About the Course

This course includes the following topic(s): Canadian History: Grades 9-10, World History: Grade 9, Ancient History: Grades 7-9

About Canadian History: Grades 9-10

Read about Canadian history from 1800-1900 through books that immerse students in the time period and allow them to see the world through the eyes of those who lived it. Through engaging narratives, biographies, history spines, primary source documents, oral histories, historical fiction, and books that show different perspectives, students come to see history as more than dates and events and develop relationships with people from the past. Viewing images, looking at maps, and working on one's Book of Centuries are also part of developing this relationship.

About Ancient History: Grades 7-9

Read about ancient history from 100 BC-350 AD through biographies, primary source documents, and history spines. Students will view images, reference maps, and update their Book of Centuries as part of the lessons.

About World History: Grade 9

Reading about the lives of people and events from the time period in many different parts of the world gives students a sense of the growing interconnectedness of the world at this time. A Little Book for New Historians in the third term casts a vision for what it means to think Christianly and historically as a student of history. It raises important questions of complexity, nuance, perspective, empathy, and humility as students enter the HS years.

Placement & Combining Tips

World History: Grade 9

All the books are appropriate for any HS student. If a HS student is new to the Alveary, especially consider assigning the third term book, A Little Book for New Historians, no matter their grade.

How To Approach

Recap

- Take a second to recall what you read previously in the same book or topic.
- If the previous passage is difficult to remember, try looking back at any chapter/section headings or illustrations or reading the first paragraph to jog the memory.

Read

- Read the selection assigned OR read for the number of minutes allocated, leaving time for narration and mapwork. Use whichever guide (i.e., pages or minutes) works best for you. You want to read enough to be interesting, but not so much that you feel overwhelmed.
- If a book is challenging for you as a student, try stopping to narrate to yourself silently for a minute every now and then to make sure you are tracking. You might also want to read aloud to yourself. Or you might want to listen to an audiobook version of the text and read along with it.
- If a book is an easy read, enjoy the ride!
- Keep an eye out for quotes to put in your commonplace book or events or characters to put down in your Book of Centuries.

Narrate

- Process and integrate your reading by narrating either orally or in writing. Some lesson plans will give you a suggestion of how best to narrate.
- To keep yourself on track, you might want to set a timer, so you stop reading with enough time to narrate.

Connect

- After your narration, think about how what you read connects to other subjects, other books, and other things you've read, watched, or seen in the past or present.
- Share any ideas that are particularly interesting to you with your fellow classmates, teachers, parents, friends, or others. You might even want to do a bit more reading or research on something on your own time in the afternoon or evenings.

Teacher Note

These lessons are written directly to the student, but to assist them throughout the year, please read through this section and the lesson plans so you are familiar with the instructions and flow of the lessons. Accountability components are added to facilitate teacher/student discussion and growing independence.

Those educating at home might pick one or two history lessons to read aloud with their students to keep up the habit of oral narration and foster conversation and relationship, and then simply give students these lesson plans and the rest of the books and check in with them throughout the term for conversation, support, and accountability.

It is valuable for those in a classroom setting to also have a mix of lessons that students complete themselves silently and others read aloud and narrated together. Classroom settings lend themselves well to additional discussion and sharing at the end of lessons, after everyone has narrated either together or independently in writing.

Term 1

WEEK 1 30m World History: Grade 9 - Lesson 1

Materials: A Little Book for New Historians

→ INTRO

History is more than just a study of the "past." The purpose of our first term reading of the A Little Book of New Historians is to help you engage with the importance of not just knowing dates and places, but also engaging with, what Robert Tracy McKenzie calls "the flesh and blood on the other side of the evidence."

As you read through Dr. McKenzie's history book, be on the lookout for interesting quotes or ideas that stand out to you and be sure to mark whatever pages you find interesting. These are places you can return to and copy down in your notebook.

→ READ, NARRATE, & WRITE

Ch.1 p.11-18

Narrate silently to yourself. If this is a new practice for you, start by quietly talking aloud to yourself about what you just read in the chapter. In one paragraph share your previous expectations of history as a subject and what the reading has challenged or changed.

WEEK 1 40m Canadian History: Grades 9-10 - Lesson 1

WEEK 1 30m Ancient History: Grades 7-9 - Lesson 1

Meeting Sulla

Materials: A Short History of Ancient Rome, Historical Atlas of the World

→ INTRO

This year, you are learning about ancient Rome. We are not starting at the beginning with the legend of Romulus and Remus in 753 B.C. We are jumping ahead to 88 BC. The Roman Republic has become a world power. It has marched through the Greek world, razed cities like Carthage, and unseated powerful people. As Pascal Hughes says, "the march of Rome appears unstoppable."

However, what had once been a republic, which enabled certain people to vote in their leadership, was quickly becoming more of a dictatorship, which is where one person assumes absolute power. There were a number of factors that led to Sulla becoming the first dictator in the Roman Republic. He assumed power through political violence, manipulation of land and resources, and military coups. In 88 BC, the Republic found itself in danger.

Sulla's story doesn't start at the beginning of his dictatorship. As you read through Sulla's story, make sure to note any questions that come up from the reading. You can either discuss these questions with someone or write them down.

→ READ, NARRATE & DISCUSS

Ch.6 p.89-99 - end at "political violence tamed"

→ LOCATE

Map Resource: Historical Atlas of the World, p.14-15. Find Carthage, Rome, and any other cities that pop up in your reading to familiarize yourself with the world of Ancient Rome.

• STUDENT TIP

Be sure to add some people, events, and drawings of artifacts to your book of centuries. Mark potential items with a Post-it note as you read so you remember to find something when you sit down to work in your book.

• IMPORTANT DATES

Carthage is razed by Scipio

Aemilianus in 146 BC

Tiberius Gracchus is elected in 133 BC

Sulla becomes dictator in 82 BC

Sulla resigns as dictator in 80 BC and dies in 78 BC

WEEK 3 30m Ancient History: Grades 7-9 - Lesson 3

Spartacus and a Revolt

Materials: A Short History of Ancient Rome, Historical Atlas of the World

→ INTRO

Rome was built on slavery. In 73 BC, there were more than a million people enslaved in Rome's Italian lands. As Pascal Hughes says, "Some have been bought from foreign merchants, others taken by military conquest, or enslaved as a punishment for criminality. Then there are the unfortunates who were born into bondage, or who are the victims of kidnap by slavers, or who could see no other option in life than to sell themselves into servitude."

However, revolution came to Rome, and it was led by a slave named Spartacus. There are modern-day movies that praise the bravery of this man and those who rose up with him against the powers that shackled them. Spartacus' story is fraught with bravery and peril, yet it left him a legend in the history books. As you read through Spartacus' story, what sticks out to you? Make sure to note any questions that come up from the reading. You can either discuss these questions with someone or write them down.

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.7 p.110-118 - stop at "Third Servile War"

Ch.3

Narrate silently

The following quote is from this week's reading. Dr. Mckenzie writes, "I'm going to say something that may surprise you to hear a history professor say, but I also hope you'll find it freeing: by themselves, historical facts are not just mind numbing. They're meaningless. Wrench a historical fact from its context and it instantly becomes insignificant." Respond to this idea in two paragraphs. Do you agree or disagree? Why?

Introducing Caesar

📖 Materials: A Short History of Ancient Rome, Historical Atlas of the World

→ INTRO

Around the end of the 15th century, William Shakespeare wrote a tragedy titled Julius Caesar. The story of Julius Caesar captured audiences' attention then, and it remains prominent in our modern-day culture. The blood, betrayal, and scandal of the story is what has led to this story's permanence. But as you will read, there is more to this story. Julius Caesar becomes a famous leader for a number of reasons. As you read through the story retold by Pascal Hughes, consider the many reasons Julius Caesar's story might attract so much attention.

Materials: Erebus

→ INTRO

What happens when nations find themselves with war vessels, but no wars? For 1800s Britain, the answer was to send its ships on exploration missions. The Erebus was just one of the ships that made the transition from military vessel to a vessel used for research and exploration. The captains and crew of the vessel changed over the many years it spent on the seas.

In Erebus, you will read a book about a legendary ship. However, there is another benefit to Michael Palin's book which makes it a helpful read as well as an enjoyable one. Erebus does not just share the story of the ship itself, but of the world in which this ship sailed. As you read through Erebus, take note of the names being mentioned in each chapter.

I also invite you to adventure with the people on Erebus and on the HMS Terror. Pay attention to the letters and journals that are being mentioned and remember that these were real people who experienced a world very unlike our own. And yet, you'll also see a world that is very familiar too.

→ ANNOTATE

Erebus is a non-fiction book which makes it a good candidate for annotation. While you are reading through the text you may encounter an interesting point or main idea that you want to underline. You could put a question mark next to a statement you find unclear. You may place sticky notes on a page that you want to return to. Experiment with different ways to engage with the information in the book. Some students will record themselves reading or talking about the reading. Others may start a discussion with an acquaintance about the material. Try different ways and see what works and what doesn't work for you. You can discuss your findings with your teacher.

→ READ

→ NARRATE

Write or discuss the world figures and the events that you've read about in chapter one of Erebus. Who has appeared in the chapter? Why are they important? What is the historical setting of the book?

Who is going to be the most successful emperor of Rome? Pascal Hughes writes, "Ruling from AD 98 to 117, Trajan will become one of the most beloved of all the Roman emperors. A man who conquered new territories, grew the empire as far as anyone would and enriched Rome with awe-inspiring building projects. Indeed, the Senate will welcome future emperors with the wish that they be melior Traiano ('better than Trajan') - evidence that he is to be the benchmark for all who follow." 📄 Materials: A Short History of Ancient Rome, Historical Atlas of the World

→ INTRO

Pascal Hughes writes, "Almost fifty years earlier, in the African port city of Leptis Magna (in modern day Libya), a high-ranking family welcomes a new baby in 145. The child, Lucius Septimius Severus, reflects Rome's multicultural identity, his mother from an Italian background and his father with Punic, or Carthaginian, heritage. Severus can count consuls among his cousins, while his mother's line are the Fulvia, one of Rome's grand patrician families."

Lucius Septimius Severus would become an emperor of Rome and would be known for creating a military monarchy. As you read more about this emperor, make sure to note any questions that come up from the reading. You can either discuss these questions with someone or write them down.

The Christian Revolution

Materials: The Witness of Early Christian Women: Mothers of the Church

→ INTRO

How revolutionary was Christianity in the Roman Empire? Jesus' teachings challenged a lot of different ideas that had come to be accepted as truths, such as the belief that women were inferior. Mike Aquilina writes, "Males were superior (a man would say) because women were inferior. It was obvious — so obvious that it hardly needed an argument. Fire is hot, water is wet, and women are inferior to men. This unquestioned and unquestionable truth was the basis of all human society."

So what happens when one of Christianity's most prolific writers challenges this idea in his letters? Think about Galatians 3:28, which reads, "There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus." Paul's words would have registered as an attack on Rome's family values. Paul promotes the idea that women have a place in society, a place in the Bible, and a place in the early church. As you read through this book, we encourage you to take note of anything that stands out, anything you agree with, and anything you disagree with.

Meeting Women in the Early Church

Materials: The Witness of Early Christian Women: Mothers of the Church

→ INTRO

At the beginning of this chapter, Mike Aquilina writes, "Jesus of Nazareth specialized in shocking the sensibilities of the religious establishment of his day. It was easy to do, because the establishment was easily shocked. Heal a blind man on the Sabbath, and you've turned the world upside down. But there was hardly anything more shocking than the way he treated women."
