out for when you read literature from the Romantic Period? How did Romantic writers break with the traditions of Classicism? Do you recognize any ideas about poets and poetry in this reading that are still current today? How would you say our time is different or similar? What "rules" define literature written in English today?

WEEK 1 15m Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 1

Transition from Classicism to Romanticism

→ INTRO

Towards the end of the eighteenth century, writers were beginning to break from the rules of Classicism and experiment with poetic subject matter and form that, in retrospect, seem more aligned with the themes of Romanticism. Today, you will read a few works by three poets who bridge these two time periods: Thomas Gray, William Cowper, and Robert Burns.

→ READ & DISCUSS

∞ Link: Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard

- What is the setting of the poem, and how does Gray use this setting to create a mood or tone for the poem? What do you think the poet is saying about death and memory?

∞ Link: The Shrubbery

- How does the speaker show that there is a disconnect between how he feels and where he is? What is his relationship to the nature he sees around him?

Term 1

∞ Link: To a Mouse

- If the language seems hard, try reading it out loud.
- This poem ends with a turn. Why does the speaker see the mouse as "blest, compar'd wi' me!"?

WEEK 1 30m General Lit.: Grades 9-10 - Lesson 1

Frankenstein

📄 Materials: Frankenstein

→ INTRO

Mary Shelley's Frankenstein has had a continuous influence on the wider culture since its publication over two centuries ago. Sir Walter Scott pronounced it "extraordinary" and declared that Shelley possessed "uncommon powers of poetic imagination." The story has been told and retold through many adaptations and artistic forms; however, there is a disconnect between the cartoonish, green-faced Frankenstein monster familiar to most of us and Shelley's tale of a nameless monster created by Dr. Frankenstein. Karen Swallow Prior writes that the novel "is full of surprises for the first-time reader." Rather than a straightforward monster story, it is "in the strain of the philosophical novel. Readers expecting merely an entertaining tale of horror can expect to be confronted with big ideas and big questions" (14).

→ READ & NARRATE

p.1-7 "You will rejoice" - "my beloved sister!"

- Notice that the novel opens with a series of letters. There will be many narrative frames throughout the novel as characters tell stories within stories, so paying attention to the point of view is very important. What do you learn of Robert Walton from these opening pages?
- What tone is set by the opening line?

WEEK 1 15m Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 2

William Wordsworth

→ INTRO

We will learn more about William Wordsworth (1770-1850) in the History of Literature lesson next week, but today's reading should give you a feel for his style and major themes. As you read, compare Wordsworth's poem to the selections you read last time. "Tintern Abbey" is written in blank verse (unrhymed iambic pentameter, or ten syllables per line). What other poets have you read who use blank verse? How is this different than Gray's "Elegy" you read last week, which had a very rigid structure?

→ READ

∞ Link: Lines Composed a Few Miles above Tintern Abbey, On Revisiting the Banks of the Wye during a Tour. July 13, 1798

- What are some images that especially stand out to you? What is Wordsworth saying about nature?
- What do you think he means when he says in lines 64-67: "here I stand, not only with the sense / Of present pleasure, but with pleasing thoughts / That in this moment there is life and food / For future years."?

→ VIEW

Look at this painting of Tintern Abbey, painted in 1804 by English landscape painter William Havell (1782-1857).

∞ Art Link: Tintern Abbey

Term 1

WEEK 1 30m General Lit.: Grades 9-10 - Lesson 2

Materials: Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass OR Up From Slavery

→ INTRO (OPTION 1: NARRATIVE OF THE LIFE OF FREDERICK DOUGLASS)

Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass is a classic 19th-century autobiography that details the author's story from slavery to freedom. Douglass was born enslaved in Maryland in 1818 and escaped to freedom when he was around twenty years old. He went on to have a remarkable life as a national leader of the abolitionist movement, writer, orator, and statesman.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.1-7 "I was born in Tuckahoe" - "a good overseer."

- What do we learn about Frederick Douglass's family in this opening reading?
- What initial impressions do you have of his narrative style? How might this be connected to his aims for this autobiography? Consider in particular how he describes the more difficult and violent episodes from his childhood.

→ INTRO (OPTION 2: UP FROM SLAVERY)

Today, we begin reading the autobiography of Booker T. Washington. It was first written as a periodical, but was later put into book form. Washington was born a slave, but was still a child when emancipation occurred. He later founded Tuskegee Institute in Alabama and spent his life advancing the cause of equal rights. His writings give a window into the Reconstruction period that followed the American Civil War.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.I p.1-11 "I was born" - "owners as to the future."

- How does Washington describe his childhood? How does he describe the day of emancipation?

★ TEACHER NOTE

Sensitive content: Douglass's Narrative contains several graphic descriptions of beatings and racial slurs.

WEEK 1 15m Poetry Study: Grade 9 - Lesson 1

The Villanelle

Materials: The Making of a Poem

→ INTRO

This book introduces several poetic forms. Many of you will already know. However, some will be new, and there are still more that time won't allow us to cover. The anthology takes us further into the history of how those forms developed over the centuries, each new generation of poets dialoguing with those in the past. Along the way, you will read many different examples of each form, and you'll write your own poems as well.

→ READ

- p.xiii "This book" - "single poetic form."
- p.3-7 "Overview", "The Villanelle At-a-Glance", and "The History of the Form"

→ NARRATE

- Jot down a few ideas from your reading.
- Read "The House on the Hill" by Edwin Arlington Robinson on p.9-10. Then look at p.5, "The Villanelle At-a-Glance", and see if you can identify

• COMPOSITION ACTIVITY

Over the year, you'll create your own reference book for the various poetic forms you study. The purpose is for you to have a quick guide that makes sense to you and is easy to pull up or keep on hand as you read individual poems. Start by creating your own "At-a-Glance" for the Villanelle. Here are a few of the possibilities:

- Copy the "Villanelle At-a-Glance" into a designated space in a notebook or a document on a device where you can easily find and reference it in the future. Add any additional notes for yourself that you'd like.
- Draw an illustration or create an infographic in Canva (or similar design software) showing the form more visually.

Term 1

each of the poetic features listed in Robinson's poem. You may want to highlight, underline, or color-code the different features you find to help you notice and remember.

- Create a PowerPoint and create your own Villanelle At-a-Glance for the first slide (using text and/or visuals).
- Something else! Get creative!

WEEK 1 15m Poetry Study: Grade 9 - Lesson 2

Reading Villanelles

Materials: The Making of a Poem, poetry notebook (opt.)

→ INTRO

Refresh your memory with the "Villanelle At-a-Glance" on p.5 and read the following villanelles aloud. Think about the following questions as you read. You may want to keep your poetry notebook nearby or write in the margins of your book to track your thinking.

- What words strike you?
- What lines sound particularly odd?
- What reactions do you have as you read?
- Do all these poets follow the "rules" for villanelles, or do they bend them a bit? Playing with rules is part of the poet's business.

Naturalist Jack Laws encourages us to view nature by asking ourselves, "What do I notice?", "What do I wonder?", and "What does this remind me of?" We can ask these same questions of stories and poems as well. Read these poems actively! Again, you may want to keep your poetry notebook nearby or write in the margins of your book to track your thinking as you read the next poems in this lesson.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.11-12 "The Waking," "One Art," and "Do Not Go Gentle into That Good Night"
p.14 "By the Sound"

WEEK 1 30m Plays: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 1

Materials: The Tempest

PREP: Read an overview of the play (one synopsis is located at the beginning of the Folger edition of the play). If you are not familiar with the play, you will want to read other retellings. We highly suggest Stories from Shakespeare by Marchette Chute. Resources are listed on the Extra Helpings Page. Also, be sure to read the note about mature content and language in Shakespeare in the Planning and Prep section.

→ INTRO

- What makes a tragedy a tragedy or a comedy a comedy?
- Our play this term is sometimes called a tragicomedy because it has both comedic and tragic elements. Overall, the play has a happy ending, which places it in the comedic category. The name of the play 'Tempest' means "a violent storm," and it will give us lots of things to ponder about power, betrayal, magic, slavery, and the restoration of relationships.
- Take time to review the elements of tragedy and comedy before beginning.
∞ Link: Genres of Shakespeare

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Act 1: Scene 1-2 p.7-25 "Boatswain!" - "Approach, my Ariel. Come."

- How does each character respond to the storm? What is the tone of this scene?

★ TEACHER TIP

Take turns reading the play aloud if using these lessons in a group. We recommend reading the summaries of each scene to briefly preview content and help orient students.

Term 1

- Re-read lines 84-95. Discuss the context this gives for the story.
- Put the following quote from Miranda into your own words. What does it tell us about what Miranda is like?

"A brave vessel,
Who had, no doubt, some noble creature in her,
Dashed all to pieces. O, the cry did knock
Against my very heart! Poor souls, they perished.
Had I been any god of power, I would
Have sunk the sea within the earth or ere
It should the good ship so have swallowed, and
The fraughting souls within her."

WEEK 2 30m History of Lit: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 2 William Wordsworth and Samuel Taylor Coleridge

Materials: English Literature for Boys & Girls

→ RECAP

What do you recall about the major themes of the Romantic Period from last week's reading?

→ INTRO

Today, we will learn more about the life and work of two poets - William Wordsworth and Samuel Taylor Coleridge, who are most closely associated with English Romantic poetry.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

1. Marshall, Ch.LXXIV "Wordsworth - the Poet of Nature."
 - How did Wordsworth's experiences as a child seem to influence his later poetry?
2. Marshall, Ch.LXXV "Wordsworth and Coleridge - the Lake Poets."
 - What are some similarities and differences between the two poets?

• IMPORTANT DATES William Wordsworth (1770-1850)

Samuel Taylor Coleridge (1772-1834)

First publication of the Lyrical Ballads (1798)

WEEK 2 15m Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 3 William Wordsworth and Samuel Taylor Coleridge

→ INTRO

With the anonymous publication in 1798 of their Lyrical Ballads, Wordsworth and Coleridge introduced a new style of poetry to the public. The initial publication received mixed reviews, however, and with each subsequent publication, the two poets included a Preface by way of an introduction to their style, themes, and purpose. In today's lesson, you will read excerpts from the 1802 edition of this preface, as well as a representative poem by each of them. Think about how the poetry you read illustrates some of the points made in the Preface.

→ READ & DISCUSS

1. ∞ PDF Link: Excerpts from the Preface to the Lyrical Ballads (1802)
2. Wordsworth, "My Heart Leaps Up"
My heart leaps up when I behold
A rainbow in the sky:
So was it when my life began;
So is it now I am a man;
So be it when I shall grow old,
Or let me die!
The Child is father of the Man;
And I could wish my days to be Bound each to each by natural piety.
3. ∞ Link: Wordsworth, "I Wandered Lonely As A Cloud"

Term 1

4. ∞ Link: Coleridge, "The Rime of the Ancient Mariner"

• NOTE: This poem is too long to read completely today, but reading it for a few minutes will give you a feel for the style. If you enjoy it, please finish reading it during the next poetry class or during your free reading time!

WEEK 2 30m General Lit.: Grades 9-10 - Lesson 3

Frankenstein

Materials: Frankenstein

→ RECAP

What do you recall from your reading last week?

→ READ & NARRATE

p.8-14 "So strange an accident" - "and wrecked it - thus!"

- How are the gigantic creature and the stranger introduced? What questions do you have at this point in the novel?
- What are Walton's impressions of his guest? Why would Shelley introduce the title character to her readers through another character?

WEEK 2 15m Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 4

Samuel Taylor Coleridge

→ INTRO

Today, we are going to read a poem that is very different in style from The Rime of the Ancient Mariner. As you read, think about other poems you have read about children, or by poets remembering their own childhood.

→ READ

∞ Link: Frost at Midnight

With any time remaining, you can read more of The Rime of the Ancient Mariner.

★ TEACHER TIP

There is a Poem Guide for Frost at Midnight at the Poetry Foundation link, if your student would like extra information about the poem or help with understanding it.

WEEK 2 30m General Lit.: Grades 9-10 - Lesson 4

Materials: Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass OR Up From Slavery

→ RECAP (OPTION 1: NARRATIVE OF THE LIFE OF FREDERICK DOUGLASS)

What do you remember from last week's reading?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.7-13 "The home plantation" - "stone-like coolness."

- Reflect on Douglass's descriptions of the slave's songs. What purposes does singing serve? How has it been misunderstood?

→ RECAP (OPTION 2: UP FROM SLAVERY)

What do you remember from last week's reading?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.2-3 p.11-22 "After the coming of freedom" - "or a handkerchief."

- Why were names so important to Washington and the other newly freed people?
- How does Washington describe the conditions of formerly enslaved

p.19-20 "Close-up of a Villanelle"

∞ Article Link: Villanelle by Andrew Lang

∞ Article Link: A Dainty Thing's the Villanelle by W.E. Henley

→ DISCUSS

- Which of the villanelles that you've read is your favorite? Why?
- The villanelle has been called the "poetry of loss" because of the way the repeated lines can build an echo of sadness. However, as you previously read, the villanelle originated from lighter ballads and songs and has also been used for lighter and happier topics (several of the ones you read today). What topics do you think the villanelle fits best?

• COMPOSITION

Start writing your own villanelle. Refer to your At-a-Glance guide and the villanelles you have read as needed.

WEEK 2 15m Poetry Study: Grade 9 - Lesson 4

The Sestina

📖 Materials: The Making of a Poem, copies of poems (opt.)

→ INTRO

You'll read a variety of sestinas over the next few lessons. Sestinas are a pretty complicated poetic form (they show the poet/singer's mastery!), so it's ok if it takes a bit of time to make sense of the patterns. You may want to print off some of the poems or mark them up in your book to help you notice the various features of the genre (along with your other thoughts).

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.21-24 "The Sestina At-a-Glance," "The History of the Form," "The Contemporary Context"

→ READ

Read the poem aloud to better hear the words since it is from the 1500s and the spelling is not the same as today (Edmund Spenser is a famous English poet from that time).

p.25-26 "Ye wastefull woodes, bear witness of my woe"

WEEK 2 30m Plays: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 2

📖 Materials: The Tempest

→ RECAP

How did Prospero and Miranda come to be on the island?

→ INTRO

The Tempest explores the theme of power, and we see this in Prospero's relationships. Watch a portion of Act 1, Scene 2, to learn more about Prospero's relationship to Ariel.

Term 1

- How would you describe Prospero's relationship with Caliban and Ariel?
- Put this quote by Caliban into your own words: "This island's mine by Sycorax, my mother, Which thou tak'st from me."

WEEK 3 30m History of Lit: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 3

Rabindranath Tagore

→ INTRO

If you are taking the Poetry Reading course this year, you will spend much of Term 1 reading poems by the Bengali writer, philosopher, and artist Rabindranath Tagore. He wrote in Bengali, but translated his own works into English. He is a significant figure for Indian nationalism, and, though not himself a politician, was a vocal proponent of India's independence at the turn of the twentieth century.

→ VIEW, NARRATE & DISCUSS

This video provides an excellent overview of Tagore's life and work. It will take nearly the entire lesson time to watch, although you can watch at 1.25x speed.

• IMPORTANT DATES

Rabindranath Tagore (1861-1941)

WEEK 3 15m Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 5

Rabindranath Tagore

📄 Materials: The Crescent Moon

→ INTRO

We will spend much of Term 1 reading poems by the Bengali writer, philosopher, and artist Rabindranath Tagore, who was born in 1861 in Calcutta, India, and grew up in a family that loved art, music, and ideas. He wrote in Bengali, but translated his own works into English. He is a significant figure for Indian nationalism, and, though not himself a politician, was a vocal proponent of India's independence at the turn of the twentieth century. In 1913, he became the first non-European writer to be awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature. He also composed the national anthems for both India and Bangladesh, making his words a lasting part of two nations.

The Crescent Moon is a collection of forty poems exploring themes such as childhood wonder, the natural world, and imagination. As you read through these poems, think about other poems you have read that present the world through the eyes of children, such as Robert Louis Stevenson's A Child's Garden of Verses.

→ READ & DISCUSS

Read one time, discuss, and then reread the poems.

p.6-7 "The Home"

- How would you describe the speaker of this poem?
- The poem opens with two examples of personification (a figure of speech which gives human characteristics to non-human things). Why do you think Tagore uses these images of a miser and a widow?

p.8 "On the Seashore"

- What images stand out most to you in this poem? How might they be symbols of a deeper meaning that lies beneath a simple description of children playing?

★ TEACHER NOTE

If you are not taking the History of Lit 9-12 course, you may wish to watch this introduction to the life and work of Rabindranath Tagore during some free time.

∞ Video Link: Rabindranath Tagore – Mystic Poet, Literary Genius & Nobel Laureate

Term 1

p.9-10 "The Source" and "Baby's Way"

- What do these two poems together seem to say about the nature of infants and children?

Frankenstein

Materials: Frankenstein

→ RECAP

What do you recall from your reading last week?

→ READ & NARRATE

p.14-21 "I am by birth" - "the greatest avidity."

- Describe the circumstances of Victor's parentage, his childhood, and his education.
- How does Victor recall his first reading of Agrippa? Does this foreshadow any of what is to come? Look for other instances of foreshadowing as you read.

WEEK 3 15m Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 6

Materials: The Crescent Moon

→ RECAP

What was your favorite poem by Tagore that you read last time? What did you like most about it?

→ READ & DISCUSS

p.11-16

p.12-13 "Sleep-Stealer"

- Do you think someone really stole the baby's sleep?
- What phrase is repeated throughout the poem? Why do you think this is?
- How does the poem blur the line between the real world and the imaginative world?

Read the other poems one time, discuss, and then reread the poems.

- What images stand out to you the most in today's poems?

WEEK 3 30m General Lit.: Grades 9-10 - Lesson 6

Materials: Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass OR Up From Slavery

→ RECAP (OPTION 1: NARRATIVE OF THE LIFE OF FREDERICK DOUGLASS)

What do you recall from last week's reading?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.13-19 "His savage barbarity" - "voice of tranquil music."

- Why do you think it is important for his narrative that Douglass describes violence in such detail? How does it strengthen his anti-slavery argument?
 - Why was leaving Colonel Lloyd's plantation such a turning point for Douglass?

→ RECAP (OPTION 2: UP FROM SLAVERY)

Term 1

What do you remember from last week's reading?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.3-4 p.22-34 "Finally, the great day came" - "get through the school year."

- What hardships does he encounter while traveling, and how does he respond to them? Where does he find the strength to persevere?
- Describe Mrs. Ruffner and how she impacted his life. Who else had an impact on Washington?

WEEK 3 15m Poetry Study: Grade 9 - Lesson 5

Reading Sestinas

Materials: The Making of a Poem, digital or physical notebook

→ INTRO

Read the following poems aloud once to simply enjoy the sound of the words and get the sense of the poem. Then read the poems again, looking more closely at the formal features of the poetry (pay special attention to the last words of each line, and watch the pattern). Finally, write questions or thoughts in your book or notebook.

→ READ & NARRATE

p.29 "Sestina: Of the Lady Pietra degli Scrovigni (translation; the original is written in Italian by Dante Alighieri, who wrote the Divine Comedy)
p.30-31 "Sestina"

→ CREATE

Start creating your own "Sestina At-a-Glance" page for your reference guide in your digital or physical medium of choice.

WEEK 3 15m Poetry Study: Grade 9 - Lesson 6

More Sestinas

Materials: The Making of a Poem, digital or physical notebook used in the previous lesson

→ CREATE

Take a few minutes to finish creating your "Sestina At-a-Glance" page in your reference guide.

→ READ

p.32-35 "Sestina," "Sestina of the Tramp-Royal," and "Sestina: Altaforte"

(Note that part of the context for "Altaforte" is the poet imagining what a man known for stirring up strife might say. The man is based on a character in Dante's longer epic poem, the Divine Comedy, who was put in hell for stirring up strife).

→ NARRATE & DISCUSS

How would you describe the energy and emotion in each of the poems from today?

WEEK 3 30m Plays: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 3

Materials: The Tempest

→ RECAP

Think back on what you learned about Ariel and Caliban through Prospero's conversations with and about them. What is your opinion of Prospero at this point?

★ TEACHER NOTE

The activity at the end of the lesson requires you to be present. Also, there are more layers to the activity than will likely fit in the remaining time after the reading is done. The point is to practice seeing the play from a different perspective, so feel free to stop

WEEK 4 30m History of Lit: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 4

Sir Walter Scott

Materials: English Literature for Boys & Girls

→ INTRO

E.M. Forster described Sir Walter Scott as a writer "over whom we shall violently divide," and certainly he has had his share of ardent readers and detractors. But one reason his works are still appreciated, as the literary critic Walter Allen said, is that "without being in the strict sense a historian, he revolutionized the writing of history." Today we will learn more about this author whom Virginia Woolf described as "perhaps the last novelist to practice the great, the Shakespearean art, of making people reveal themselves in speech," and of whom Jane Austen said, "Walter Scott has no business to write novels, especially good ones. It is not fair. He has Fame and Profit enough as a Poet"!

Materials: The Crescent Moon

→ RECAP

What was your favorite poem by Tagore that you read last time? What did you like most about it?

→ READ & DISCUSS

p.17-22

p.19 "Playthings"

- How does the poem compare a child's play to adult work, and which seems more satisfying?
- What "art" has the adult forgotten?
- What does the poem mean when it says adults spend their lives seeking "costly playthings"? Does this create success and happiness?

Read the other poems one time, discuss, and then reread the poems.

What do you recall from your reading last week?

→ READ & NARRATE

p.21-29 "When I returned" - "my future destiny."

- When Victor goes to university, how do his professors react to his course of study?
- Where do you see foreshadowing in today's reading? Since Victor is telling Walton (who is retelling his story to his sister) about his past from the vantage point of the future, how reliable is he as a narrator?

• COMPOSITION -

Compare/Contrast
Karen Swallow Prior observes that "The clash between ancient and modern science is part of a larger discussion during this period of modernity. How are these two schools contrasted and set against one another? How is the modern elevated above the ancient? Do we still see this kind of debate today? How so?"

p.23-29

p.23-24 "Fairyland"

- Why do you think the child whispers the secret to the mother instead of telling everyone?
- In what ways can imagination transform ordinary places into something wondrous and special?

p.28-29 "Paper Boats"

- What is inside the boat during the poem?
- What do you think the child imagines will happen to the paper boats on their journey?
- Why do you think the child hopes that "someone in some strange land" will find the boats?

Read the other poems one time, discuss, and then reread the poems.

WEEK 4 30m General Lit.: Grades 9-10 - Lesson 8

Materials: Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass OR Up From Slavery

→ RECAP (OPTION 1: NARRATIVE OF THE LIFE OF FREDERICK DOUGLASS)

What do you recall from last week's reading?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.19-26 "But alas!" - "learning how to write."

- How did Douglass's experiences with the Aulds set him "on the pathway from slavery to freedom"? Why did Mr. Auld forbid his wife to teach Douglass to read, and what did Douglass learn from this about literacy?

Term 1

- How does Douglass teach himself to read and write? What obstacles does he face, and what does he learn about his own situation from what he reads?

→ RECAP (OPTION 2: UP FROM SLAVERY)

What do you remember from last week's reading?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.4-6 p.34-50 "Three weeks before" - "features of the institution."

- Why does he believe education should include both academic learning and practical skills? How does Washington begin helping other members of his community?
- What opportunities and challenges arose for formerly enslaved people during the Reconstruction period? What aspects is Washington most critical of?
- What does Washington learn from his experience working with Native Americans?

p.38-40 "The Shrinking Lonesome Sestina" and "Nani"

∞ Article Link: Sestina by Elizabeth Bishop

- If you drew an illustration for each of these three poems, what would it be? Why?
- How do you imagine the speakers in "The Shrinking Lonesome Sestina" and "Nani"? Who are they?
- How do you think the title and shape (literal shape and length of lines) relate to the words of the poem in "The Shrinking Lonesome Sestina"?

• COMPOSITION

Start writing your own sestina. Refer to your At-a-Glance guide and the sestinas you have read as needed. Because sestinas are fairly long and the form is complicated, you may not be able to finish your poem during the allotted time. Try to write at least two stanzas during the lesson and finish the poem on your own time if you like.

You'll notice that not all of the Pantoums follow the "rules," especially the rules for the rhyme scheme.

- How would you describe the effect of this form?
- Why do you think the poets chose to break the "rules"?
- Do you hear the "mesmerizing chain of echoes" in these poems?

WEEK 4 30m Plays: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 4

Materials: The Tempest

→ RECAP

What is the setting (background story and situation) of The Tempest?

→ INTRO

The setting of The Tempest is unique. The play takes place on a remote island (meaning no one lives there) with the exception of Caliban and Ariel.

Term 1

This island is in the Mediterranean Sea. However, there are two important Italian Kingdoms mentioned – Naples and Milan. Prospero and Miranda, as well as the characters who crashed on the island, are from these kingdoms. Let's review the map and the character list. Consider sketching a map in your notebook.

Percy Bysshe Shelley

Materials: History of Lit PDF

→ RECAP

What do you recall about Sir Walter Scott from last week?

→ INTRO

Today, we are turning our attention to the first of two second-generation Romantic poets: Percy Bysshe Shelley, the husband of Mary Shelley (the author of Frankenstein). If you are also taking the Poetry course, you will read some of his poetry this week. However, today you will also read an excerpt from his Defence of Poetry, a philosophical essay on the nature and function of poets and poetry.

Do you recall any details about Shelley from the overview of the Romantic Period you read in Week 1?

Percy Bysshe Shelley

→ INTRO

Today, we are turning our attention to the first of two second-generation Romantic poets we will read this term: Percy Bysshe Shelley. While he was inspired by the work and thought of Wordsworth and Coleridge, he has a style all his own. Look for some of the themes you've been learning about from the Romantic Period.

Introducing Sonnets

Materials: The Making of a Poem, your reference guide

→ INTRO

For the rest of the term and into next, we'll be focusing on sonnets and some particularly famous sonneteers such as Petrarch, Shakespeare, John Donne, George Herbert, and others.

→ CREATE

Spend 5-10 minutes creating an "at-a-glance" for a Pantoum for a reference guide.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

NOTE: In #3 on p.55, the authors have conflated (combined) a third sonnet form with the Petrarchan. Don't worry about the details, but you'll want to ignore #3 in your book and focus on the two most common rhyme schemes listed below.

- Petrarchan: octave rhyming abba abba, followed by a set usually rhyming cdcdcd or cdecde.
- Shakespearean sonnet: rhyme scheme abab cdcd efef gg

- What news is contained in Elizabeth's letter? How does the story of Justine parallel other stories we have heard so far?

WEEK 6 15m Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 12

John Keats

→ INTRO

Today, we will meet the second of the second-generation Romantic poets: John Keats. As we did with Shelley, look for some of the themes you've been learning about from the Romantic Period. There is only one poem to read today, because your understanding and appreciation of it will increase with multiple readings. Read it through more than once on your own, and if you would like some interpretive help, there is a link to a guide to the poem.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

This poem, Ode on a Grecian Urn, is a famous example of ekphrasis, which means the poetic description of a work of art. As you read, think about how the poetry engages with other arts, such as sculpture and music. What does it have to say about the limits of any one art form, or, put more bluntly, what can poetry do that sculpture can't, and vice versa?

∞ Link: Ode on a Grecian Urn

- The final enigmatic two lines have been an interpretive puzzle since Keats wrote this poem. What do you think he means by "Beauty is truth, truth beauty,—that is all / Ye know on earth, and all ye need to know." And why are they in quotation marks? Because the manuscript is unclear, sometimes the closing quotation mark is placed after "truth beauty." How might that change the meaning?

It is helpful to have an image of what Keats is describing when reading the poem.

Instead of an octave of eight lines and a set of six like the Petrarchan sonnet, Shakespearean sonnets have three quatrains (four lines each) and then a final rhyming couplet. You can see the rhyme scheme on p.55. Notice that each of the quatrains starts a new set of rhyming lines.

Pick a few new sonnets to enjoy today, and then spend several minutes observing one or two more closely (particularly their structure and rhymes).

WEEK 7 30m Plays: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 7

Materials: The Tempest

→ RECAP

Describe Trinculo's account of his meeting Caliban.

→ INTRO

Act 3, Scene 2 highlights a lot of the conflict in The Tempest. Pay attention to how Caliban and Ariel both use deception for different purposes.

→ READ & NARRATE

Act 3 Scene 1-2 p.91-109 "There be some" - "I'll follow, Stephano."

→ DISCUSS

Pretend you are an investigative reporter covering Caliban's plot to overthrow Prospero in Act 3, Scene 2. Look back at the scene and see what evidence you can find to explain the conspiracy to the public. Use these questions to guide you:

1. What is Caliban's plan?
2. Why does Caliban want Stephano to rule the island?
3. How does Ariel disrupt the plan and cause confusion?
4. Is Stephano a strong leader? Does he do anything to suggest he isn't?

• EXTRA HELPING

Have students watch a portion of Act 3, Scene 2.

• COMPOSITION - News Report

Build on the discussion from the lesson and create a news report. If you are doing these lessons alone, write up your findings as a news article. If you can pull in some family members or classmates, work together to plan out and present either a live broadcast (have a host interview several news reporters on the island) or even an interview show (have a host interview the characters of Caliban, Stephano, Trinculo, and Ariel in a heated discussion).

John Donne's Holy Sonnets

Materials: The Making of a Poem

→ INTRO

John Donne lived during Shakespeare's time and took the sonnet form in a new direction as he built upon the tradition of both Petrarch and (what was coming to be known as) the Shakespearean sonnet. He was a poet and a priest, and instead of the flowing (and sometimes tearful) love poetry of Petrarch or Shakespeare, some of Donne's best-known sonnets are addressed to God rather than to a woman and contain unexpected rhythms and images. Term 1

- Look at the "formal features" of the poem. What is the rhyme scheme, meter, or structure (Shakespearean or Petrarchan)?
- Why might someone argue the sonnet is Shakespearean in structure? What is the evidence for a Petrarchan structure?
- What kinds of images or comparisons does Donne use in the poem? What do you think of them?
- Notice how Donne breaks the normal flow of a sonnet's iambic pentameter rhythm in the first four lines. Can you hear the "knocking" that Donne creates with the sounds of the words themselves in the lines "knock, breath, shine," and "break, blowe, burn"? Master poets often break the "rules" of a poetic form to add to their poem's effect and meaning. Whenever something is "wrong" in a poem or a book by a skilled writer, it is an invitation to ponder why, most likely, the rule was broken to show the sense of the words visually or acoustically.

Serious Sonnets?

Materials: The Making of a Poem

→ INTRO

Are you tired of sonnets? Sonnets are dense "little songs," packed with word-pictures that require us to pause and ponder. As you've seen, they are often written in praise of something or someone and can focus on weighty topics like aging, death, and love for God. And they've been around for hundreds of years now, so sometimes the words themselves are hard to understand! Maybe sonnets are your new favorite type of poem. But if they're not, hopefully you're gaining a little more appreciation for how complex they are and how much thought and talent went into each of them! Today, take a break from some of the harder, older sonnets we've been reading and enjoy more recent ones (some with lighter topics, too!).

→ DISCUSS

Sonnets are "little songs" and often love poems or poems in praise of a person, God, or something else. And they often present some sort of struggle or problem, and the resolution (remember the "volta" or turn?). If you were going to write a sonnet, what would it be about?

★ STUDENT/TEACHER NOTE

Notes/answers for lesson 20

The rhyming couplet at the end of the sonnet aligns with a typical Shakespearean structure, but the overall rhyme scheme and the shift in thought in the final six lines (notice how the sestet begins a new sentence and starts with the contrasting conjunction, "Yet.") align with a Petrarchan structure.

WEEK 11 15m Poetry Study: Grade 9 - Lesson 22

Writing a Sonnet

Materials: your reference guide

→ WRITE

Begin writing your own sonnet. Keep your reference guide on hand. Here are a few tips to get started:

1. Choose a topic. Perhaps something from a book or something you've experienced. Funny or serious.
2. After you've chosen your topic, think of some different ways to describe it. You might write down "[your topic] is like ____" and try to fill in the blank to get your creative juices flowing.
3. Read and then write a few lines of iambic pentameter to get the rhythm in your head (you can write gibberish - the point is just to get the flow in your mind).
4. Now start putting it all together and write your sonnet. You may want to write a full 14 lines and then go back and change some of the words to get the meter right, adjust a metaphor, etc.

★ STUDENT NOTE

You may choose to continue working on their sonnet during composition time this week or just spend the lesson time working on it. The goal is not to have a finished "product" but to engage the sonnet form experientially and seek to communicate your own ideas through it.

WEEK 1 30m History of Lit: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 13

Ralph Waldo Emerson

Materials: History of Lit PDF

→ INTRO

For the next few weeks, we will meet a selection of American writers and poets who were active in the mid-to-late nineteenth century, around the years 1840-1876. As an introduction, Long has a helpful overview of the characteristics of the literature written during this period.

∞ Link: History of Lit PDF p.14-15 "We have noted the significant fact" - "consider an age of poetry."

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

1. ∞ Article Link: Biography of Ralph Waldo Emerson

- Do you recognize some of the names of writers who influenced Emerson and who admired him in turn?

2. Spend some time exploring poems written by Emerson, or read excerpts from his famous essay "Self-Reliance" (you probably won't have time to read the whole thing during this lesson time, but you could come back to it later).

∞ Link: Poems by Emerson

∞ Link: History of Lit PDF p.16-22

- What does non-conformity mean to Emerson? How does he describe it?
- What does Emerson mean by "Trust thyself: every heart vibrates to that iron string"?
- How would you describe Emerson's language and imagery in "Self-Reliance"? What does it remind you of?

Lightning Dreamer

Materials: Lightning Dreamer

→ RECAP

What injustice does Tula experience in the last reading?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.73-90

- Has your impression of Tula's mother changed at all throughout the story?
- Do Manuel's actions change your perception of him? How has he supported Tula throughout the story?

• COMPOSITION -

Compare/Contrast

Compare the concerns of Tula, Manuel, Caridad, Mama, and the Nuns in p.73-83.

Are they justified or not, given the time and setting?

★ TEACHER NOTE

The tertulias brought people together in quiet defiance. They were often political rebellion disguised as parties; a way of sharing counterculture ideas in places where fascist regimes had made it dangerous, even illegal, to gather.

WEEK 1 30m General Lit.: Grades 9-10 - Lesson 26

Silas Marner

Materials: Silas Marner

→ INTRO

The modernist writer Virginia Woolf once praised George Eliot's Middlemarch as "one of the few English novels written for grown-up people," and this suggestion of sophistication, psychological depth, and a moral imagination could equally apply to the next novel you will read in this course, Silas Marner. George Eliot, the pen name for Mary Ann Evans, described the novel to her publisher as "a sort of legendary tale" to which she decided to give "a more realistic treatment." As you read, look for how these strands of fairy tale or legend interweave with a realistic depiction of nineteenth-century English village life.

→ READ & NARRATE

p.5-13 "In the days when" - "been nowhere else."

- How would you describe the setting of Raveloe?
- What are your first impressions of Silas Marner? How does your first impression of him change as you read about his life fifteen years earlier in Lantern Hill?

WEEK 1 15m Poetry Study: Grade 9 - Lesson 25

Introducing Ballads

Materials: The Making of a Poem

→ INTRO

Storytelling is common in every culture, and before the invention of the printing press, songs, stories, and fables were passed on orally from culture to culture and through the generations. As they traveled, storytellers developed their versions of the tale, adding or adjusting the narrative, the tune, or the verses of the song. The ballad is one form of storytelling with a long tradition, and it became a particular poetic form in English.

WEEK 1 30m Plays: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 13

Materials: Henry IV Part 2

→ INTRO

Henry IV Part 2 is a tale about Prince Hal falling into his father's footsteps as king. Hal's life will no longer be the same when he feels the weight of the crown. Henry IV Part 2 is actually the third play in a tetralogy. The Henriad is all about Henry becoming the warrior king. Let's take time to review the first 6 slides on the Henriad plays to better understand the play.

Another Transcendentalist writer who was strongly influenced by Emerson was Henry David Thoreau. As you read today, see if you recognize similar themes and concepts from what you read last week.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

1. ∞ Article Link: Biography of Henry David Thoreau

2. "Solitude" from Walden

You will be working on making an outline of Thoreau's essay today and in Composition. As you read, list the main ideas/phrases or summarize sections.

∞ Link: History of Lit PDF p.23-30

- How does Thoreau differentiate between being alone and loneliness? Why, according to him, can people be lonely even when they are with others?
- What does this reading tell us about how Thoreau relates to nature?
- Which aspects of Thoreau's views on solitude are most relevant today? Do you think that modern society still values solitude? What has perhaps made it harder to be alone in the way Thoreau describes?

Term 2

WEEK 2 15m Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 27

Lightning Dreamer

Materials: Lightning Dreamer

→ RECAP

What risks were Tula and Manuel taking in the last reading?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.90-109

- How does Tula learn to hide her messages?
- What are some of the acts of defiance and courage in the book so far, and what are their consequences?
- Why does Mama imagine their lives will be peaceful and prosperous once Tula is married? Do you think she's right?

Silas Marner

Materials: Silas Marner

→ RECAP

What are your first impressions of the novel and Eliot's writing style based on what you read last week?

→ READ & NARRATE

p.13-20 "The search was made" - "Old Master Marner."

Term 2

- How would you describe the religious community Silas is a part of in Raveloe?
- What details does Eliot include to emphasize the injustice of what happens to Silas? How does he respond to what happens to him?
- What has his life been like in the fifteen years since he arrived in Raveloe?

WEEK 2 15m Poetry Study: Grade 9 - Lesson 27 Historical Ballads

→ LISTEN & DISCUSS

Listen to a few more ballads. Although not all folk songs are ballads, older ballads almost always are folk songs (newer ballads were often composed as poems rather than songs). Listen to 3-4.

Materials: The Making of a Poem, your reference guide

→ REFLECT

Orally or in writing, reflect for about 10 minutes on the ballads from the last two lessons (you may want to reread or rewatch a few). What are the similarities and differences you notice? If you were an alien who knew nothing about the world and all you had were these ballads, what would you think about our world? Describe it to a fellow alien.

→ CREATE

Add a "Ballad-at-a-Glance" section to your reference guide. Refer to p.73.

WEEK 2 30m Plays: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 14

Materials: Henry IV Part 2

Materials: History of Lit PDF

→ RECAP

What stood out most to you reading about Thoreau last week?

Term 2

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Today, we will read another chapter from Thoreau's Walden. Read as much of it as you can in 20 minutes - if interested, you can always finish it another time. As you read, think about the care Thoreau takes with observation and attention to the natural world around you. How does it compare to other nature studies you have read in the past?

∞ Link: History of Lit PDF p.31-40

"Spring" from Walden

- What aspects of nature become symbolic to Thoreau? What do they represent to him?
- What message about life and renewal do you think Thoreau most wants readers to take from "Spring"?

Walt Whitman, cont.

→ RECAP

Which Whitman poem from last class do you remember the best?

→ INTRO

Have you come across the term "elegy" in your study of poetry so far? An elegy is a melancholy, reflective lyric poem written to commemorate the death of a person or any other type of loss. Typically, these poems contain lament, praise, and then often turn to consolation. "When Lilacs Last in the Dooryard Bloom'd" is an elegy written by Whitman after the death of Abraham Lincoln. After Lincoln's assassination, his body travelled the 1600 miles from Washington, DC to Illinois.

The Victorian Period

Materials: History of Lit PDF

→ INTRO

The close of the Romantic Period is commonly marked by the death of Sir Walter Scott in 1832, and the remainder of the nineteenth century in British Literature is referred to as the Victorian Period, named for Queen Victoria, who reigned from 1837-1901. Literature written during this period often focused on social issues, the changes wrought by the Industrial Revolution, the effects of discoveries in science, and a concern for morality. This was also the period that saw the rise in popularity of the novel.

The Aeneid - Introduction

Materials: The Aeneid

→ INTRO

What do you know about an "epic" – what are the connotations of the word more broadly, and what do you know about epics in literature? Name any you have read and what you remember about epic conventions.

Virgil's Aeneid is an epic that owes much to Homer's two books, The Iliad and The Odyssey, which you may have already read in part or as a retelling. Chronologically, the story of The Aeneid picks up where the Iliad left off - with the fall of Troy - but Virgil lived 700-800 years after Homer, in Rome rather than Greece, and in a very different world. During Virgil's lifetime, the Roman Republic was coming to an - at times violent - end, and amid this uncertainty, Virgil looked backwards and chose the beginning of Rome as his epic subject: following the Trojan Aeneas from the destruction of Troy to the founding of a new city.

C.S. Lewis, in his Preface to Paradise Lost, saw epics like the Iliad, The Odyssey, and Beowulf as "Primary Epics": they are works written down after a long tradition of oral storytelling, and they tell the story of heroic deeds in order that such deeds may be remembered. They are myth-making stories, far more concerned with the life of one hero - Achilles, Odysseus, Beowulf - than with the wider historical context.

However, Lewis argues that something new happens with Virgil, and the Aeneid is the earliest example of a "Secondary Epic": "one of the most important revolutions in the history of poetry." In The Aeneid, Lewis writes, Virgil "decides to take one single national legend and treat it in such a way that we feel the vaster theme to be somehow implicit in it. He has to tell a comparatively short story and give us the illusion of having lived through a great space of time. He has to deal with a limited number of personages and make us feel as if national, or almost cosmic, issues are involved. He must locate his action in a legendary past and yet make us feel the present, and the intervening centuries, already foreshadowed."

In an 1890 edition of The Parents' Review, Charlotte Mason wrote: "The happy phrase of Mr. Matthew Arnold—which we have appropriated as the motto of the Parents' Review—is, perhaps, the most complete and adequate definition of education we possess. It is a great thing to have said, 'Education is an atmosphere, a discipline, a life.'" Now, no one, including Mason herself, has been able to track down exactly where Arnold said this, but his influence on Mason's educational philosophy can be found throughout her writings. Alfred Lord Tennyson

→ INTRO

William Long writes of Tennyson: "Though the Victorian age is notable for the quality and variety of its prose works, its dominant figure for years was the poet Tennyson. He alone, of all that brilliant group of Victorian writers, seemed to speak not for himself but for his age and nation; and the nation, grown weary of Byronic rebellion, and finding its joy or sorrow expressed with almost faultless taste by one whose life was noble, gave to Tennyson a whole-souled allegiance such as few poets have ever won." And he goes on, "There is a wide variety in Tennyson's work: legend, romance, battle song, nature, classic and medieval heroes, problems of society, questions of science, the answer of faith,— almost everything that could interest an alert Victorian mind found some expression in his poetry." Today, you will learn more about his life and work, and will read his well-known poem Ulysses, if you are taking the Poetry Reading course.

Mark Twain

Materials: History of Lit PDF

→ INTRO

You may have already come across Mark Twain and his influence in other literature courses this year. The twentieth-century novelist Ernest Hemingway claimed that "All modern American literature comes from one book by Mark Twain called Huckleberry Finn." What do you already know about Mark Twain, and what have you read?

Today, we will learn more about Twain through his life, his influence worldwide, and through reading a short story.

"The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County" by Mark Twain

Materials: Short Stories and Folk Tales PDF

→ INTRO

We've included audio versions of these stories as an alternative to reading the written stories. Short stories can be especially fun to hear aloud with a talented narrator, though it will take longer than reading the story.

Mark Twain (1835–1910) is the pen name of Samuel Clemens, one of America's most celebrated writers, who was known for his sharp wit. His most famous works include The Adventures of Tom Sawyer and Adventures of Huckleberry Finn. Published in 1865, "The Celebrated Jumping Frog" was the story that made Twain a household name. The

The Aeneid, cont.

□ Materials: The Aeneid

→ RECAP

What do you recall from the last reading?

→ INTRO

Book 3 begins with Aeneas and his companions escaping from the destruction of Troy and beginning their arduous journey westward to Italy. They encounter several challenges and false starts along the way. Eventually, Aeneas hears that the Trojan Helenus, who has married Hector's widow Andromache, has settled in Buthrotum, and that is where our reading for today resumes.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Book 3, lines 350-592 "Here an incredible story" - "challenge all our children."

- Helenus, son of Priam and a seer, and Andromache are both characters from the Iliad. Why is it significant that Aeneas meets them at this point, and what prophecy does Helenus offer Aeneas?
- How is Buthrotum described? Is it familiar to Aeneas? Why does he choose to move on rather than stay and settle in a "miniature Troy"?
- In this section, does Aeneas seem more like a warrior, a leader, or a pilgrim guided by fate?

Jump Back, Paul

Materials: Jump Back, Paul

→ INTRO

Paul Lawrence Dunbar was one of the first Black Americans to earn a living as a writer, and he inspired many other literary giants who would come after him. In fact, "I know why the caged bird sings" (one of the most iconic lines in African American literature and the title of Maya Angelou's autobiography) comes from one of Dunbar's poems. He was the only Black student in his high school and became friends with Orville Wright and his brother Wilbur (who you may remember as the inventors of the airplane). The Wright brothers owned a printing press and published Dunbar's first writings. While Dunbar only lived to age 33, he has been described as "your favorite poet's favorite poet" due to the impact his large body of work had on future writers. Older students may want to read more about Dunbar in extra helpings.

"The Gift of the Magi" by O. Henry

Materials: Short Stories and Folk Tales PDF

→ INTRO

O. Henry was the pen name of William Sydney Porter (1862–1910), an American writer famous for his short stories about ordinary people — especially the working poor of New York City. His warm, ironic style made him one of the most popular writers of his era. Published in 1905, "The Gift of the Magi" is perhaps his most beloved story. Here Follow Some Verses

Materials: The Making of a Poem

→ RECAP

Describe an elegy.

→ INTRO

Anne Bradstreet is a famous American poet. She was a master of meter and form. We're spending today on a poem she wrote after her house burned down. Be sure to read the poem aloud.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.178-180 "Here Follows Some Verses"

- Discuss this poem using naturalist Jack Laws' questions: What do you notice about this poem (including formal features)? What does it make you wonder? What does it remind you of? Look up words you don't know. Underline lines that stick out to you. Write questions or reactions.

"The Gold Bug" by Edgar Allan Poe

Materials: Short Stories and Folk Tales PDF

→ INTRO

Edgar Allan Poe (1809–1849) is one of America's most distinctive and influential writers. Poe is known for dark, atmospheric tales of mystery and the macabre. Surprisingly, he also pioneered the detective story! Poe had a fascination with puzzles, codes, and the power of careful reasoning. Published in 1843, "The Gold Bug" is a mystery with a secret message written in code, and cracking it requires sharp eyes and sharp thinking. As you read, pay close attention when the cipher appears and to how the code is broken. If you'd like, see if you can work through it yourself!

Wilkie Collins, the Detective Story, and Sensation Fiction

Materials: History of Lit PDF

→ INTRO

In his biographical sketch of Wilkie Collins (1824-1889), James Sherwood describes him as "a novelist, playwright, and short story writer and the father of the modern English detective novel. Dorothy L. Sayers credited his masterpiece The Moonstone as 'probably the very finest detective story ever written'. Though he wrote thirty novels and more than sixty short stories, The Moonstone and The Woman in White have emerged as giants in the Sensational genre characterized by sinister Italian counts, haunted mansions, abductions, insanity, and mistaken identity."

In this scene, we will encounter a puzzling stage direction: "He exits, pursued by a bear." One question that interpreters ask is, Did they use a real bear? At the time, chained-up bears were used as live entertainment. Many have speculated whether or not the Bard would have used an actual bear in a live performance. Since using live bears raises many safety and ethical concerns, artists have since found fun ways to enact this scene. If

"The Tale of the Golden Cockrel" by Pushkin

Materials: Short Stories and Folk Tales PDF

→ INTRO

Alexander Pushkin (1799–1837) is Russia's most celebrated and beloved writer, widely considered the father of modern Russian literature. His poetry, novels, and stories established the literary tradition that nearly every Russian writer after him would build upon. Written in 1834, "The Tale of the Golden Cockrel" is one of his narrative poems written in the style of a Russian folktale. The story reads like a fairy tale but carries the sharp edge of a fable. E. Pauline Johnson

→ INTRO

Emily Pauline Johnson was born to a Mohawk chief and an English mother, and grew up on the Six Nations Reserve in Ontario. She was educated at home, where she was immersed in both English literary traditions and Mohawk oral storytelling and developed a love for poetry. At a time when Indigenous peoples regularly faced discrimination, she was raised to value her dual heritage. She turned to writing and performing after her father's death to help support her family, traveling across Canada for 17 years. The first half of each of her shows was performed in Indigenous dress and the second half in an English gown, embodying the two cultures that made her who she was. She published her work under both "E. Pauline Johnson" and her Mohawk name, "Tekahionwake."

WEEK 11 15m Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 69

Jump Back, Paul

Materials: Jump Back, Paul

→ RECAP

What do you recall from the last reading?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.91-100 "Now, like I said" - "he'll find you right at home."

- Reflect on what you read about Paul Laurence Dunbar this term. How would you describe his legacy?
- Pause when you come to each poem and read it more than once. Reading them out loud is also a great way to get a feel for the language and cadence. Continue to look for patterns in the meter and rhyme scheme. What other formal patterns can you find?

→ VIEW

Take a brief tour of Paul Dunbar's home in Dayton and read about the historic site.

WEEK 11 30m General Lit.: Grades 9-10 - Lesson 69

"The Adventure of the Speckled Band" by Arthur Conan Doyle

Materials: Short Stories and Folk Tales PDF

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Read (Or Listen): p.86-95 "The Adventure of the Speckled Band" by Arthur Conan Doyle

∞ Link: Short Stories and Folk Tales PDF

- Holmes notices what others ignore. Is that a matter of intelligence, training, habit, or something else entirely?
- Arthur Conan Doyle considered this the best of all his Sherlock Holmes stories. (You can read his top 12 at the link below.) What do you think makes it so enduring? How does it compare to Poe's "The Gold-Bug" (written almost 50 years prior) as a piece of detective fiction?

WEEK 11 15m Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 70

The Aeneid, cont.

Materials: The Aeneid

→ RECAP

What do you recall from what you read in the Aeneid last time?

→ INTRO

In Book 11 and at the beginning of Book 12, the two armies pause to bury their dead before the fighting continues. Our final reading from The

Term 3

Aeneid picks up at the final duel between Aeneas and Turnus.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

1. Book 12, lines 916-1113 "Now at the same moment" - "down to the shades below."

- What role do the gods play in this final confrontation?
- Why does Aeneas hesitate? What makes him change his mind?
- What do you think of how the epic ends? Why do you think Virgil decided to end the story with the moment of Turnus's death, rather than with peace and the establishment of Rome?

WEEK 11 30m General Lit.: Grades 9-10 - Lesson 70

Silas Marner

Materials: Silas Marner

→ RECAP

What do you recall from your reading last week?

→ READ & NARRATE

p.174-183 "Nancy and Godfrey" - "happier than we are."

- How has Lantern Hill changed in the intervening years? How have time, distance, and age altered Silas's memory of his former home?
- Why might George Eliot choose not to give Silas complete answers about William Dane's betrayal?
- What do you think of the ending of the novel? What message do you think Eliot wants us to take away from her work?

WEEK 11 15m Poetry Study: Grade 9 - Lesson 69

Materials: Activity from Lesson 68

→ PREP

Make sure you have your list of words and list of sentences on hand!

→ SHARE

Give a friend, classmate, family member, or teacher the list of forms you have studied over the year (skip this step if you want to make this activity harder!). Then give them your list of words from the last lesson and see if they can guess which words describe which forms. If they struggle, share your one-sentence description of each of the forms and see how they do. Then explain why you chose the words and descriptions you did.

★ CLASSROOM TIP

If using these lessons in a classroom setting, students could complete the assignment with each other or as homework with a parent. Regardless, be sure to leave room for students to share and discuss their descriptions and words with each other as students will likely have different ways of describing the various poetic forms, even though themes and some similarities should also emerge.

WEEK 11 15m Poetry Study: Grade 9 - Lesson 70

Materials: The Making of a Poem

→ REVISE

Look back over the poems you wrote this year. Pick one and revise it. Now that you have had some time to read other things and let your poem rest, you may find you'd like to change words, fix the meter, etc.

→ SHARE

Of the poems you have read this year, read your favorite ones to a friend or family member. Tell why it is a favorite. As a bonus, read one of the poems YOU wrote this year!

WEEK 11 30m Plays: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 35

Materials: The Winter's Tale

→ INTRO

Before reading the famous scene on Hermione's Statue, let's read an article on the scene and note the lines they cite. While reading, we should feel a sense of magic and enchantment in this scene.

∞ Article Link: Hermione's Statue

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Act 5 Scenes 2-3 p.213-235 "Beseech you, sir," - "Hastily lead away."

- How does the final scene tie together the themes of reconciliation and renewal? What characters experienced renewal?

• EXTRA HELPING

Have students play the review game The Winter's Tale: Path to Reconciliation.

Watch a clip of Aslan's breath.

C.S. Lewis was an English professor and was very familiar with Shakespeare's works. There is an intriguing parallel between The Winter's Tale and The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe. Watch the scene, Aslan's breath, and see if the students can spot the parallel. Consider, too, how the breath of God is used in Scripture to create life (Gen. 2:7), resurrect the dead (Ezek. 37:9-10), and to impart the Holy Spirit (John 20:22).

Literature: Grade 9

Examination

Term 1

General Lit.: Grades 9-10

· Frankenstein: How are the feelings Walton describes having toward Frankenstein—such as sympathy, compassion, admiration, and pity—significant to other relationships in the novel? OR Discuss the role nature plays in the novel so far, and how it is connected to various characters' internal states.

· Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass: Explain why reading and literacy were such an important first step in Douglass's path from slavery to freedom. OR Describe some of the ways Douglass's Narrative is such a powerful argument against slavery.

Up from Slavery & The Souls of Black Folk: Describe Washington's and Du Bois's differing views on the purpose of education. OR Tell all you know about Washington's early life and how it impacted his future leadership at the Tuskegee school.

History of Lit: Grades 9-12

· Discuss some of the defining authors and characteristics of the literature written in the first half of the 1800s that we've studied so far. Organize your thoughts into at least two paragraphs.

Plays: Grades 9-12

- The Tempest: Choose one question and give as much detail as possible:
 - What lesson does Prospero learn by the end of the play, and how does it change his actions?
 - Is Caliban justified in his anger toward Prospero? What might motivate Caliban to plot against Prospero?
 - How does Prospero use magic to control the events on the island? Do you think he is fair in his use of magic? Why or why not?

Poetry Study: Grade 9

- Scan or turn in one of your "at-a-glance" pages in your reference guide.
- The Making of a Poem: Write a few lines about a poem you read this term. Include the name and form of the poem in your description.

Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12

- Describe the themes and style of the Romantic poets. Either make reference to and compare several of the poets you read this term, or do a deeper reflection on one individual poet.
- Reflect on your reading of Rabindranath Tagore this term. What are some of the major themes in The Crescent Moon? How would you describe his poetry style? Can you compare his work to other poetry you read this term?

Term 2

General Lit.: Grades 9-10

· Frankenstein: One of the components in the classical definition of tragedy is that a great hero is brought down by a fatal flaw in his character. If we read the novel as the tragedy of Victor Frankenstein, what is his fatal flaw? Or would you read it as a tragedy of another character instead?

OR

Frankenstein: From Karen Swallow Prior: How do the lines spoken by the creature to Victor upon their first meeting encapsulate the entire novel? "Remember, that I am thy creature: I ought to be thy Adam; but I am rather the fallen angel, whom thou drivest from joy for no misdeed. Everywhere I see bliss, from which I alone am irrevocably excluded. I was benevolent and good; misery made me a fiend. Make me happy, and I shall again be virtuous."

· Silas Marner: What does the gold symbolize to Marner in the beginning of the story, and how does its loss begin to change him? OR By placing characters into situations requiring moral actions, how does Eliot shape the ethical imagination of her readers?

History of Lit: Grades 9-12

· Discuss some of the defining authors and characteristics of the literature written in the mid-1800s that we've studied in Term 2. Organize your thoughts into at least two paragraphs.

Plays: Grades 9-12

- Henry IV, Part 2: Choose one question and give as much detail as possible:
 - What struggles does King Henry IV face in this play, and how do they affect his rule?
 - Do you think Prince Hal was ready to be King? Why or why not?
 - How does Prince Hal's relationship with Falstaff change by the end of the play? Why does he make this decision?

Poetry Study: Grade 9

- Scan or turn in one of your "at-a-glance" pages in your reference guide.
- The Making of a Poem: Briefly explain the history of one of the poetic forms you studied this term (Sonnet, Ballad, etc.)

Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12

- George Herbert Palmer wrote that "we get used to things and how dull things then become! . . . The genuine poet never grows used to anything." Support or refute this statement with reference to some of the poetry you have read this term.
- Tell or write what you know about Gertrudis Gómez de Avellaneda and describe one of her poems OR Describe your favorite scene so far from the Aeneid.

Term 3

General Lit.: Grades 9-10

- Short Stories and Folk Tales: Choose one story from this term that ends with a "twist" and explain how its ending works. What does it reveal? Why is it effective? What do you think the author most wanted you to take away? OR Poe's Legrand and Doyle's Sherlock Holmes both solve mysteries through observation and logic, but they are very different kinds of characters. Compare and contrast the two. Which one did you find more compelling and why?
- Silas Marner: Do you think that Silas Marner is more of a fairy tale or a realistic novel? Give some specific examples from the novel that support your argument. OR Provide a detailed character sketch of one of the characters from the novel. What are they like? How do they change in response to what happens to them?

History of Lit: Grades 9-12

- Describe some of the genres you've studied this term and tell about one particular piece or author you read about with more detail.

Plays: Grades 9-12

- The Winter's Tale: Choose one question and give as much detail as possible:
 - Why does King Leontes wrongly accuse his wife, Hermione, and what are the consequences of his actions?
 - Is King Leontes a good man? Why or why not?
 - How does the story shift from tragedy to comedy? What events make this possible?

Poetry Study: Grade 9

- The Making of a Poem: Scan or turn in your list of descriptions and words from lesson 68.
- The Making of a Poem: Write a few lines about a poem you read this term. Include the name and form of the poem in your description.

Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12

- Describe what you remember about Paul Laurence Dunbar's life and how it influenced the style and subject matter of his poems.
- Describe the role of the gods and fate in some of the episodes of The Aeneid OR Compare Aeneas to some other epic heroes you have read.
