About the Course

This course includes the following topic(s): Composer Study, Hymns & Spirituals, Folk Songs, Sol-fa: Level 2, Afternoon Listening

About Hymns & Spirituals
Students sing hymns and spirituals to build their faith and appreciation of God's work across time. Hymns and spirituals are connected to the historical time period as appropriate.

About Folk Songs
Students sing folk songs connected to the time period (1800-1900).

About Composer Study
In this course students are immersed into the 19th century via it's composers, instruments, and musical performances. Term 1 focuses on several influential instruments/instrument families, including valved brass, the saxophone, and the guitar, and the musicians that made them famous. In Term 2, students will grow to know and love the Norwegian Romantic composer, Edvard Grieg. Students conclude the year in Term 3 with the comic operas of Gilbert & Sullivan and their choice between two composers who turned what they saw or heard into music: Modest Mussorgsky and Thomas ("Blind Tom") Wiggins.

About Sol-fa: Level 2
Learn the sol-fa syllables, concepts of rhythm and meter, and how to read music. Video lessons are provided with the lesson plans.

Skills Focus: Rhythm, meter, sol-fa syllables and hand signs, ear test.

Hymns & Spirituals
The Christian hymn and spiritual tradition is incredibly rich, and it is vanishing from many churches. In addition to bringing a much-needed moment of peace to your day, hymns can also introduce students to important theological ideas and church liturgy.

Folk Songs
The purpose of learning folk songs is twofold: to increase students' enjoyment of music and to situate folk music in its historical context in an effort to give students a richer understanding of the times and places that birthed the songs. A musical score is sometimes included for songs, but does not always exactly match the audio used, since folk songs are primarily oral songs and often take many different forms. Studying folk music helps students grow deep roots in our shared heritage and gives insight into historical events from the perspective of the people who were there.

Composer Study
"Music is no isolated thing. Its forms, colors, and expressive qualities do not spring from nowhere; they come out of life itself. Often, of course, they are to be enjoyed for themselves alone, in the concert hall or in one's armchair. But music also reflects human experiences, hopes, and struggles. It may give an insight into the individual and society, into the lives of those far removed from our own in time and place—an insight no other art can provide in this exact way."
~Elie Siegmeister

Placement & Combining Tips

All music lessons except sol-fa are shared between Grades 2-12, making them ideal lessons for multi-age groups.

Composer Study
These Composer Study lessons are shared across grades 2-12 with extensions provided for older students. Students in Grades 2-3 with no classical music background may choose to take

Intro to Music Appreciation first, but the composers in this rotation are particularly accessible for a wide range of ages.

Sol-fa: Level 2
Grade 3 students with no experience with sol-fa or sight-reading music may start with Level 1 or 2. Older students should start with Level 2.

Hymns & Spirituals
☐ Bookmark the Alveary hymns, spirituals, and folk song playlist for the year, or create your own YouTube, Spotify, or Amazon playlist if desired.

Composer Study
• Charlotte Mason often included more music in the program than could be covered in the lesson time. While we choose segments that fit the length of the lesson, students will develop a relationship with the term's music insofar as it is a part of their daily atmosphere.
• The YouTube playlist contains nearly the whole year's music, though lessons will occasionally have extra links to historical or musical information. This playlist is mostly used in the lessons as videos are often chosen for visual and sometimes historical interest. You will also find a spotify playlist of the term's music in Quick Links for easy afternoon listening.
• Use the year's playlist to listen to previous and current pieces in the afternoons, and explore the Extra Helpings as interested (ideas which relate directly to a lesson are usually included nearby, while more general resources and activities are listed on the Extra Helpings page). Grade 5+ extensions are also usually appropriate as Extra Helpings for interested younger students.

How To Teach

Recap

• Specific recap questions are often suggested in the day's plans; ask students what they remember from the last lesson. If nothing comes to mind at first, tell them to give themselves another minute or two and to keep thinking. Our brains are amazing and can usually recall the previous lesson with a minute of effort. Refrain from doing the work of remembering yourself if you are leading the lessons.

• For composer study, a recap might look like a brief discussion about the name or sound of the piece you listened to previously.

• For hymns and folk songs, this might be an effort to hum the melody or recite the words of the song you're currently learning.

• For sol-fa, it might be a quick explanation of the sol-fa syllable you learned or a tricky rhythm or interval you were working to master.

• If students have difficulty recalling, teachers might try showing them a picture or sharing something that the teacher remembers. This will often refresh their memory enough to allow them to recall.

• If students still cannot recall anything from the last reading, then teachers may consider continuing anyway or repeating the last lesson.

Introduce

• Prepare to listen to the day's musical selection by inviting students to consider an interesting musical or historical idea in the lesson. Perhaps it's a unique word, rhythm, instrument, or piece of historical background. You might introduce it by the way, or read a selection of a composer's bio or a brief article to students.

Listen & Sing

• Listen to the day's musical selection.

• Composer study lessons will usually have you listen to a piece of music for 3-8 minutes. If students have a difficult time listening for the duration of the lesson, stop the music at their limit.

• Some students might draw, color, or engage in a handicraft while listening to help extend their listening time. Students who have a difficult time sitting still or listening may benefit from: a fidget of their choice, such as a piece of putty or clay or an afghan; flexible positioning, such as a wobble seat or inverted sitting; or sensory modulation, such as a weighted vest or blanket or adjustment of light, temperature, or sound.

• Hymn, folk song, or sol-fa lessons will sometimes have you listen to a part of the song and then practice echoing back the melody and/or words.

Discuss

• Composer Study: Talk about the musical selection you heard. What stood out to you? What did you notice? What did it make you wonder? Did it remind you of anything? Discuss the tempo, the sound of the music, the instruments used, the volume, and the mood. Why do you think the composer wrote it the way he did?

• Hymns, Spirituals, & Folk Songs: What lines strike you particularly? Is there a rhyme scheme to the lyrics? Is there a progression to each stanza? If you were to add a verse to the song, what would you add? If you took a verse out, how do you think it would change the song? Do the melody and words go together? Why or why not?

• Sol-fa: Take a minute to reflect on what you learned in the lesson. Write down any notes you want to remember and practice any particular exercises that were tricky.

Connect

• At the end of the lesson, think about how the day's musical selection connects to other books, subjects, characters in history, etc.

• You might copy down a stanza of a hymn in your Commonplace or Copywork book, read a bit more about the history behind a piece of music, jot down a noteworthy date in your Book of Centuries, or discuss a broader question raised in the lesson.

How Firm a Foundation

Materials: Our Hymns, Our Heritage, Our Work Book, and/or Music Selections Booklet

→ INTRO
Our first hymn this year is called "How Firm a Foundation." What is a foundation, and what do you think this hymn will be about?

→ LISTEN & PRACTICE
Today, focus on getting familiar with the hymn. Read the words aloud and listen to the full song. Note that various recordings sometimes use the older "thee" rather than "you" and annotate your lyrics depending on the recording you use. Notice, talk about, and look up any unfamiliar words.
∞ Music Links: How Firm a Foundation (YouTube or Spotify)

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS
Learn the history of the song from Our Hymns, Our Heritage.
"Text and Tune" p.136

• EXTRA HELPING
Look at early copies of Rippon's hymnal. What differences and similarities do you notice between it and hymnals today? If interested, read the original hymn (note the extra verses which are less common today) and the prefaces.
∞ Book Links: 1801 and 1828 versions

• AFTERNOON LISTENING
Use your preferred recording to listen to the hymn in the afternoons, evenings, or anytime! The more you spend time with it, the more the words will sink into your head and your heart.

• IMPORTANT DATES
"How Firm a Foundation" published in Rippon's hymnal (1787 AD).

Steal Away

Materials: Our Work or Music PDF, Like a Bird

→ INTRO
• The word "steal" usually means to take something that isn't yours. Can you think of any other meanings the word has?
• Tell what you think this sentence means: "Let's steal away now and tell them what we saw!"

→ READ & DISCUSS
Our first folk song for the year is called "Steal Away to Jesus." Its history is somewhat debated. Some think that Nat Turner was one of the first to sing it. Others tell the story of Wallace Willis and how the Reverend Alexander Reid heard Willis singing "Steal Away" (and Swing Low, Sweet Chariot) and told the Jubilee Singers, a famous singing group, about his songs in 1871. It's often hard to trace the history of songs that were orally composed and passed along to others!

Music in the 19th Century

→ INTRO
• What (if anything) comes to mind when you think about the 1800s and particularly music in the 1800s? Jot down any notes in your notebook or share with a friend.

• In term 1, we'll explore some instruments that characterized this century and then get to know a few particular composers and musicians in later terms.

→ LISTEN & DISCUSS
One instrument that spans all cultures and times is the human voice, but each time and place features it in different ways. Opera became particularly popular in the 1800s, and some became huge productions that showcased the flexibility, beauty, and power of the voice in various ways. Today's piece is an aria from an opera called "La Donna del Lago" or "The Lady of the Lake" by Gioachino Rossini, which was based on a poem by Sir Walter Scott. Even though the words are in Italian, see if you can guess the emotion of the piece as you listen in this lesson and over the week on your own time.

→ READ OR VIEW
Steal Away became an enormously popular song across the United States and the world because of the Fisk Jubilee Singers. Fisk University was founded in 1866, right after the Civil War ended with the Emancipation Proclamation. Students who had previously had limited access to higher education because of slavery and poverty flocked to its doors. But a few years later, the school was struggling financially, and many feared it would have to close. However, relief came from an unexpected source—one of the school's leaders organized a group of the school's talented singers and set up a series of concerts. Initially, they sang classical and popular songs familiar to their white audiences, but eventually the students began also singing the spirituals that they had sung during the years they were enslaved. These spirituals, like Steal Away and Swing Low, Sweet Chariot, skyrocketed the Fisk Jubilee Singers and the school to fame, and both still exist today! • TERMINOLOGY
Bel canto opera: literally "beautiful singing" and a style of opera featuring the voice, which focuses on conveying the emotion of a piece through the singing rather than simply moving the plot forward.

Music: Level 2

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 1

→ RECAP
Describe the piece we started listening to last lesson.

→ INTRO
Musical performances in the 19th century became both larger and smaller. Operas and other theatrical performances became more accessible to the middle class and not just the wealthy, but so did the private musical performances in homes or smaller venues. Arias like Tanti Affetti showcased the voice on the large stages, while intimate songs, setting a poem to music with just a piano and voice, explored the power of the human voice to express emotion in these smaller settings. In Germany, several composers wrote so many of this second type of song that they created their own genre of song (called "lieder") and became the standard that others followed.

→ LISTEN & DISCUSS
Notice any musical features common in bel canto operas, such as trills, melismas, coloratura passages, and even appoggiaturas as you listen to the vocal fireworks that end this aria. You may want to pause the video periodically to jot down what you notice/hear in your notebook. Don't feel like you need to capture the whole aria - just a few key moments that strike you as great!

→ LISTEN & DISCUSS
∞ Video Link (YouTube): Über allen Gipfeln ist Ruh
Time Marker: 0:00-1:52

• (Grades 5+) Discuss or sketch the differences in mood, sound quality, and anything else you notice about these two pieces.

Coloratura: literally "colorful" singing with fast-moving passages, trills, and vocal leaps.

Trills: moving between two notes very fast.

Melisma: multiple notes sung on one syllable.

Advanced Listening: Appoggiatura, Chromatic scales
∞ Video Link: What is appoggiatura?

Lieder: German art songs usually featuring piano and voice, where the pianist and singer are equal partners working to interpret and showcase the emotion of the poetry.

Materials: Our Hymns, Our Heritage and/or Music PDF or Our Work Book

→ RECAP
Sing the tune of How Firm a Foundation on "hoo" and read the words aloud. Pay attention to the meaning and punctuation as you read.

→ SING & DISCUSS
Today, listen to a line of the song, then pause the video and echo it back, working your way line by line through the song. This will help you focus on each line of the song, not just the ones that come easily to you.

Term 1

• What images or lines in the song do you like best?

→ COPYWORK (GRADE 4+)
Copy a line of the melody into your music journal and (if you are taking sol-fa), see if you can label the notes with the sol-fa syllables. Hint: it is written in the key of G, and the first note is "So." Count up how many different sol-fa syllables you used in the song [there should be five]. This hymn is written using the pentatonic scale (often a major scale omitting fa and ti). Many other hymns (like Amazing Grace) are also written with only these five different sol-fa syllables. Explore Extra Helpings to explore a music theory rabbit hole on pentatonic music.

→ LISTEN & DISCUSS (OPTIONAL GRADES 1-4)
• Across the world from Germany, musicians were setting poetry to song in India as well. These songs were called "kritis" and are renowned for the same things as lieder: the balance of melody, rhythm, and poetry in their use of the human voice as an instrument.
• Begin listening to this famous kritis from the early 19th century, saving a minute or two for discussion.

→ ILLUSTRATE
With remaining time (and feel free to continue on your own time if desired), sketch or paint an illustration for each verse in your music notebook or alongside your lyrics.

★ TEACHER TIP
If a student has a hard time coming up with an idea for an illustration, encourage them to focus on just one image from a verse to illustrate. There are no wrong illustrations as long as the student connects it to an aspect of the verse in their mind. The purpose is simply to help them inhabit and reflect on the verse in a different way.

Parents and Cousins of the Guitar

→ MAPWORK
Locate the following places in your atlas and (for older students) consider making a page of your music notebook a map and labeling the instruments for each location.

- Scotland (where Sir Walter Scott lived, who wrote the poem which inspired Rossini's opera)
- Naples, Italy (where Tanti Affetti was first performed)
- Germany (where Fanny Mendelssohn Hensel and other composers who made the lied famous lived)
- Southern India (homeplace of Muthuswami Dikshitar, who wrote the kritis from the last lesson)

→ INTRO
Today, information can travel the world in milliseconds because of the internet. In the 19th century, people and ideas traveled more slowly but inventions such as instruments did travel and change through both time and place to give us new types of sounds and instruments. For instance, the violin traveled from Europe to India and took on new sounds as it was worked into the compositions of composers such as Dikshitar and others. Another instrument that rose to new prominence in a variety of places was the guitar (and its cousins).

Many trace the origins of the guitar back to the oud from North Africa and Persia. It traveled to Europe in medieval times and gave birth to the lute. A version of the lute called the vihuela de mano traveled to South America with the Spanish and, in the early 1800s, the charango was created. Another version of the lute or oud seems to have influenced the West African folk lute called the akonting, which traveled with enslaved Africans to the Caribbean and Americas and became the banjo in the 1830s. Meanwhile, back in Europe, the lute had given birth to the baroque guitar, which kept undergoing slight changes throughout the 19th and 20th centuries until we arrive at the modern guitar.

Start exploring the sounds of some of these instruments today with the

Materials: Our Hymns, Our Heritage and/or Music PDF or Our Work Book

➜ RECAP
Sing hymn from memory (as able).

➜ SING
Now that you know the words better, experiment with how you sing the song. Pick a few ideas to try or come up with your own. Think about how to emphasize the meaning of the words by the way you sing different verses. Are there other instruments you would use? Use the recording as needed.

- Sing some verses faster or slower.
- Sing some parts soft and some loud.
- Sing the song as a 2-part canon. To do this, divide into two groups (if with at least two people) or use the recording as your second person if solo. Group 1 should start singing, and then Group 2 begins at the beginning when Group 1 hits the "tion" in "foundation" in the first line (see #57 in Our Hymns, Our Heritage to see where Group 2 comes in). Because of the way the song is composed, the two groups will sound nice together even while singing different words!

∞ Audio Link: How Firm a Foundation Tune

• EXTRA HELPING
Experiment with more than two groups singing this hymn in a canon or round, and try starting at different places to see what sounds best. For instance, Group 2 could wait to start until Group 1 begins the second line of music in your hymnal. Or you could try having four different groups!

Wellerman

Materials: Our Work or Music PDF, World Atlas/Globe/Google Maps

PREP: For younger students, mark sections of the article on our next folk song's history to read or share with your students. Print off sheet music if desired.
∞ Article Link: Wellerman History
∞ PDF Link: Wellerman Sheet Music

→ RECAP
Sing Steal Away from memory.

→ INTRO
• Do you know any sea shanties? Our next folk song is a sea shanty that tells a story about a whale. While the story is made up, the Weller brothers were real men who founded a whaling base in 1831 on Aotearoa/New Zealand's South Island. A version of the shanty likely became popular a few decades later, before another author/editor developed the lyrics into their current form in the 1960s.
• Locate New Zealand in your atlas or globe and see if you can find Otakou (look on the South Island).

• TERMINOLOGY
Wellerman: ship owned by the Weller brothers coming with supplies

tonguing: refers to the process of cutting up the whale for oil right whale: a species of whale that is now endangered because of the whaling industry that was so prevalent in the 19th century.

• IMPORTANT DATES
Weller brothers found their whaling base on the Otago peninsula in New Zealand (1831 AD)

Pedro Ximénez Abril Tirado

Materials: Globe/Atlas

PREP: Print off a blank world map to label if desired.
∞ Map Link: Blank World Map

→ RECAP
What do you remember about the guitar's ancestors and cousins? Add the locations (or add arrows showing the way instruments traveled) to your map in your notebook if desired.

→ LISTEN & DISCUSS
Today's guitar piece is by a significant Peruvian composer named Pedro Ximénez Abril Tirado, who spent a lot of time in Bolivia. He was influenced by European music as well as local traditions, and some of his most famous works are for the guitar. Perhaps local musicians also played his works on the popular charangos as well!

Father of Classical Guitar

→ RECAP & MAPWORK
Add Pedro Ximénez Abril Tirado to Peru on your map.

→ INTRO
Just a few years before Pedro Abril Tirado died, a baby was born in Spain who would bring the guitar even further into the musical spotlight. Francisco Tárrega studied both the piano and the guitar growing up, and then studied music theory and composition. He is called the father of classical guitar because he showed how the guitar could be a solo instrument like the piano, voice, or violin, and create expressive melodies. (Before Tárrega, some thought the guitar was only good for folk songs and accompanying singers.)

→ LISTEN & DISCUSS
Today's piece is possibly Tárrega's most famous work. Pay attention to how fast the guitarist's fingers are moving to create the tremolo you hear!

Valved Brass

➜ RECAP
- Who was Francisco Tárrega?
- Add his name to your map near Spain.
- Can you hum a tune from his Recuerdos de la Alhambra?

➜ INTRO
Our next instrument is the horn! Horns have been around for a very long time, but it's only since the 19th century that they could easily play a lot of different notes. Horns make sound based on the length of space the air has to vibrate in their brass tubes. As long as the tube length stays the same, there is a limited number of notes a musician can play because of the way sound waves work. But if you change the length of the space the air has to vibrate in the tubes, you can play more notes. Before the 19th century, musicians would change the length of tubing by adding additional sections or inserting their hand into their horn. This was not very convenient for musicians, so when the idea occurred to instrument makers to add valves that opened and closed extra sections of tubing, it revolutionized horn music.

➜ LISTEN & DISCUSS
At the beginning of the term, we talked about how the 19th century is famous for music, both on a large scale and in smaller settings. Horns are instruments that composers love to use when they want to create a big sound! John Phillip Sousa was an American composer who was nicknamed the march king. Listen for all the horns in the march we're listening to today!
∞ Video Link: The Stars & Stripes Forever

- Did you hear the horns?

➜ DRAW

Saxophone

→ RECAP
Describe the Stars and Stripes Forever. Add John Phillip Sousa to your map (the US).

→ INTRO
You may remember hearing about the saxophone if you've used the Alveary lessons on Jazz, but the instrument was invented in the early 1800s and used in classical repertoire before it took off into the world of jazz and blues. Adolphe Sax patented the instrument and displayed it at the 1844 Paris Exhibition, and his instruments won a competition with other manufacturers and were adopted by the French military band! Adolphe's friend Jean Baptiste Singelee composed some of the first pieces of published music for the new instrument.

PREP: If teaching younger students, read today's article and mark sections to share with students. Older students will enjoy reading the article directly and can explore extra links and videos on the page on their own time or over exam week.

→ RECAP
Name as many pieces and/or instruments as you can that we've listened to this term.

→ INTRO
As you've heard over the term, many "new" instruments in the 19th century were not actually new. But they came into the public eye in fresh ways, whether because they were optimized (the horns), reimagined (saxophones), repositioned (guitars), used in fresh ways (the voice), or introduced in new contexts. The 1889 World's Fair in Paris, celebrating 100 years since the French Revolution, featured an example of this last category when Claude Debussy and several other French composers heard Javanese gamelan orchestras play for the first time. Javanese Gamelan orchestras and their instruments are not at all new, but it was one of the first times the Western world was exposed to their sounds.

⬚ 10m Folk Songs - Lesson 13
National Anthem

Materials: Our Work or Music PDF

PREP: You'll be choosing a national anthem to learn this term. Feel free to pre-select or use this lesson to decide. Consider having students learn their own national anthem (if young and/or unfamiliar with it) or another (pick based on interest and/or degree of challenge, since some are obviously not in English).

→ INTRO
The 19th century was a period of turmoil. The last part of the 18th century and the first half of the 19th is sometimes called the "Age of Revolutions." There was the American Revolution (1776), the French Revolution (1789), Haitian Revolution (1791) and then the Mexican War of Indepedence (1810s), uprisings across Latin American (one of the most famous was in Colombia with Simon Bolivar in 1810s), waves of revolutions across continental Europe (including Greece gaining independence from the Ottoman Empire in 1820s), revolts against British rule in India in the 1850s and against the shogunate in Japan in the 1860s (and that isn't all of them!).

Amidst all this upheaval, a new genre of folk song rose up—the national anthem. These folk songs gave a sense of shared identity and purpose among disparate peoples. Some sound like hymns, others like military marches, work songs, or even operas. You'll learn one anthem this term, but we'll listen to several different ones so you can hear these differences and similarities!

★ TEACHER NOTE
Students will learn their own (or a different) national anthem this term. This brings many opportunities to talk about healthy (and unhealthy) ways to relate to one's country.

Our first piece by Grieg is his piano concerto in A minor, which was one of his earliest compositions and his last. First published in 1868 when he was only 24 years old, he continued to revise the work up until the end of his life. The last version, which he finished only weeks before his death, is the one most performed today. The first movement is too long for the lesson, so just start listening to the piece with the remaining lesson time and continue listening to the rest of the concerto in the afternoon. The very first notes of the piece are some of the most famous.

What is "Angels We Have Heard On High" about?

→ STUDY & SING

• MUSICAL NOTE
When you sing "Gloria" in the chorus, you are singing a melisma – many notes on one syllable. While this is common for songs featuring just one artist, it is uncommon for congregational songs. Can you think of any other melismas in songs you've sung? Melismas are sometimes called "runs" or "riffs" in pop music.

Term 2

Today, we're focusing on learning the tune and words separately.
• Even if you can't read music, look at the music in your hymnal and notice that the shape of the top notes in the first line is the same as the second line. So once you learn the tune of the first line of music, you've learned the tune for the rest of the verse!
• Now find the first "Deo" you see in the sheet music. Even though it looks like a lot of notes, you'll see in your Our Work book or Music PDF and notice in the music that for the chorus you sing "Gloria in excelsis Deo" twice. And the only note that is different the second time is the very last note of the song.
• Now listen to the song and pay attention to those repeated lines (feel free to highlight them with different colors or make a note in your lyrics if desired)! Hum along with the recording as you pick up the tune.

Holberg Suite

→ RECAP
Do you remember any melodies from the Concerto in A minor? Try humming one!

→ INTRO
Grieg produced some of his most famous pieces in the 1880s. Today's piece is a suite (a series of dances) in honor of the playwright Ludvig Holberg, who is considered the father of Norwegian literature (or Danish literature, depending on who you ask). Holberg (1684-1754AD) lived nearly the same time as J.S. Bach (1685-1750), so when Grieg composed a piece honoring the centenary of his death, he sought to create a work that sounded a bit like music from Holberg's time. He composed the piece first for the piano and then added the stringed version a few months later. Read/share a bit more from the article below.

National Anthem (cont.)

Materials: Our Work or Music PDF

→ RECAP
Sing as much of your National Anthem as you can from memory.

→ INTRO
In her book Ourselves, Charlotte Mason talks about good and bad ways we can show loyalty to our country. It is a good thing when our love for our country makes us seek to understand its history, laws, institutions, people, strengths, and weaknesses. We should want to love and care for the place we live and the other people who live around us! It is not good when we use our love for our country as an excuse to look down on other people or countries and ignore our own country's weaknesses. On the other hand, it is also unhelpful when we only focus on what is bad about our country. As you sing your national anthem and read the words, think about what kind of love or loyalty the song displays.

→ DISCUSS (GRADES 7+)
Many national anthems ask a god to protect their country (some mean the Christian God revealed in the Bible, and others refer to gods of other religions). For instance, the Canadian national anthem includes the prayer, "God, keep our land glorious and free," and the British anthem's name is "God Save the Queen (or King)." What do you think about asking God for protection and preservation of a nation or for wisdom for our leaders? If so, is there ever an issue of assuming God is on a particular nation's side? For example, what if two nations are fighting against each other and both are asking God to help them win?

• If you wanted to write a song that reminded you of a particular place, what would you do? Can you think of a song or piece of music that captures the essence of a place somehow?

• As the article from last lesson mentioned, Grieg wanted to create music that sounded Norwegian. In his 20s, Grieg spent a summer with Ole Bull, a famous Norwegian violinist. Bull and other Norwegian musicians inspired Grieg to use Norwegian folk songs and melodies as the inspiration for his music. Some people thought that he wasn't a "serious" composer because of this, but Grieg and many other 19th-century composers who used folk songs in their music disagreed!

WEEK 5

⬚ 15m Composer Study - Lesson 17
Peer Gynt Suite

➔ RECAP
• One author described the Holberg Suite like this: "Originally written for piano, Grieg jazzed it up with strings, giving us five movements that prance around like a Baroque dance party. And the opening 'Praeludium' is like a caffeinated squirrel sprinting through a fjord" (Hermione Lai, Interlude.hk). Do you agree?
• If you had to finish the sentence, "the opening movement is like _____" or "the last movement is like _____" what would you say?

➔ INTRO
If Grieg's suite to honor Holberg blended older forms of music with fresh ideas and Norwegian folk songs, his collaboration with a living playwright, Henrik Ibsen, produced a suite which was even more quintessentially Norwegian. Partially because of all the wars and revolutions in the 1800s, many people wanted to create a sense of national pride and identity to show how they were different from other places. In addition to using folk songs and melodies in their music, composers like Grieg did this by creating new musical forms or breaking the rules of older forms.

Peer Gynt is a play written in verse by the Norwegian playwright Henrik Ibsen. It's the story of an anti-hero, Peer Gynt, who makes a series of horrible life choices and eventually is faced with the consequences and has a chance to repent at the end. Grieg's task was to write incidental music to go along with the play - the equivalent of modern-day film scores. He had a horrible time with the project and wrote in a letter:

"With Peer Gynt, things are progressing very slowly, and finishing by Autumn is out of the question. It is a terribly unruly subject, certain places excluded, such as, e.g., where Solveig sings; I have completed all of that, too. And, also, I have made something for In the Hall of the Mountain King, which I literally cannot bear to listen to; that's how much it sounds of cow pats, of Norwegian-Norwegian-ness and self-satisfaction! But I also expect the irony to be felt" (fib.no/en/news/2024/griegs-gynt).

The full set of music for the play was 26 pieces long! But not long after he finished the music, Grieg rearranged several of the pieces from different sections of the play into two suites of four pieces each. These suites are what made Grieg famous, and you may even recognize some of the melodies, as they have remained popular today.

• EXTRA HELPING
The image of God riding upon the wind is common in both Scripture and in other hymns. If you learned "God Moves in a Mysterious Way" in Alveary hymn lessons last year, you might remember the line "he plants his footsteps in the sea and rides upon the storm." Look up Psalm 19, Isaiah 19, and Nahum 1 for other Bible passages with this imagery. Why do you think God is described this way?

Wedding Day at Troldhaugen

→ RECAP
Which of the children's songs by Grieg were your favorite?

→ VIEW
Edvard & Nina's house.
∞ Image Link: Pictures of Troldhaugen

→ INTRO
As mentioned a few lessons ago, Edvard often composed voice pieces with his wife in mind, but he also composed some pieces for her. He wrote several books of short piano pieces (called lyric pieces), and one is called Wedding Day at Troldhaugen, which he originally wrote in 1896 to commemorate his 25th wedding anniversary. Edvard and Nina knew each other as children and then reconnected as young adults. Initially, both their parents opposed their engagement, but they eventually agreed to the marriage, and Edvard and Nina were married. They supported each other in their musical endeavors and were each other's partners in many ways. But their marriage also suffered after their little daughter died, and at one point, it looked like they might separate for good. With the help of friends, they decided to reconcile; however, it seems they were happy together in their later years at their beloved home, Troldhaugen.

Fire Salmer/Four Psalms

→ RECAP
What questions would you ask Edvard Grieg if you met him?

→ LISTEN & DISCUSS
Although raised in the Lutheran church, the Griegs, especially Edvard, rejected much of what they were taught while young. However, they continued to wrestle with how to understand the meaning of life and life after death. Some of Grieg's last work, just a year before his death, was a series of four musical Psalms. Enjoy the last in the collection during the lesson and explore others over the week.

writers, scientists, and anything else that comes to mind. Then think about what you know about music in the 1800s as well. None of the composers or musicians we'll learn about this term lived in isolation. You'll learn more about the backstory of Mussorgsky's work over the next few weeks. All you need to know for now is that we'll be listening to a musical depiction of an art exhibition. Today's piece is the opening theme, which recurs throughout the series of pieces, guiding us through the exhibition. Mussorgsky composed the piece as a piano suite, but a orchestra version by another composer (Maurice Ravel) became even more famous. If interested, read/share more context and musical detail from others who have listened to the gnome movement as part of the discussion after listening.

"Although the original Hartmann painting has been lost, it is known to have depicted a grotesque nutcracker with large teeth. It was undoubtedly disturbing. Mussorgsky captured the image in sound using a variety of techniques. “The Gnome” begins with a sequence of abrupt, angular melodic fragments. They are unpredictable and unpleasing, lurching about in a way that mimetically captures the motions of the creature they portray. A second, contrasting section contains an uneven descending melody with a

→ INTRO (OPTION 2: MODEST MUSSORGSKY)
Although he was familiar with many European forms of music, Mussorgsky had less musical training than many of his peers. But in some ways, he saw this as a strength because he, like Grieg and other composers in the 1800s, wanted to create a new kind of music. He wanted to create a new Russian sound that was not like the music in Europe. Some philosophers believe that the desire many of us feel today to be unique started in the 1800s, partially because of composers like Mussorgsky or Grieg, and other poets like Wordsworth, or artists like Vincent Van Gogh.

→ INTRO & MAPWORK
• Our last folk song takes us from San Juan Island to Hawaii!
• Locate the Hawaiian islands in your atlas.
• This song of farewell between two lovers was written by the last monarch of Hawaii and is her most famous composition. The story goes that the queen and her attendants visited a friend on Oahu. Then, "as they started their return trip to Honolulu on horseback up the steep Pali trail, the queen turned to admire the view of Kaneohe Bay. She witnessed a particularly affectionate farewell between Colonel James Boyd of her party and a lovely young girl from Maunawili. As they rode up the steep cliff and into the swirling winds, she started to hum this melody, weaving words into a romantic song. At the top of the pali, a cloud hung over the mountain peak and slowly floated down Nu`uanu Valley. The queen continued to hum and completed her song as they rode the winding trail down the valley back to Honolulu."

⬚ 15m Composer Study - Lesson 30
Gilbert & Sullivan

→ RECAP
Do you recall what music is called when it is written to go along with a play?

→ INTRO
You've heard over the year how composers in the 1800s liked to create large musical spectacles. Our last composer of the year liked to make fun of many aspects of, especially British, society and musical excess. His name was Arthur Sullivan, and he worked closely with an author named W.S. Gilbert to produce a number of funny operettas in England toward the end of the 1800s, about the same time Grieg was composing in Norway, Blind Tom was performing in the US, and Modest Mussorgsky was composing in Russia! Although he is most famous for the operettas, Sullivan did compose several other musical pieces, and one of his very first was incidental music for Shakespeare's Tempest when he was only 25.

→ LISTEN & DISCUSS
This movement of Sullivan's work musically illustrates the beginning of Act IV in The Tempest. Listen to the whole suite in the afternoons!

H.M.S Pinafore

→ INTRO
One of Gilbert & Sullivan's most famous comic operettas was called H.M.S. Pinafore. Although this sounds like a very official ship name, a "pinafore" is a kitchen apron. And "H.M.S." stands for "Her Majesty's Ship." Does that strike you as a little funny? This is just the beginning of the musical ways Gilbert & Sullivan poke fun at many British traditions.

→ LISTEN & DISCUSS
Follow along in the Libretto as desired.
∞ PDF Link: HMS Pinafore Libretto
∞ Video Link: Overture & I am the Captain of the Pinafore (next in the playlist)

• What are your first impressions of this operetta? Compare the sound and style to what you remember from Tanti Affetti from Term 1 (look back at the first song in the playlist if you want to refresh your memory!)

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS (OPTIONAL GRADES 1-4)
Ch. XV p.99-101 "Once Sullivan" - "every year."

• Did you catch that Sullivan met our friend Edvard Grieg in school? Also, we didn't spend much time with him, but do you remember Tanti Affetti from the very beginning of the year? Rossini, the operetta composer who was writing the birthday song for his dog, is the same composer who wrote Tanti Affetti!

• Discuss the quote: "In music, or anything else, there is a sense in which nobody can teach us anything."

★ TEACHER NOTE
As we get into Gilbert & Sullivan's operettas, be sure to preview any of the full operettas (some listed in Extra Helpings) before watching. Gilbert and Sullivan were men of their time, and some of their plays have problematic staging and thematic content. However, it is important to note and help students recognize the satire that runs throughout their songs, as much of their work did critique British culture and the problems they saw in society around them.

Tit Willow

→ RECAP
Can you sing any of Modern Major General?

→ INTRO
Today's song is about unrequited love and comes from another famous operetta by our pair. Enjoy this personal recollection about the song from a musical colleague of Gilbert & Sullivan's!

"At a private musical rehearsal of the Mikado at Sir Arthur's house (the principal singers and actors only), I became depressed at the now famous song 'Tit Willow.' I thought, as far as Gilbert was concerned, that the first verse was so much more taking than the last, which was reversing the order of things. When Sullivan played the tune on his piano, it sounded like 'Easy Pianoforte Pieces for Children.'

Seeing my abject look, Sullivan lighted another cigarette and said: 'I see you don't care for it, but it is a question for the general public!'

He was quite right, and I never regret having sung 'Tit Willow,' which I must have done with encores about two thousand times at the Savoy Theatre" (∞ From a Personal Recollection).

★ TEACHER NOTE
Today's song is from The Mikado, which is one of Gilbert & Sullivan's most famous operettas. However, even while its authors were still alive, it was temporarily banned for its caricatures of Japanese culture. Read the article below for more on the context of the Mikado and the debate about whether there is any way to leave the problematic elements of the work behind without discontinuing the whole thing. One way to do this might be to focus on performances of individual pieces from the operetta, as we are doing here, rather than full theatre productions.

Golden Legend

➜ RECAP
Can you hum anything of Tit Willow?

➜ LISTEN & DISCUSS
Today's piece is known as one of Sullivan's "serious" works. It is called "The Golden Legend" and is based on a long narrative poem by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow from just a year after The Mikado (where Tit Willow is from) was first performed (1886 AD). It is a dramatic cantata, so it is half a play and half a long vocal work. This beautiful hymn is one of the most famous pieces from it.

Examination

Term 1

Hymns & Spirituals

· Sing "Children of the Heavenly Father" and tell what you know about the life and times of Carolina Berg.

Folk Songs

· Tell the names and what you remember about the two folk songs you learned this term. Then pick one and sing it!

Composer Study

· Tell or write about some of the sounds and instruments of the 19th century.

Sol-fa: Level 2

· Sing and give the hand signs for the sol-fa ladder.

Term 2

Hymns & Spirituals

· Sing "Angels We Have Heard on High" OR Draw or paint a new illustration to go with one of your hymns from this term. Underneath your work, write the line or verse from the hymn that your illustration reflects and write or tell why you chose the passage to illustrate.

Folk Songs

· Sing Bebi Notsa OR your national anthem.

Composer Study

· (GRADE 1-3) Tell all you can about one of the pieces you heard this term. Can you hum a melody from it?

· (GRADE 4-6) Tell what you remember about Edvard Grieg and one of the pieces he wrote. Can you hum a melody from it?

· (GRADE 7-12) Choose one:

- Write a letter to a friend describing Grieg and his music
- Write a news article or blog about the composer and his music
- Create a powerpoint introducing Grieg and his music
- Create a mood board (digitally or physically) for Grieg's pieces from the term. Feel free to look back at your music notebook for inspiration.

Sol-fa: Level 2

· First, clap the rhythm and then sing the line of music provided. (You may label the notes using sol-fa and/or the note names. Use the sol-fa hand signs when you sing.)
Link: Line of Music

Term 3

Hymns & Spirituals

· Sing "When Morning Gilds the Skies" and tell which verse is your favorite (or least favorite) and why.

Folk Songs

· Sing Aloha 'Oe OR The San Juan Pig and tell the story behind one of the songs.

Composer Study

· Tell, write, or sketch the story of Blind Tom or Pictures at an Exhibition and hum a tune from one of your favorite pieces this term.

· (GRADE 7-12) Engage with some of Arthur Sullivan's critics by reflecting on what counts as "serious" music. How would you define "serious music"? Is this a helpful category? If so, how? Think about all the music you've listened to over the year (or just the term if you like) and give your own opinion.

Sol-fa: Level 2

· First, clap the rhythm and then sing the line of music provided. (You may label the notes using sol-fa and/or the note names. Use the sol-fa hand signs when you sing.)
