

Language Study

Commonplace Composition

About the Course

This course includes the following topic(s): Composition: Grade 11, Commonplace: Grades 9-12

About Commonplace: Grades 9-12

Building on the habit of copywork in younger grades, high school students copy passages of any length that strike them from their readings into their commonplace book. For some students this becomes a lifelong keepsake and continuing habit.

About Composition: Grade 11

Students continue to practice writing poetry and prose of various kinds while working on a few longer projects each term. Lesson topics include: logical fallacies, research and citation habits, narrative techniques, the ethics of communication, and more.

Composition: Grade 11

In addition to their composition and grammar lessons, students should continue to keep track of their regular written narrations and write 5-10 each week. Not all narrations need to be lengthy, but students should be comfortable typing multiple paragraphs if given the time.

Placement & Combining Tips

Commonplace: Grades 9-12

Students new to copywork or keeping a commonplace book may want to schedule this during morning lessons to build the habit.

Composition: Grade 11

Prerequisite: Students with little background in the essay form should begin with Essay Voyage from the Grade 9 lessons. And students new to the concept of revision and editing should take the Grade 10 courses.

Composition prompts often reference Alveary lessons in Literature, History, Geography, Bible, etc., so it is ideal if students are using Alveary subjects across the curriculum. However, lessons include the lesson topic and target skill/form, along with ideas for substitution when possible to make the lessons flexible for teachers and students.

Scheduling

GRADE	SCHEDULE INFO.	BOOKS
9-12	Commonplace: Grades 9-12 1+ time/week 10 min
11	Composition: Grade 11 4 times/week 40 min	Advanced Academic Writing II Teacher Manual Communicating with Grace and Virtue: Learning to Listen, Speak, Text, and Interact as a Christian Steering the Craft: A Twenty-First Century Guide to Sailing the Sea of Story

Sample Weekly View

Day 1	Day 2	Day 3	Day 4	Day 5
-------	-------	-------	-------	-------

Planning & Prep

Permission to print for non-commercial use. See Alveary group use policy to use lessons in a group context.

LINKS: Click text or scan the QR code in the top corner of the lesson plan pages to view online resources associated with the lessons.

Responsibility for previewing all links rests with the teacher. All links were checked at the time of publication; however, websites change frequently and may contain objectionable content. Please report broken links by contacting us through our website.

Composition: Grade 11

□ One purpose of composition lessons is to encourage you, the student, to dig deeper, self-reflect on your own thoughts and writing, and learn how to ask good questions of yourself and your readings. It isn't about proving to your teacher that you read a book or did an assignment.

□ Set the timer and use the whole time allotted for a lesson. If you finish an assignment with extra time, explore another perspective, ask further questions, or take a bit more time to see if any other thoughts come to mind. Alternately, if you find yourself stuck, you may want to take a short break and come back later or break up the time into two shorter times. Growth, not frustration, is the goal.

Term Prep & Teacher Tips

Composition: Grade 11

□ Plan to have your student(s) type the majority of their narrations and compositions. See keyboarding course for resources on typing if needed.

□ Encourage students to spend all the time left at the end of a lesson on their written narrations and the whole lesson time on their compositions, and give as much detail as possible. For their narrations, it may help if you encourage them to think of writing their narrations for a friend or someone who has never read the book, rather than for you, who might already know the story. If they feel like they've run out of things to write, have them try varying the type of narration they're writing (interview, sketch, letter, poem, etc.).

Books & Resources

For book rationales and purchase options, click the Book List link or scan the QR code below.

∞ View Book List Details

Language Study: Grade 11

Composition: Grade 11

Advanced Academic Writing II Teacher Manual

Communicating with Grace and Virtue: Learning to Listen, Speak, Text, and Interact as a Christian

Supplies

For supply list details and basic supplies helpful to have on hand, click the links or scan the QR code below.

∞ View Basic Supplies

(No Subject Supplies Assigned)

Quick Links

Language Study: Grade 11

∞ Foundations \(See Section 8: English\).

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Language Study: Grade 11

How To Approach

Read

You will read books across the curriculum. Look for interesting quotes to copy into your commonplace book!

Practice

You will practice many forms of composition over the year. Your books will often serve as the foundation for your assignments, along with books specifically focused on composition.

Teacher Note

- As you review your students' composition assignments, be sure to read the instructions in the lesson and give feedback and support accordingly.
- Some students naturally integrate and incorporate ideas from grammar and composition lessons into their narrations and composition assignments, but most assignments ask students to focus on one skill or idea.
- For editing or revision lessons, hold the student accountable to work through the process and instructions given for editing, but refrain from suggesting too many ideas about how they could expand the essay or add another idea.
- For assignments that ask a student to focus on a particular concept, ignore spelling or grammar edits, and support your student by noticing what they've done well and drawing out ideas on how to dig deeper.

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 1

WEEK 1

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 1

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ & NARRATE

"Introduction"

→ WRITE

Write a list of the topics mentioned that you already know. Make notes on the topics that are new or you are unsure about.

★ STUDENT/TEACHER NOTE

In addition to these more formal composition lessons, be sure to keep up the habit of written and oral narrations throughout the week. Aim for 8-10 written narrations per week, and use different ways of narrating to keep it interesting!

WEEK 1

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 2

Materials: Advanced Academic Writing II

→ INTRO

What is the value of writing? Of poetry, stories, essays, and biographies? Jot down your thoughts.

→ REVIEW

You've learned about structure before, but it's worth reviewing as you begin another year. Advanced Academic Writing II p.1,4-5

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

As you practice and read many different forms of writing over the year, continue to consider the questions at the beginning of this lesson. Why create anything with words (or other mediums)? Tolkien considers these questions (and many more) in his poem "Mythopoeia."

Read the poem aloud. Underline phrases or words that stick out to you, and keep the questions above in your mind as you read.

∞ Poetry Link: Mythopoeia

- Why are words valuable to Tolkien? Why create stories or any other form of art?

★ STUDENT/TEACHER NOTE

You may write or type your narrations and compositions initially. But for these composition lessons, be sure to type the final draft you turn in to your teacher.

WEEK 1

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 3

Tech/Visual

→ CREATE

Sometimes a "picture is worth a thousand words." Use this lesson to create an infographic by hand or in Canva, PowerPoint, or another design software. Look at some of the coffee infographics in the attached article to get a sense of the possibilities. Whether created digitally or by hand, visual illustrations are a powerful narration tool as well to help you understand what you read, so feel free to incorporate visuals into your daily narrations!

First, brainstorm what you want to illustrate. Here are some ideas:

- Show the process of conducting a science lab.
- Key events in your life or the life of a historical character you're reading about.
- Outline a sermon you've heard or key points from a chapter in one of your books.
- Your daily or weekly schedule.
- Your family tree.
- Something else entirely!
- How to make your favorite recipe.

∞ Article Link: Coffee Infographic

WEEK 1

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 4

Questions

→ INTRO

Charlotte Mason said that we only know what we ask ourselves questions about, and then can communicate to ourselves and others. She called all the different ways that we can narrate "forms of vitality." Here are her actual words:

One thing at any rate we know with certainty, that no teaching, no information becomes knowledge to any of us until the individual mind has acted upon it, translated it, transformed, absorbed it, to reappear, like our bodily food, in forms of vitality. Therefore, teaching, talk, and tale, however lucid or fascinating, affect nothing until self-activity be set up; that is, self-education is the only possible education; the rest is mere veneer laid on the surface of a child's nature (Vol. 6, p.240).

This is how we know and why we narrate. We help ourselves along in this process by developing the habit of asking good questions. A famous scientist named Louis Agassiz was a master at helping students see and observe more by learning to ask themselves questions about whatever they were studying. Read the account of one of his students when first being examined for the opportunity.

→ READ

p.96-100 "The examination" - "knowledge of fossils."

∞ Website Link: Autobiography of Nathaniel Shaler

★ TEACHER/STUDENT NOTE

If you did Grade 10 Composition last year and remember the reading about Agassiz, skip to the WRITE assignment, or complete the whole lesson to refresh your memory. It's a good reminder!

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 1

→ WRITE

Write as many observations and questions about one of your readings as you have time for.

WEEK 2

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 5

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ

Ch.1

- Think about examples from your reading. Listen for "the sound of writing" this week.

→ WRITE

Complete Part One of Exercise One: Being Gorgeous.

WEEK 2

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 6

Materials: Advanced Academic Writing II

What makes a good argument?

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

p.52-54

- Have you ever thought about research as re-searching before?
- To emphasize the argumentative and persuasive component of an essay, MCT writes, "our thesis is not a mere personal opinion; it is the truth." What MCT means is that writers should give their best effort to discern, research, and understand their claims and put forward a thesis they believe is true (not just their first impressions). What he does not mean is that writers should assume that their essays are the "last word" on a subject. Our job as writers is to do our best to explain the truth as we see it, while also recognizing that new discoveries and new perspectives may cause us to rethink or revise our opinions over time. We need to develop firm convictions but also hold them humbly. Write or discuss your thoughts on this idea.

→ PRACTICE

Write the conclusion that follows from these premises (or explain the problem with the syllogism). Don't look at the answer key until you're done!

- All humans are mortal. Socrates is a human.
- All mammals have a backbone. A dolphin is a mammal.
- All fruits are blue. An apple is a fruit.
- All Toyotas need fuel to run. A hybrid car needs fuel to run.

→ EXPLORE

With extra time, explore how you can use Venn diagrams to visually think about the logical relationship between sentences. Try creating diagrams for the sentences above.

∞ Article Link: Syllogisms

• ANSWER KEY

- Therefore, Socrates is mortal.
 - Therefore, a dolphin has a backbone.
 - Therefore, an apple is blue.
- Note: For this syllogism, the premise is faulty, but the logic is sound.
- It is tempting to conclude "All Toyotas are hybrids," but this conclusion does not follow from the premises.

WEEK 2

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 7

Poetry

→ WRITE

Compose a poem that tells a story (either one you made up or a retelling of something you've read). Use the epic convention of starting "in media res" or in the middle of the action. For instance, if you are telling the story of your day, start with the moment you looked out the window and saw a hawk eat a worm, not the moment you woke up.

Give your poem an intentional structure and label what it is (refer back to Making of a Poem from Grade 9 Poetry study for a list of forms if desired).

WEEK 2

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 8

Inspection

→ WRITE

Gather 3 of your favorite books from the term so far, and reread the first few pages of each. Where does each author begin? How do they draw you into the story? What details do you notice in just the first few pages that give you a clue to what time period you're reading about, who the main character(s) is/are, what the purpose of the book is, what the genre is, and the author's style? Write down your findings.

Think about a few of your other favorite books in general. What about them grabs your attention? Add to your findings.

WEEK 3

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 9

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ PRACTICE

Ch.1

Repeat Exercise One: Being Gorgeous, and Complete Part Two.

Term 1

WEEK 3

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 10

Materials: Advanced Academic Writing II

Fallacies

→ INTRO

Describe examples of bad arguments you've seen or heard.

→ READ

p.55-57

→ READ

∞ Article Link: Logical Fallacies

→ DISCUSS

Describe each of the fallacies you read about in your own words, or create a poster, sketch, spreadsheet, PowerPoint, or 3D model of each of them to help you visualize and understand them in a way that makes sense to you.

★ STUDENT TIP

Look for fallacies as you read and go about life!

WEEK 3

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 11

Revision

→ INTRO

Good writers revise. Sometimes we imagine a writer sitting at a desk, scribbling away furiously, flowing sentences, and vivid lines of poetry or prose appearing on paper, instantly ready for publication. Unfortunately, as author Anne Lamott describes, "Almost all good writing begins with terrible first efforts. You need to start somewhere. Start by getting something - anything - down on paper. A friend of mine says that the first draft is the down draft -- you just get it down. The second draft is the up draft - you fix it up. You try to say what you have to say more accurately. And the third draft is the dental draft, where you check every tooth, to see if it's loose or cramped or decayed, or even, ... healthy" (Bird by Bird 24).

→ DISCUSS

Read this short blog on revision. What ideas are new to you? You might not agree with everything the author says, but take note of his main points.

∞ Article Link: On Revision

→ REVISE

Pick a previous narration that is at least two paragraphs long to revise and rewrite. Your goal is not just to make your writing free of punctuation or spelling errors, but to create a more polished version of your narration that you could share with someone to tell them about the particular topic you wrote about or the chapter you read.

Big-Picture Revision

1. If you have not already typed your narration, do that now so you have a digital version to edit.
2. Are there other ideas you've had more recently that you'd like to add to your narration? Do that now.
3. Look at your paragraphs. Are they indented and focused around one idea each? Describe that main idea in one sentence and consider making that the first sentence of your paragraph.
4. Try moving your paragraphs around in a different order. What order do you think might make the most sense to someone reading your words?

Sentence Level Revision

1. Read your narration aloud and fix any grammar or spelling errors you hear or see.
2. Make the main characters the subjects of sentences and important action verbs where possible.
3. How well do your sentences flow? Put old information before new information in your sentences.
4. Delete unnecessary words and change negatives to affirmatives.
5. Make sure your sentences are complete, not fragments.
6. Use Grammarly or another spell checker to find any other punctuation or spelling issues and fix those.

Share your revised narration with someone.

★ STUDENT TIP

Especially if revision is new to you, consider purchasing Style: The Basics of Clarity and Grace (used in Grade 10) to keep as a reference.

WEEK 3

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 12

Point of View

→ WRITE

Write a narration as if you are inside the story and telling a first-hand account of what you're seeing! For instance, perhaps you're walking alongside Rama, observing all the happenings in Paradise Lost, with John Harrison in Longitude, or visiting another character in history. You can write it as a diary entry and tell your thoughts as you walk around inside the story. Or you could write it as a travel memoir and focus on describing what is going on to your audience. In either case, tell things from your first-person perspective.

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 1

WEEK 4

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 13

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ

Ch.2

→ PRACTICE

Complete Exercise Two.

WEEK 4

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 14

Materials: Advanced Academic Writing II

Identifying fallacies

→ REVIEW

p.55-57

∞ Article Link: Logical Fallacies

→ PRACTICE

Identify the fallacies in the following examples. (Check your work when you are done with the answer key in the next lesson).

1. Example: "You can't trust Jane's opinion on politics; she's an artist, not a politician."
2. Example: "People who support space exploration think that poverty on Earth is not a problem."
3. Example: "If we allow students to bring smartphones to class, soon they'll be bringing tablets and then laptops, and no one will be paying attention to the lesson."
4. Example: "Why worry about the deficit when there are so many people unemployed?"
5. Example: "No one has proven that aliens don't exist, so they must be out there."
6. Example: "I once had a terrible experience with a car mechanic, so all car mechanics are crooks."
7. Example: "The sign said 'fine for parking here,' so since it was fine, I parked there."
8. Example: "You say I shouldn't text while driving, but I've seen you do it many times."
9. Example: "This diet must be effective because a famous celebrity endorses it."
10. Example: "We either ban all plastic bags, or the environment is doomed."
11. Example: "Everyone on social media is using this app, so it must be the best one available."
12. Example: "You should hire me for this job because I have a family to support and no one else is willing to help us."
13. Example: "I've already invested so much time into this project; I can't quit now, even if it's not working."
14. Example: "This policy is the best because it is better than any other policy."
15. Example: "Every time I wash my car, it rains. My car washing must cause the rain."

WEEK 4

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 15

Poetry

→ INTRO

Have you ever heard of "found poetry"? Learn more with the article below.

∞ Article Link: Found Poetry

→ WRITE

Poets have used historical texts like William Bradford's History of Plimoth Plantation, newspapers, novels, and more to create found poems. The act of rearranging words, pulling words from different places together, and thinking about key images in a text is essentially a way to think more deeply about what you have read. For this assignment, just pick one passage from one of your favorite books as your source text. Use the Scarlet Letter if there isn't another book that comes to mind.

- Decide on your selected passage (keep it short - no more than 1-2 pages).
- Highlight words or phrases you particularly like and/or which seem particularly important to the passage.
- Type or write those words on a separate piece of paper and use them to write a poem.
- You may choose whether to limit yourself to ONLY words found in your text or whether you want to add some of your own words as well.

• ANSWER KEY

1. Ad Hominem:
2. Straw Man:
3. Slippery Slope:
4. Red Herring:
5. Appeal to Ignorance:
6. Hasty Generalization:
7. Equivocation:
8. Appeal to Hypocrisy (Tu Quoque):
9. Appeal to Authority:
10. False Dilemma:
11. Bandwagon Fallacy:
12. Appeal to Pity:
13. Sunk Cost Fallacy:
14. Circular Argument:
15. Causal Fallacy:

WEEK 4

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 16

Essay- Current Event

→ WRITE

Current Event: Pick a topic and research. Summarize the perspective of each side in your own words, including brief quotes from each perspective to support your summary. Hyperlink any articles you reference, as in a news article. Aim to give the best points from each perspective, and imagine talking to a person who believed in each. Would they agree that you understand their perspective and have summarized it well?

Focus today on picking your topic and researching different perspectives. Here is a sample outline of how your essay might end up. If time allows, draft the first two paragraphs today. You will have three lesson periods to work on this essay.

- 1 short paragraph introducing the topic you're going to talk about, the key questions people on

• REFERENCE

Current Events

★ STUDENT/TEACHER TIP

The purpose of this essay is to work on researching the conversation about a particular topic, articulating both sides well in your own words, and giving your thoughts. Try to choose a topic that interests you and will be relatively simple to research. For instance, a topic like whether a particular town should add a train line is a better topic for this assignment than something large and complicated to research,

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 1

both sides are trying to answer, and why you think the topic is important.

- 1 paragraph explaining the two main points of view on your topic and the key reasons for each. End this paragraph with your thesis, telling which perspective you're arguing for and your reasons for believing it is right.
- 2-3 paragraphs explaining the two to three arguments that lead you to conclude which perspective is better.
- Concluding paragraph telling your readers why your topic is important to understand and consider. What do you think the cost is for people who have a different perspective or ignore the topic altogether?

such as whether to vote republican, democrat, or third party.

WEEK 5

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 17

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ PRACTICE

Ch.2

- Go back and add punctuation to your writing in Exercise Two from last week. Then, if you still have time, Practice: Being Gorgeous.

WEEK 5

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 18

Mind Traps

→ VIEW

∞ Video Link: 21 Mind Traps

→ NARRATE

Sketch, write, or discuss the ideas that you found most interesting from this video. Which mind traps have you fallen into?

• EXTRA HELPINGS

If interested, view Mind Traps II listed below today's video.

WEEK 5

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 19

Essay - Current Events Project Part 2

→ WRITE

Add to your current events project from Lesson 16. Today, develop your opinion on who has the stronger argument and explain why.

- 2-3 paragraphs explaining the two to three arguments that lead you to conclude which perspective is better.
- Concluding paragraph telling your readers why your topic is important to understand and consider. What do you think the cost is for people who have a different perspective or ignore the topic altogether?

• REFERENCE

Current Events

WEEK 5

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 20

Style

→ WRITE

Write about something you've read, experienced, or imagined in the style of another author (living or dead). Read your work to someone and see if they can guess the author you're trying to imitate!

- Ideas to think about as you imitate: How formal is your author's style? Do they use colloquialisms or more academic words? How long are their sentences? Do they tend to use passive or active voice? Do they speak as directly or in a more roundabout way? Do they use lots of comparisons (metaphors, similes) or tend to approach things more factually?

WEEK 6

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 21

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ

Steering the Craft
Ch.3, p.20-32

→ NARRATE

How would you fix the snitty reply sentence? Tell someone about the rhythm of prose and how it keeps the story going.

WEEK 6

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 22

Materials: Advanced Academic Writing II

Visual Fallacies

→ RESEARCH

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 1

Ads often feature logical fallacies. Use your lesson time to find 3-5 different ads that explicitly or subtly market a fallacy you studied. Consider the way colors, pictures, and other visual elements of an ad create an argument alongside its words.

WEEK 6 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 23

Tone/voice/style

→ WRITE

Have you noticed that books have a voice? Just as you can recognize a famous singer's voice when you hear a song, authors write in particular ways that establish their tone and voice as a writer, which we as readers unconsciously and consciously identify. We easily recognize this when a writer is angry or upset - this tone gets communicated by the words they choose, the number of exclamation marks (or sometimes all CAPS) used, and the way their sentences are structured - often short and punchy!

For the rest of this lesson, rewrite a narration or describe a scene in at least two different ways. Here are a few options, but feel free to come up with others. Label your writing with the tone you intend.

- Casually, as if telling a friend
- In formal/academic English
- As if you are so excited you'll start levitating immediately if you don't tell someone.
- As if you are unhappy with the situation.

★ STUDENT TIP
Experiment with writing in different authors' styles in your narrations, and pay attention to their tone!

WEEK 6 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 24

Editing- Revise Current Events Project

→ REVISE

Big-Picture Revision

1. Are there other ideas you've had more recently that you'd like to add to your current events essay? Do that now.
2. Are you representing both perspectives fairly and giving the best arguments for each side? Would someone who believes in the other perspective agree that you have summarized and understood them well?
3. Revise your thesis now that you have written the rest of your essay. Is it clear and concise?
4. Does your introduction include the main question and topic you are trying to address in your essay?
5. Look at your paragraphs. Are they indented and focused around one idea each? Describe that main idea in one sentence and consider making that the first sentence of your paragraph.
6. Do your paragraphs flow well? Experiment with moving your key arguments in a different order. Which makes the most sense? It is common to arrange your arguments in the order of weakest to strongest (or vice versa).
7. Does each of your paragraphs support your thesis?

Sentence-Level Revision

1. Did you link to the articles you drew from to learn about different perspectives?
2. Read your paper aloud and fix any grammar errors you hear and see.
3. Use Grammarly or another spell checker to find any other punctuation or spelling issues and fix those.
4. Give your essay a title (think of it like an article about a news event!)
5. Look for wordiness. Are there any unnecessary words? Do you have any sentences that are very long that you could make into two shorter sentences? Long sentences have their place, but usually, shorter sentences are clearer.
6. Look at your sentences and make sure characters are subjects, and important action verbs as possible.
7. Check for nominalizations! Throw out any unhelpful ones!
8. Make sure your sentences are complete, not fragments.
9. Make sure your essay is consistently in 3rd person while reporting others' perspectives. If desired, you may switch to 1st person when talking about your opinions in the final paragraph(s).

- Turn in your revised paper.

WEEK 7 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 25

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ PRACTICE

Ch.3

Complete Exercise Three, Part One (see the suggested subjects).

WEEK 7 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 26

Types of questions to ask

→ INTRO

Why write questions? Questions engage our brains to think outside our current perspective and wonder about new ideas, new connections, and new perspectives that might not naturally occur to us. For this reason, almost every writing project you embark on will likely start with questions.

Another benefit of questions is that many books, essays, and other forms of writing (especially non-fiction) essentially exist to answer a question. As you read the news, articles, or other books,

★ TEACHER TIP
If using these lessons in a group, have students share the questions they identified behind a particular book or article. Discuss the way that students may articulate the book's central question differently. The purpose is not to get a "right" answer, but to notice the commonalities and themes that multiple students ask yourself, "What question does this piece answer?" For instance, a news article often answers the question: "What happened and what should I think about the ___ event?"

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 1

→ WRITE

Write 10 questions about a topic or book you're reading for Bible, History, Citizenship, Ourselves, Geography, Architecture, etc.

→ WRITE

Pick 5 non-fiction books or articles you have read this term (fiction can work too, but it is a little trickier) and write down the questions you think are behind the book or article. Explain briefly why you think the book or article is an answer to this question. There may be multiple questions an author is considering, so just pick one you think is significant.

pick up on as well as the variety of our perspectives bring to how we read and understand a book.

WEEK 7

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 27

Poetry

→ READ (10 MIN)

Reread the opening lines of Milton's Paradise Lost and then read John Dryden's take on Milton in his opening lines of "State of Innocence," starting with Act 1, Scene 1.

∞ Article Link: State of Innocence

→ WRITE

Start writing your own poetic retelling of Milton's famous poem. Include any notes about why you chose to write it the way you did.

• REFERENCE

Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 (Term 1)
History of Lit (Lesson 7)

WEEK 7

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 28

Details

→ REFLECT

In addition to choosing sensory details to immerse their readers in a scene, authors have to choose which details (sensory and other) are most relevant to their story. As you read this week, notice the details authors include in their books and consider their significance. Sometimes small details lead to big conversations and insights. For instance, Matthew includes Rahab and Ruth in his genealogy leading up to Jesus's birth (Matthew 1). Most of the names he includes just move right from one to the next, but in a few places, such as this, Matthew pauses to give a bit more detail. Why?

→ WRITE

Describe a scene from Longitude or one of your history books (use 3rd person POV). Pay attention to the details you include. Work to help your reader envision the scene by including important sensory details (bonus if you can include details that reference all five senses - sight, sound, taste, touch, and smell)! Write for the whole time.

• REFERENCE

Geography: Grades 10-11
Book: Longitude

WEEK 8

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 29

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ PRACTICE

Steering the Craft, Ch.3

Complete Exercise Three, Part Two (see the suggested subjects).

WEEK 8

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 30

Materials: Advanced Academic Writing II

Plagiarism, source integration, and quotations

→ INTRO

We do not think in a vacuum. Alan Jacobs even claims that "everything you think is a response to what someone else has thought and said" (How to Think 37). While it is natural to form our own thoughts on what others have said, writers always seek to point back to those sources whenever possible (even as you just saw in the sentence above). When writers tell readers about the people who formed their thoughts, they invite readers into a broader conversation with those authors as well, and they also exhibit humility as they acknowledge their own reliance on others.

→ READ & NARRATE

Have you heard of plagiarism? Plagiarism happens when an author uses someone else's idea without giving them credit. Plagiarism carries heavy consequences in school or academic contexts.

∞ Article Link: Plagiarism

→ ACTIVITY

Different genres of books have different ways of letting authors tell readers where to find their books, they quote or provide information about people or authors they draw on. Pull out a number of different types of books from your shelves. Where do you see authors citing or acknowledging others? Look in the front pages, in footnotes, in pages at the end, and so on. Look at some online sources as well - a news article, a longer journal article, and a blog. Summarize your findings.

→ INTRO

In academic writing, there are a few different systems for how to reference and give credit to

★ STUDENT TIP

You do not need to worry about citations for your normal narrations or personal writing. But we'll start including a few papers and projects over the next several terms, where you'll get a chance to practice more formal citation standards.

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 1

others who have influenced your writing (and so avoid plagiarism). The APA style, Chicago Style, and MLA style are the most common citation systems. Each has different benefits and allows readers quick access to different information about the authors you quote. (For instance, APA is often used in the sciences and allows you to quickly see the date a source was published. Chicago style tends to use a lot of footnotes, which include complete information. MLA (Modern Language Association) is most often used in literature and the humanities, and includes just the author's name and a page number in an essay.

→ READ

You do not have to remember all the little details of where the commas and periods go. Just get a general sense of the citation system, and remember to reference these pages when you are working on your citations in your papers.

Academic Writing II p.10-15 "Works Cited: Review"

→ PRACTICE

Pick three books you are currently reading, and write citations for them (using the Works Cited format given at the bottom of p.10). You'll likely find the information you need on the first page or two of the book. Take your citations to your teacher to review.

WEEK 8

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 31

Finding support for your statements

→ WRITE

What passages in the Ramayana (or you can use Scarlet Letter) develop your sense of what attributes and actions should mark the virtuous person? Jot down your initial thoughts, then look back at the book and read or skim sections to discover relevant passages or ideas you might have forgotten. Look for both explicit and implicit ways the author makes a point. In other words, look for ways the author conveys ideas through both "showing" and "telling."

• REFERENCE

General Literature: Grades 11-12 (Term 1)

Book: Scarlet Letter or The Ramayana

WEEK 8

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 32

Revision

→ REVISE

Go back to your descriptive scene from Lesson 28 and revise.

Big-Picture Revision

1. If you didn't type your description before, do that now so you have a digital version to edit.
2. Are there other details you've learned more recently that you'd like to add to your description? Do that now.
3. Look at your paragraphs. Are they indented and focused around one idea each (perhaps you have a paragraph focused just on sight, another on sound, etc., or perhaps you organize your paragraphs spatially and describe the immediate surroundings, the nature, the weather, etc.)? Describe the main focus of the paragraph in one sentence and consider making that the first sentence (topic sentence) of your paragraph.
4. Consider the flow of your description. Try organizing your paragraphs a few different ways and decide what you like best.

Sentence-Level Revision

1. Read your paper aloud and fix any grammar errors you hear and see.
2. Use Grammarly or another spell checker to find any other punctuation or spelling issues and fix those.
3. Give your description a title and put it at the top
4. Delete unnecessary words.
5. Look at each of your sentences (pull them out individually if that helps). Are they complete thoughts and not fragments? Do they have clear characters and actions?
6. Remove any unhelpful nominalizations.
7. For this assignment, make sure your description is consistently in 3rd person.

WEEK 9

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 33

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ

Ch.3, p.34

- Compare and contrast the ideas you're reading in Steering the Craft with what you've learned elsewhere.

→ PRACTICE

Check your writings from the last two weeks and see if your paragraphing makes sense. If there is time, Practice Being Gorgeous.

WEEK 9

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 34

Materials: Advanced Academic Writing II

Ingredients of a good introduction

→ INTRO

What are the key ingredients of a good introduction in a speech or an essay? Discuss your thoughts orally or in writing.

• EXTRA HELPINGS

Re-read Style: Basics of Clarity and Grace, Lesson 6: "Motivation"

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 1

→ REVIEW

As you refine your writing, let's revisit key ideas on Introductions from Style: The Basics of Clarity and Grace.

- Interest your readers with a provocative first sentence.
- Orient your readers to your topic with important background information
- Include the significance of your topic and the specific question your essay answers.
- End with your solution/main point/claim (your thesis, the answer to your main question).

Refer to Academic Writing II p.82, for a good example of the first three points in the first paragraph. (You do not get to the author's thesis in the introduction shown because the paper is longer and has an extended introduction.)

→ WRITE

Pick a previous writing project, and revise your introduction (your current events project could work well, but you could also pick a project from last year). It is often easier to see ways to improve your writing when you've given it a little time to rest and can look at it with fresh eyes again. Introductions are often the hardest part of an essay to write because it is not usually until you've fully fleshed out your thoughts in the middle of an essay that you know how to introduce them to your readers.

WEEK 9

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 35

Poetry

→ WRITE

Write a narrative poem telling a story from one of your history or geography books.

- Bonus Idea: Try including an epic simile!

• REFERENCE

History or Geography

WEEK 9

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 36

Plot

→ INTRO

How do authors keep you interested in a story or movie? Name as many ways as you can think of.

→ REFLECT

Reread the opening paragraphs of Ch.10 in The Scarlet Letter. What development in Chillingworth's character is described in the first paragraph? How does Nathaniel Hawthorne use this new information to move the story along? What questions or suspicions does he raise in you, the reader, with this intro?

Now look at the concluding paragraphs of Ch.10. How does Hawthorne build the suspense of the novel with the conclusion of the chapter as well?

→ READ & WRITE

Read the article on suspense and look for ways authors hold your interest and move their story forward as you continue reading The Scarlet Letter and your other books!

∞ Article Link: Building Suspense

• REFERENCE

General Literature (Lesson 11)

Book: The Scarlet Letter

WEEK 10

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 37

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ

Steering the Craft
Ch.4

→ PRACTICE

Complete Exercise Four, Part One.

WEEK 10

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 38

Ingredients of a good conclusion

→ WRITE

What are the key ingredients of a good conclusion in a speech or an essay?

→ REVIEW

From "Style: The Basics of Clarity and Grace, "a good conclusion should bring together your point, its significance, and its implications for thinking further about your problem" (Williams & Bizup 68). One way to organize a conclusion is to:

- Restate your main point/thesis.
- Explain its significance. Pretend a friend reads your essay and says, "So what?" after reading everything up until the conclusion.
- Give any implications or next steps. What other questions does your essay open up? What now?
- End with a memorable last sentence (ideally one that ties back to the opening sentence of your introduction).

• EXTRA HELPINGS

Re-read Style: Basics of Clarity and Grace, Lesson 6: "Motivation" p.68-69.

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 1

→ WRITE

Pick a previous writing project, and revise and refine your conclusion with the list above (your current events project could work well, but you could also pick a project from last year).

WEEK 10 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 39

Dialogue

→ WRITE

Make up two characters (or pick two characters from the same or different books) and write a conversation including dialogue between the two of them. Here are some options:

- Have Rama talk to Hester.
- Rewrite Adam & Eve's conversation in Book IX of Paradise Lost in modern-day English.

→ A NOTE ON DIALOGUE

What makes dialogue move forward? Professor Lowry Pei gives this insight: "When people communicate perfectly, understand each other fully, and agree on what must be done, conversation naturally ends. It is the imperfect understanding, the unfinished communication, the disagreement, the mismatch, the unfulfilled wish that keeps a dialogue going....While you're writing what the characters do say, be aware of what they don't say, but are thinking and feeling."

→ REVISE

Save a few minutes at the end of your lesson to quickly revise your work. Make sure to indent dialogue appropriately, read your writing aloud, and see if your dialogue sounds natural. Change it if it doesn't! And pay attention to dialogue in your books as you read!

• DIALOGUE

When writing dialogue, "keep your words and sentences short. Break up the speeches with the other person's questions, gestures, or thoughts. Start a new paragraph whenever the next person speaks, does something, or thinks. Short bursts of speech seem natural to the reader. Just as long speech paragraphs seem unnatural, so do long speech sentences. and so do long words" (from Writing Magic by Gail Levine).

• REFERENCE

Examples given from General Literature and Poetry Reading (Lesson 20).

WEEK 10 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 40

Revision-poetry

→ REVISE

Pick a poem you've written this term to revise. Revising poetry requires a different process than editing other types of writing. There are so few words in a poem (compared to a whole book or essay), that it makes each word even more important.

1. Type your poem if you haven't already.
2. Revisit the rules of your poem's form (sonnet, sestina, ballad, etc.)
3. Read it aloud.
4. Does your poem follow the rules of its form? (Rhyme, meter, line count, etc.) If you are breaking any of the rules, decide if you are breaking them for a reason to make a point, or if you need to find a different word or phrase to fit the rhyme scheme or meter. (Note: If you choose to break a rule, add a note about why this is important for your poem.)
5. Think about the flow of the ideas and images in your poem. Is there a better way to organize them?
6. Imagery and metaphor are important in nearly all poems. What images and comparisons does your poem use, and are there any others that might capture the image or idea even better?
7. Read your poem aloud again and look for any grammar or spelling errors to fix. Use Grammarly or another spell checker to assist you.
8. Jot down a few of the things you want your reader to walk away thinking or feeling after hearing your poem. Go read your poem aloud to someone (or two!) and ask them what their initial impressions are. If they are completely different than what you intended, consider what you might want to alter so that your purpose comes through more clearly.

WEEK 11 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 41

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ

Ch.4, p.42

→ NARRATE

Think over the books you are reading; give some examples of repetition, foreshadowing, and echoing (or patterns in the events of life from nonfiction). Tell your teacher what you noticed.

→ PRACTICE

Complete Exercise Four, Part Two.

WEEK 11 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 42

Materials: Advanced Academic Writing II

MLA Paper Formatting

→ RECAP

What are citation systems? What is plagiarism? How do you avoid it? Discuss your answers orally or in writing.

→ INTRO

The MLA style of citation gives more guidelines on how to cite an author you are quoting. MLA, Chicago, and other citation systems also standardize how a paper looks. This is important because if a teacher tells students to write a two-page paper, and one student turns in a paper in 8pt font and another student makes their font size 14, the length of those two papers is quite different. You will continue to learn the MLA way to format papers, but know that different teachers have slightly different standards, and you will want to ask professors for their preferred style and guidelines in any classes you take.

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 1

→ READ

Advanced Academic Writing II p.8-9

→ PRACTICE

Pick a narration or previous writing project and work on formatting it according to the MLA guidelines outlined in Advanced Academic Writing II. (Choose a narration based on a book, rather than a current events reflection, as books are much easier to cite.) Additionally, papers are usually required to be in Times New Roman font size 12, so turn your paper to that font and size as well.

→ REVIEW (IF NEEDED)

Academic Writing II p.10-15 "Works Cited: Review"

→ NOTE

Microsoft Word is the best program for formatting papers, but other programs are also possible. If you do not know how to adjust the spacing in your program, look up how to do it online. For instance, you might google "how to adjust spacing in Microsoft Word." Also, you may notice in the Works Cited examples on p.9 that the second line of a citation is indented. These are called hanging indents, and they are used exclusively in Bibliographies and Works Cited entries.
∞ Link: Hanging Indent

WEEK 11 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 43

Technology

→ CREATE/ WRITE

Technology and writing are so intertwined nowadays. Experiment with the two by picking one of the options below:

- Design a poster inspired by something you read.
- Write a narration in the style of a blog post.
- Create a website about something you read about recently (see the extra helpings page for a Wix resource).
- Make a PowerPoint/ Google Slides to accompany a narration you wrote, and give a presentation using your PowerPoint/Google Slides to friends or family.

→ REVIEW (OPTIONAL)

∞ Article Link: Rules for PowerPoints

• EXTRA HELPINGS

Resource for students interested in web design.

∞ Resource Link: Wix for Tomorrow

WEEK 11 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 44

Essay

→ WRITE

Develop your thoughts from the lesson. What are the different meanings of the chapter title, "A Flood of Sunshine"? How does the imagery in the chapter support this idea?

OR

Whose view of sin and repentance is right, Hester's or Dimmsdale's? (First, describe each of their perspectives on sin and repentance.)

• REFERENCE

General Lit (Lesson 19)
Book: The Scarlet Letter, Reflection Questions

WEEK 12 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 45

Exam Week

→ EXAMS

Answer question(s) related to the course.

Questions will come from:
Steering the Craft

WEEK 12 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 46

Exam Week

→ EXAMS

Answer question(s) related to the course.

Questions will come from:
Composition Lessons

WEEK 12 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 47

Exam Week

→ EXAMS

Answer question(s) related to the course.

Questions will come from:
Composition Lessons

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 1
WEEK 12 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 48 Exam Week → EXAMS Answer question(s) related to the course. Questions will come from: Composition Lessons

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 2

WEEK 1

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 49

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ

Read through the whole chapter, exercise, and critique inclusively. Ch.5

→ PRACTICE

Complete Exercise 5.

★ TEACHER/STUDENT NOTE
Note that Chapter 5 discusses instances of language in fictional writing.

WEEK 1

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 50

Reflection

→ WRITE

Write down questions you have about writing. Where do you think you have improved? Where do you think you need to grow? What about writing is the most fun, most confusing, easiest, or hardest? Discuss with your teacher.

WEEK 1

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 51

Essay

→ WRITE

Write about a current event (it could be a very local one, like the weather in your town) as though you are a reporter for a newspaper. Show your sources by linking to other articles you've read as you refer to them in your piece.

Think back to your question-asking assignment. What is the central question you want to answer in your article? Include this question somewhere in your piece (consider even using it as a title).

• REFERENCE
Current Events

WEEK 1

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 52

Materials: Advanced Academic Writing II

Editing

→ REVISE

Take your current event report from Lesson 51 and revise it. Work in this order:

1. Global revisions (structure, transitions, content to add or change)
2. Sentence-level revisions
3. Formatting revisions

For this project, follow these formatting guidelines (adapted from Advanced Academic Writing II p.8-9. See sample paper on p.9 for a visual):

- Set your font to Times New Roman, size 12.
- Set a one-inch margin on all four sides.
- Set all text to double-spaced.
- Indent all paragraphs.
- Left-justify the text (usually the default).
- Put your name, your teacher's name, the course name (Composition: Grade 11), and the date on separate lines at the beginning of your paper.
- Center the title of your paper (come up with one if you haven't yet).
- Instead of in-text citations, link to the article you are referencing directly in your paper.

★ STUDENT NOTE
Depending on whether you like details, revision lessons are probably either your favorite or least favorite type of writing lesson. This is 100% normal. Most writers like some aspects of writing more (or less) than others. For instance, some famous authors, including Jane Austen, Albert Einstein, and Winston Churchill, struggled with spelling and grammar!

WEEK 2

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 53

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ RE-READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.5

- Tell your teacher about the exercise from last week and what you learned about the sparing use of adjectives and adverbs. How did leaving them out improve your use of verbs?

→ PRACTICE

Repeat Exercise 5.

★ STUDENT TIP
Continue to exercise your skills from last term. Pay attention to logical fallacies you see or read.

WEEK 2

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 54

Story

→ WRITE

Tell a story using some of the techniques you've learned in Steering the Craft. You can make up a story, tell a story about an experience you had, or retell a story from one of your books.

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 2

WEEK 2

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 55

Outline

→ WRITE

Continue outlining Jonathan Edwards' Sermon from History of Lit. If you finished one of the sermons, begin outlining the second and compare them to each other.

∞ PDF Link: History of Lit PDF "Structure & Delivery of Puritan Sermon" p.48-49 (Reference as needed) and "Sinners in the Hands of an Angry God" p.50-74

OR

∞ PDF Link: Love, the Sum of All Virtues

• REFERENCE

History of Lit (Lesson 14)

WEEK 2

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 56

Questions

→ INTRO

You know good questions are important for all kinds of growth. Here are some questions that are particularly interesting to think about when pondering narrative-type books:

Themes & Characters

- What are the central ideas of the book? How are they developed throughout?
- What insights into human nature does the book offer? What is the book and the author's vision of a "good" life?
- Who are the main characters, and how do they change over the story? What are their motivations?
- How do the characters interact with each other? How do their relationships develop?

Structure & Literary Connections

- What is the narrative structure of the book? What is its genre? Is the story told chronologically, or does it use flashbacks or multiple timelines? What are the major conflicts in the book? Are they resolved?
- What literary devices does the author use? How do metaphors, similes, and other figures of speech show up in the narrative? Are there any notable uses of symbolism or irony?
- What is the author's writing style? How does the choice of language, tone, and narrative voice contribute to the book's overall impact?
- What is the point of view of the narrative? How does the point of view influence the reader's perception of the story? Does the narrator's perspective color the events in a particular way?
- What is the significance of the book's title?

Setting, Reception & History

- How does the book's setting influence the story?
- What historical, social, or cultural contexts are important to understanding the book? How does the author respond to or reflect on these contexts?
- What was the original audience for the book? What was the book's impact on its readers? How have different audiences or critics interpreted the book? Has the book's reception changed over time?

Personal Impact

- How did the book affect you personally? Did you relate to any of the characters or situations? How did it change your perspective or understanding of the world?
- What lingering questions do you have after finishing the book? Are there any ambiguities or unresolved issues that provoke further thought?
- What other books or ideas connect to this one?

→ WRITE

Pick a book from last term or this one (a narrative, not non-fiction), pick a few of the questions above that you find most interesting, and write your thoughts. Look back at the book, write down more questions that come to mind, and continue jotting down your thoughts.

★ STUDENT TIP

As you read this week, don't forget to notice details. How does each author immerse you in a place or situation?

With extra time, copy 4-8 questions from the list that you particularly want to remember.

WEEK 3

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 57

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ

Ch.6, p.47-54

→ WRITE

Think over (or check if needed) the person of the verb and the tense of the verb for some of your readings this term. Try to find different examples and make a list of the books with the person & tense used.

WEEK 3

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 58

Technology

→ CREATE

Design a bookmark to remind you of questions to keep in mind as you read (choose a few from Lesson 52 or others you come up with yourself).

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 2

- Feel free to first sketch a design by hand. Then use Canva or another design software to finish and print your bookmarks.

WEEK 3

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 59 Revision

→ REVISE

Pick a previous narration that is at least two paragraphs long to revise and rewrite.

Big-Picture Revision

1. If you have not already typed your narration, do that now so you have a digital version to edit.
2. Are there other ideas you've had more recently that you'd like to add to your narration? Do that now.
3. Look at your paragraphs. Are they indented and focused around one idea each? Describe that main idea in one sentence and consider making that the first sentence of your paragraph.
4. Try moving your paragraphs around in a different order. What order do you think might make the most sense to someone reading your words?

Sentence-Level Revision

1. Read your narration aloud and fix any grammar or spelling errors you hear or see.
2. Use Grammarly or another spell checker to find any other punctuation or spelling issues and fix those.
3. Look for wordiness. Are there any unnecessary words? Do you have any sentences that are very long that you could make into two shorter sentences? Long sentences have their place, but usually, shorter sentences are clearer.
4. Make the main characters the subjects of sentences.
5. Make important action verbs.
6. How well do your sentences flow? Put old information before new information in your sentences.

- Share your revised narration with someone.

★ STUDENT TIP

Remember the way that an essay or even just an individual paragraph is also an answer to a question. When you identify one larger question, the answer to that question becomes your thesis. Then, smaller questions that help you answer the larger question can become the focus of each paragraph of an essay.

Whenever you are working to revise your writing and organize your thoughts, particularly if it is in an essay format, ask yourself, "What questions am I answering in this paragraph?" "What is the main question my whole essay or article is answering?"

WEEK 3

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 60 Tone/Imitation

→ WRITE

Have you noticed any mannerisms in the authors you've read this year (in school or on your own time)? Try writing (or re-writing) a narration the way one of your favorite authors would. When you're done, read your narration aloud to someone else and see if they can guess the author you're imitating!

OR

Write your own spiritual biography.

• REFERENCE

History of Lit (Lesson 15)

WEEK 4

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 61

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ

Ch.6, p.54-58

→ PRACTICE

Complete Exercise 6, Version 1.

WEEK 4

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 62 Compare & Contrast

→ WRITE

Claudio and Hero are foils to Benedick and Beatrice, which means that readers can learn about each of them by seeing how they contrast with each other. Explain how the couples are different (include specific lines from the play to show the contrast).

Write in 3rd person.

→ REVIEW

- After you finish comparing and contrasting the two couples, write a thesis that sums up your analysis and put it at the beginning of your assignment.
- Read your writing aloud and fix any spelling or grammar errors you find.

Tip: If you're struggling to keep your writing in the 3rd person. Take out any times that you accidentally added an "I think" in your sentences to keep your writing from slipping into a 1st person point of view. The sentence will usually become a 3rd person POV sentence automatically if you simply delete the phrase "I think" from the beginning.

• REFERENCE

Plays/Shakespeare (Term 2)

Book: Much Ado About Nothing

WEEK 4

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 63 Poetry

→ WRITE

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 2

Write or rewrite a narration as a poem.

WEEK 4 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 64

Technology-PowerPoint/Google Slides

→ VIEW, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

∞ Video Link: Data Visualization

→ CREATE

Keep the ideas from the lecture you heard in mind, and begin creating PowerPoint using one of the options below. You'll have another lesson to revise and finish your work.

- Three favorite things you've learned so far this year (and why they're your favorite)
- Why [Book] is your favorite
- How a science lab you did worked/the process of the lab, and the results
- Introduce 3 significant historical characters or events all happening at the same time in the world
- A different way to visualize some data based on the lecture you heard!

Have fun experimenting!

WEEK 5 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 65

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.6

→ PRACTICE

Complete Exercise 6, Version 2

WEEK 5 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 66

Travel Writing

→ WRITE

Think back on some travels (short or long, near or far) that you took and write your own travel account. Think about the descriptions you include. Can you make your account vivid and memorable for your readers?

• REFERENCE

History of Lit (Lesson 17)

Book: Travel Writings (students do not need to have completed this lesson to use the prompt)

WEEK 5 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 67

Editing

→ REVISE

Work on revising your PowerPoint from Lesson 64. Check for spelling, add any new ideas, revisit the rules for PowerPoint, etc.

→ PRESENT

Plan a time to talk through your presentation with a live audience.

WEEK 5 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 68

Essay

→ DISCUSS

Remember that satire "mocks vice (wickedness) and folly (foolishness) in order to correct both" (Karen Swallow Prior in her introduction to Sense & Sensibility). What aspects of British culture does Jonathan Swift make fun of? Give one or two examples.

→ REFLECT & WRITE

What are aspects of our culture today that you think need reform? Jot down any ideas you have for how you could write a satirical scene showing the ridiculousness of something today. (Note: it's easy to poke fun at things in a mean way; try to think of ways you could show the problem for what it is without meanness.)

• REFERENCE

General Lit (Term 2, Weeks 1-5)

Book: Gulliver's Travels

WEEK 6 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 69

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ

Ch.7, p.61-69

→ PRACTICE

Complete the "Further Reading" activity.

Term 2

WEEK 6

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 70

Materials: Advanced Academic Writing II

Essay-genre analysis

→ READ

Dating back to Aristotle, many authors and playwrights visualize the shape of a story or play in five parts. Read about or review this 5-part structure, then think (and look) back over what you've read in Much Ado About Nothing. Is the play following this general arc? Where would you identify the introduction, rising action, and climax? Explain.

∞ Article Link: Five-Act Structure

∞ Article Link: Five-Act Opt. 2

→ WRITE

For today, write your initial thoughts on the question above and where you see the various aspects of a five-act structure in Taming of the Shrew. Then go to the actual play and re-read relevant scenes. Look for lines that demonstrate this arc (or push back against the idea) and collect them in a document (make sure to gather the references for them as well - see Academic Writing II p.72-73 for examples of how to cite Shakespeare).

• REFERENCE

Plays/Shakespeare (Lesson 18)

Book: Much Ado About Nothing

WEEK 6

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 71

Essay - Shakespeare

→ WRITE

Remember when you learned that many pieces of writing are focused on a question? Notice how your entire piece today is focused on the question, "Is the play following the general 5-part structure arc of a play?" That is your large question. Then notice the smaller questions that will help you answer that larger one: Where do you identify the introduction, rising action, and climax? You'll have another lesson time to work on this essay. There are many ways you could proceed, but here is one possibility (a classic five-paragraph essay):

- Introduction: Introduce the main question and write your answer in one sentence (your thesis).
- Paragraph: Where/do you see the standard features of an "introduction" in Much Ado About Nothing?
- Paragraph: Where/do you see the standard features of "rising action"?
- Paragraph: Where/do you see the standard features of a "climax"?
- Conclusion: Summarize your main points and give any additional thoughts about how the assignment helped you understand the play better, any additional questions you have, etc.

Your final essay should be about 2 pages long (double-spaced in 12-point Times New Roman font), which means you'll want to write 2-3 body paragraphs proving your thesis, along with an introduction and a conclusion.

Spend the time today drafting your thesis and gathering the evidence you gathered in the last lesson into paragraphs and an argument.

Remember that you'll have another lesson to revise and finish your essay.

• REFERENCE

Plays/Shakespeare (Lesson 18)

Book: Taming of the Shrew

WEEK 6

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 72

Poetry

→ WRITE

Try writing a poem about one of your readings (or rewrite a narration) in dactylic hexameter (Longfellow's meter).

• REFERENCE

Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 (Term 2)

Book: Hiawatha or The Courtship of Miles Standish

WEEK 7

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 73

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ

Ch.7, p.70-71

→ PRACTICE

Complete Exercise 7, Part 1.

WEEK 7

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 74

Poetry - Comparison

→ REVIEW

What do you remember about found poetry?

→ WRITE

Create a found poem out of at least two different sources today. You could use two closely related sources, such as two different captivity narratives, travel memoirs, or diaries that you've read in History of Lit. Or you could pick two sources that contrast in some way (a captivity narrative and Celebrated Cases of Judge Dee, for instance, or a Bible passage and something in Architecture).

- Choose your two different specific passages (keep them short).

Term 2

- Brainstorm why you think each source is interesting.
- Jot down similarities and differences between them.
- Jot down any new thoughts or questions you have because of the comparison.
- Highlight words or phrases in each of your selections that you like and that seem important to the passages.
- Put those words and phrases into a separate document or sheet of paper.
- Start building your poem. Here you will have to decide the form and direction of your poem. You could write a stanza of your poem using one source and then a second using the other source, and then conclude it with a third stanza reflecting poetically on their similarities or differences and the new questions you have by putting them together. The main question to ask yourself is: "Why is it interesting to consider these two different sources together in the same poem?" Maybe they highlight the variety of things composed during the same time period. Or the way that people's experiences have similarities across time and space. Maybe they just raise questions for you.
- Keep writing your poem until the end of the lesson. You can use a revision lesson later in the term (or spend your own time) to refine your poem further if interested.

WEEK 7

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 75

Materials: Advanced Academic Writing II

Revision

→ REVISE

Now that your Shakespeare paper (Lesson 70-71) has rested, revise it with fresh eyes.

Work through the following levels of revision. Look back at previous revision lessons if you need to review specific steps for each of the first two levels of revision.

1. Global revisions (structure, transitions, content to add or change)
2. Sentence-level revisions
3. Formatting revisions

For this project, follow these formatting guidelines (adapted from Advanced Academic Writing II p.8-9. See the sample paper on p.9 for a visual.)

- Set your font to Times New Roman, size 12.
- Set a one-inch margin on all four sides.
- Set all text to double-spaced.
- Indent all paragraphs.
- Left-justify the text (usually the default).
- Put your name, your teacher's name, the course name (Composition: Grade 11), and the date on separate lines at the beginning of your paper.
- Center the title of your paper (come up with one if you haven't yet).
- See Academic Writing II p.72-73, for examples of how to cite Shakespeare.

WEEK 7

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 76

Scene writing/ dialogue

→ INTRO

It's hard to get dialogue in a book to sound natural. Read these thoughts on writing dialogue.
∞ Article Link: Thoughts on Dialogue (stop at "other than stage direction.")

→ WRITE

Write a scene for a play from The Sand Reckoner, Jonathan Edwards' Bio, a Bible passage, Chasing Venus/The Race to Save the Lord God Bird, or another reading. Don't forget the instructions for the stage setup and any props! Feel free to look back at a Shakespeare play to remind yourself how to format/write a scene.

• REFERENCE

Ancient History: Grades 10-12
Church History: Grades 10-12
Geography: Grades 10-11
Bible

WEEK 8

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 77

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ

Ch.7

→ PRACTICE

Complete Exercise 7, Part 2.

WEEK 8

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 78

Questions

→ WRITE

Pick a non-fiction book and a fiction book from this term, and write at least 10 questions about each. Think about the way different books lend themselves to different questions.

→ REVISE

With any extra time, pick a narration from the last week or two to edit and revise.

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 2

WEEK 8

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 79

Poetic Meditation

→ RESEARCH & WRITE

Over the next two lessons, you'll create a poetic paraphrase and meditation on a psalm.

Today:

- Pick a psalm that you either love or don't know much about and want to know better.
- Read it in at least 3 different translations (and if you're learning another language, try reading the psalm in that language as well).
- Underline phrases or words that strike you, images you notice, connections to other psalms or passages, etc.
- Decide on a poetic form (such as a sonnet) and/or rhyme/meter you'd like to use (you can change this later if desired).
- Practice writing a few lines in the meter you're hoping to use.
- Start writing your paraphrase and meditation on your psalm.

→ NOTE

Aim to choose a psalm that is somewhere between 10-30 verses. Or you could try two shorter psalms. You could also just pick a few stanzas of a longer psalm, like Psalm 119. (An idea: You could paraphrase a few stanzas of Psalm 119 and keep its acrostic pattern!)

WEEK 8

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 80

Poetic Meditation

→ WRITE & REVISE

- Continue your poetic paraphrase and meditation on your chosen psalm. When you are finished, look back over your poem.
- Read it aloud and circle or underline any words or phrases that don't flow or sound quite right. Revise.
- Share your poem with someone else and ask for feedback.
- If you have time left in the lesson (or on your own time), consider any illustrations you might want to add.

WEEK 9

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 81

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ

Ch.7

→ PRACTICE

Complete Exercise 7, Part 3.

WEEK 9

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 82

Outline & Comparison/Opinion

→ WRITE

Compare and contrast the Declaration of Independence with the Declaration of the Rights of Man. Jot down a list of similarities and a list of differences.

∞ Article Link: Declaration of the Rights of Man

∞ Article Link: Declaration of Independence

OR

Write an essay building on your discussion about Voltaire in History of Lit, Lesson 42.

- Do you find yourself agreeing or disagreeing with Voltaire?
- What does it mean to be intolerant or tolerant of others?
- What realities is Voltaire reacting against?
- What is his solution? Do you think it is possible to have laws that are "tolerant" of everyone?

• REFERENCE

General Lit (Lesson 40, 42)

WEEK 9

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 83

Outline/Dialogue

→ WRITE

Continue adding to your thoughts from the last lesson.

OR

Write a dialogue or scene between two characters from different books.

WEEK 9

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 84

Editing

→ REVISE

Revise your found poem from two sources (Lesson 74) or another poem from this term.

1. Revisit the rules of the form you're using (if applicable).
2. Read your poem aloud. Are there any grammar or spelling errors to fix?
3. Does your poem follow the rules of its form? (Rhyme, meter, etc.) If you are breaking any of the rules, decide if you are breaking them for a reason to make a point, or if you need to work on finding a different word to fit the rhyme scheme or meter.

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 2

4. Re-read the works your poem is based on. Is there anything you didn't get into the poem the first time that you want to add? Delete?
5. Think about the flow of the ideas and images in your poem. Is there a better way to organize them? Does your poem have a logical flow?
6. Imagery and metaphor are important in nearly all poems. What images and comparisons does your poem use, and are there any others that might capture an image or idea even more vividly? Think of at least two other images or comparisons you could use and try them out. Decide which is best and keep that.
7. Jot down a few things you want your reader to walk away thinking or feeling after hearing your poem. Go read your poem aloud to someone (or two!) and ask them what their initial impressions are. If they are completely different than what you intended, consider what you might want to alter so that your purpose comes through more clearly.

WEEK 10 ■ 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 85

■ Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ
Ch.7

→ PRACTICE
Complete Exercise 7, Part 4.

WEEK 10 ■ 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 86

Diagram/Infographic

→ CREATE
Sketch or create a diagram online showing the process of something from beginning to end. You could illustrate a science lab, how to bake cookies, or anything else. Think about how to communicate your flow of ideas visually.

WEEK 10 ■ 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 87

Compare & Contrast

→ WRITE
Pick two or three different aspects to compare and contrast in a few of these different worlds: Archimedes' world, British North America, Indigenous North America, 17th-18th century Europe, or 17th century Korea. You will have three lessons total to work on your comparison and contrast.

Today, spend time brainstorming some contrasts you want to focus on. Write down any ideas that immediately come to mind, then look back at your books, take notes, write down quotes, and enjoy researching!

Remember that "research" literally means "re-search," as in "search again." Don't just settle for the initial impressions that come to your mind - go look for more contrasts and comparisons, and look for specific quotes to back up and use as evidence for the ideas you have at first (or quotes which challenge your ideas!).

Ideas for possible contrasts:
- Economics, political structure, view of writing, family customs, religion, etc.

• REFERENCE
History Topics

WEEK 10 ■ 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 88

■ Materials: Advanced Academic Writing II

Compare & Contrast

→ WRITE
Continue your compare and contrast project from the last lesson. Focus on pulling your ideas together and writing today. Your paper should be 2-3 pages long (double-spaced in Times New Roman font 12), so you'll probably want to have at least 3 body paragraphs.

Everyone has to find their own process for writing, but often it is best to draft your thesis, write your main body paragraphs showing your comparisons and contrasts, and then finish by writing your introduction and conclusion.

If you get stuck writing, take a break for a few minutes and look up the information you'll need for your Works Cited page. Refer to p.10ff. in Advanced Academic Writing II, for examples of a Works Cited entry. Remember: you'll need works cited entries for all books you either quote or paraphrase.

• REFERENCE
Ancient History: Grades 10-12
+ all history topics.
Book: The World David Knew

WEEK 11 ■ 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 89

■ Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS
Ch.7, p.73-86

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 2

WEEK 11 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 90

→ WRITE

Write or rewrite a narration and work to incorporate some of the things you've learned from Steering the Craft this term. At the end of your writing assignment, give a few sentences explaining which ideas from Steering the Craft you incorporated and where.

WEEK 11 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 91

Catch Up Day

→ CATCH UP

Use this time to catch up on lessons in this or another course, or explore Extra Helpings.

WEEK 11 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 92

Materials: Advanced Academic Writing II

Revision

→ REVISE

As you revise your comparison and contrast paper from Lessons 87-88, envision someone reading your paper who is somewhat familiar with your topic but hasn't read your books. Try to see your paper through their eyes, and think of what they might need to know to understand what you've written. For some, this revision process is their favorite part, and you love making your paper look sleek and smooth. For others, it seems tedious. Either way, remember that this is a way to be kind to your reader and to stretch yourself.

Big-Picture/Global Revision

1. Are there other ideas you've had more recently that you'd like to add to your current events essay? Do that now.
2. Revise your thesis now that you have written the rest of your essay. Is it clear and concise?
3. Does your introduction include the main question and topic you are trying to address in your essay?
4. Look at your paragraphs. Are they indented and focused around one idea each? Describe that main idea in one sentence and consider making that the first sentence of your paragraph.
5. Do your paragraphs flow well? Experiment with moving your key comparisons/contrasts in a different order. Which makes the most sense?
6. Does each of your paragraphs tie back to your thesis?

Sentence-Level Revision

1. Read your paper aloud and fix any grammar errors you hear and see.
2. Use Grammarly or another spell checker to find any other punctuation or spelling issues and fix those.
3. Give your essay a title.
4. Make the main characters the subjects of sentences and important action verbs where possible.
5. How well do your sentences flow? Put old information before new information in your sentences.
6. Delete unnecessary words and change negatives to affirmatives.
7. Make sure your sentences are complete, not fragments.
8. Make sure your essay is consistently in 3rd person.

Formatting Revisions

1. For this project, follow the formatting guidelines in Advanced Academic Writing II p.8-9.
2. Set your font to Times New Roman, size 12.
3. Be sure to add your Works Cited page as a separate page after your essay, and format it with hanging indents. Remember, you can look up anything online if you've forgotten how to double space your paper, etc.

→ REFERENCE

Advanced Academic Writing II p.16-39, includes some helpful information on common grammar and usage mistakes.

• CONCISION NOTE

Remember the 6 rules of

Concision from Style: Basics of Clarity and Grace:

1. Delete words that mean little or nothing.
2. Delete words that repeat the meaning of other words.
3. Delete words implied by other words.
4. Replace a phrase with a word.
5. Change negatives to affirmatives.
6. Delete useless adjectives and adverbs.

WEEK 12 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 93

Exam Week

→ EXAMS

Answer question(s) related to the course.

Questions will come from:
Steering the Craft

WEEK 12 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 94

Exam Week

→ EXAMS

Answer question(s) related to the course.

Questions will come from:
Composition Lessons

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 2
WEEK 12 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 95 Exam Week → EXAMS Answer question(s) related to the course. Questions will come from: Composition Lessons
WEEK 12 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 96 Exam Week → EXAMS Answer question(s) related to the course. Questions will come from: Composition Lessons

Language Study: Grade 11

Term 3

WEEK 1	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 97 Materials: Steering the Craft → PRACTICE Ch.7 p.75 Complete Exercise 7 (NOT) Optional Additions; choose one.
WEEK 1	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 98 Materials: Communicating with Grace and Virtue → READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS Introduction
WEEK 1	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 99 → WRITE Pick one or two specific passages or verses from your Bible reading in the gospels. Look up the same passage in at least three different translations of the Bible. Then write an essay comparing and contrasting the different translations. Explain the different imagery and how the emphases come out differently. Biblegateway.com is a good online resource to use to compare translations if you do not have three different physical translations in your house. OR Compare and contrast the beginnings of the Iliad, Odyssey, and Paradise Lost. Think about the fact that Milton claimed he was writing a more "epic" epic than Homer. ∞ PDF Link: Iliad Selections PDF	• REFERENCE New Testament Book: NIV Cultural Backgrounds Study Bible, any other translations you like! Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 (Term 1 & Term 3) Book: Paradise Lost, The Odyssey
WEEK 1	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 100 Essay → WRITE What are some big ideas or themes that you have seen consistently across your readings in Turning Points and/or Jonathan Edwards' bio for Church history?	• REFERENCE Church History: Grades 10-12 Book: Turning Points/Jonathan Edwards' Bio
WEEK 2	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 101 Materials: Steering the Craft → PRACTICE Ch.1, p.8 Practice Being Gorgeous.
WEEK 2	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 102 Materials: Communicating with Grace and Virtue → NOTE Each chapter has several sidebars and text boxes with extra material relevant to the topic but should be read after each section. Read the main text first, then skim back over the extra information to see if you want to read it. → READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS Ch.1
WEEK 2	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 103 Scene Writing → WRITE Write a section from Sense & Sensibility, Tale of Two Cities, The Odyssey (or another book of your choice) as a short play. You'll have two lesson periods to focus on this. Today, focus on sketching out the big picture. How many scenes will you include? (Remember, scenes can be short.) What will you focus on in each scene? What extra characters will you invent? Look at one of Shakespeare's plays or another play you've read to remind yourself how to format your writing. Once you have a general idea of how you want your play to go (of course, you'll tweak things as you go), start writing! Here is one example of how someone else turned part of Pride & Prejudice into a play. ∞ PDF Link: Scenes by Pertwee	• REFERENCE General Lit (Term 3) Book: Sense & Sensibility or Tale of Two Cities Poetry Reading (Term 3) Book: The Odyssey
WEEK 2	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 104 Editing → WRITE & REVISE Continue writing your play. Save at least 10 minutes at the end to review and edit. 1. Check punctuation, grammar, and spelling with your own eyes and a spell checker. 2. Read your dialogue aloud and revise. Does it sound natural? Remember that we tend to speak

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 3

- in shorter sentences and fragments.
3. Add instructions for props as desired.
4. Make sure you indicate the setting for each scene (i.e., the front yard of a house, a boat, etc.)
5. Write a summary of each scene (if you have multiple), describing what happens in it.
6. Make a plan to have some friends perform your play!

WEEK 3

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 105

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ
Ch.8

→ PRACTICE
Complete Exercise 8, Part 1.

WEEK 3

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 106

Materials: Communicating with Grace and Virtue

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS
Ch.2

WEEK 3

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 107

Description

→ WRITE
What have you noticed about Dickens' style? Try describing something the way he might.

• REFERENCE
General Literature: Grades 11-12 (Lesson 53)

WEEK 3

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 108

Technology/visual

→ CREATE
Make a poster, infographic, a mind map, or any other sort of visual from your reading that you'd like to see another way. Use one of the ideas below or come up with your own. Draw or model it in 3-D by hand if desired first and if there is time left, try creating it with Canva.

- Events in Jesus' life from your reading in the gospels.
- Character map from Sense & Sensibility, Shakespeare, or another reading!
- Something from Science.
- Connections between different books you've read this year.
- Structure of Colossians.
- Something from History or Geography.

WEEK 4

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 109

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ
Ch.8, p.90-93

→ PRACTICE
Complete Exercise 8, Part 2.

WEEK 4

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 110

Materials: Communicating with Grace and Virtue

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS
Ch.3

WEEK 4

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 111

Point of View

→ INTRO
You've learned the basic concepts of point of view, but there are variations within the main categories!

→ READ & DISCUSS
∞ Article Link: Free Indirect Discourse

→ STUDY & WRITE
Look over a section in Sense & Sensibility and see if you can identify which character Jane Austen is giving us a window into at that point. Then try rewriting the section, but giving insight into a different character's thoughts.

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 3

WEEK 4	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 112 Style → WRITE Write about something you've read, experienced, or imagined in the style of another author (living or dead). Read your work to someone and see if they can guess the author you're trying to imitate!	• REFERENCE History
WEEK 5	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 113 Materials: Steering the Craft → READ Ch.9, p.94-100 → PRACTICE Complete Exercise 9, Part 1.
WEEK 5	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 114 Materials: Communicating with Grace and Virtue → READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS Ch.4
WEEK 5	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 115 Character Sketch → WRITE Write a character sketch of Cato or Hal in Henry IV based on Shakespeare's depiction of him so far. Who is he, and what are some of his key motivations and characteristics? Use examples from the play to show your thoughts. OR Write an essay on hospitality in the Odyssey so far. Give specific examples (and the line numbers) from the story to show your point.	• REFERENCE Plays: Grades 9-12/Shakespeare (Lesson 29) Book: Cato or Henry IV Part 1 OR Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 (Lesson 55)
WEEK 5	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 116 Outline → WRITE Outline a couple of the chapters you have read so far in Turning Points (Church History) or one of your Citizenship readings. Remember, an outline is just a list of the key points from each chapter. It is often done in a bullet-point format.	• REFERENCE Church History Book: Turning Points OR Citizenship
WEEK 6	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 117 Materials: Steering the Craft → READ Ch.9, p.100-111 → PRACTICE Complete Exercise Nine, Part 2.
WEEK 6	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 118 Materials: Communicating with Grace and Virtue → READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS Ch.5 (1/2)
WEEK 6	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 119 Editing → REVISE Pick a previous narration that is at least two paragraphs long to revise and rewrite. Follow your typical process and work through big-picture revisions and sentence-level revisions. Then format your narration in MLA format. Share your revised narration with someone.
WEEK 6	40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 120 PowerPoint/ Google Slides OR Poetry → CREATE Make a PowerPoint to accompany a previous narration or writing assignment.	★ STUDENT TIP Don't forget! ∞ Article Link: Rules for Powerpoints

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 3

OR
Write or rewrite a narration as a poem.

→ SHARE
Share your work with someone!

WEEK 7 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 121

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ
Ch.9

→ PRACTICE
Complete Exercise Nine, Part 3.

WEEK 7 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 122

Materials: Communicating with Grace and Virtue

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS
Ch.5 (1/2)

WEEK 7 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 123

Literary Analysis

→ WRITE
Pick a commonplace book quote and describe why you like it.

Then write at least 10 questions about the quote and how it relates to the book it's from, other books you've read, the historical setting, wider themes in the book, or more.

WEEK 7 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 124

Sentence Structure

→ READ & REFLECT
Learn about how Jane Austen uses sentence structure, and then look at Pride & Prejudice and a few other books. Jot down your findings. Can you see any patterns in how the characters talk in Pride & Prejudice? How would you describe the sentence style of other writers you look at? Do they tend to write long or short sentences? Use a lot of descriptive words? Notice any other examples of dialogue. Continue paying attention to sentence structure as you read.
∞ Article Link: Sentence Structure

→ WRITE
With the remaining time, write a dialogue between two characters and try to show what they are like through your sentence structure.

WEEK 8 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 125

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ
Ch.9, p.113-116

→ PRACTICE
Complete Exercise Nine, (NOT) Optional Exercises; choose one.

WEEK 8 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 126

Materials: Communicating with Grace and Virtue

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS
Ch.6 (1/2)

WEEK 8 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 127

Essay - Characterization

→ WRITE
Do you think Odysseus changes after his misadventures? Give reasons from your reading and cite line numbers.

• REFERENCE
Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12
(Lesson 63)
Book: The Odyssey

WEEK 8 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 128

Choosing a Topic

→ RESEARCH
Look back over several of your writing assignments, questions you've generated, or narrations for the term, and pick one you'd like to expand into an essay. Your essay will be about 2-3 pages long, like the others you've written.

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 3

To choose a topic, ask yourself, "What question am I interested in exploring more?" and "What question can I answer in a few paragraphs?" You could pick a commonplace book reflection, your reflection on reason and will, your character sketch of Hal or Odysseus, or something from your science readings and lab work, etc.

After you think you have an idea of what you'd like to write about, look back at your books to jot down specific ideas you might want to include, relevant quotes, etc.

Make sure you end up with a specific question you want to answer in your essay. This is your guiding star.

WEEK 9

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 129

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ PRACTICE

Choose an exercise from any previous chapters to repeat.

WEEK 9

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 130

Materials: Communicating with Grace and Virtue

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.6 (1/2)

WEEK 9

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 131

Essay

→ WRITE

Continue writing your essay that you started in Lesson 128.

WEEK 9

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 132

Editing

→ WRITE & REVISE

Continue writing your essay (from Lesson 128 and 131) and spend time revising it. Work through big picture, sentence-level, and formatting revisions. Be sure to format your paper according to MLA guidelines, and don't forget a Works Cited page!

WEEK 10

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 133

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ

Ch.10

→ PRACTICE

Complete Exercise Ten.

WEEK 10

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 134

Materials: Communicating with Grace and Virtue

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.7

WEEK 10

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 135

Reflection

→ WRITE

Write down questions you have about writing. Where do you think you have improved? Where do you think you need to grow? What about writing is the most fun, most confusing, easiest, and hardest?

Discuss with your teacher.

WEEK 10

40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 136

Questions/POV

→ WRITE

Write as many questions as you can during the time about one or a few different books (and/or the connections between them). Then circle the ones that you're particularly curious about.
OR

Retell a scene from Sense & Sensibility from a 1st person POV.

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 3

WEEK 11 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 137

Materials: Steering the Craft

→ READ & NARRATE

Appendix

• Consider setting up a peer group if you are interested. How might a writing group be helpful in a writer's association or a college setting?

→ PRACTICE

Ch.10

• Repeat Exercise Ten.

WEEK 11 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 138

Materials: Communicating with Grace and Virtue

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Ch.8

WEEK 11 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 139

Essay - Character

→ WRITE

What do you think makes a true hero according to Homer? Do you agree with him?

OR

Write a character sketch of Odysseus. What is he like? What are his chief characteristics?

OR

Compare and contrast Odysseus and Rama (from Term 1) and their worlds. Does virtue mean the same thing to both of them?

• REFERENCE

Poetry Reading: Grades 9-12 (Term 3)

General Literature: Grades 11-12 (Term 1)

Book: The Odyssey and The Ramayana (opt.)

WEEK 11 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 140

Materials: Advanced Academic Writing II

Revision

→ REVISE

Revise and edit your character sketch of Odysseus from the last lesson.

Big-Picture Revision

1. Are there other ideas you've had more recently that you'd like to add to your narration? Do that now.

2. Look at your paragraphs. Are they indented and focused around one idea each? Describe that main idea in one sentence and consider making that the first sentence of your paragraph.

3. Try moving your paragraphs around in a different order. What order do you think might make the most sense to someone reading your words?

4. Consider formatting your character sketch as an essay with an intro, body, and conclusion (not required).

Sentence-Level Revision

1. Read your narration aloud and fix any grammar or spelling errors you hear or see.

2. Use Grammarly or another spell checker to find any other punctuation or spelling issues and fix those.

3. Make the main characters the subjects of sentences and important action verbs as possible.

4. How well do your sentences flow? Put old information before new information in your sentences.

5. Delete unnecessary words and change negatives to affirmatives.

6. Read your work aloud again and revise to improve the shape and structure of your sentences.

Formatting Revisions

1. For this project, follow the formatting guidelines in Advanced Academic Writing II p.8-9.

2. Set your font to Times New Roman, size 12.

3. Be sure to add your Works Cited page as a separate page after your essay, and format it with hanging indents. Remember, you can look up anything online if you've forgotten how to double-space your paper, etc.

→ REFERENCE

Advanced Academic Writing II p.16-39, includes some helpful information on common grammar and usage mistakes.

WEEK 12 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 141

Exam Week

→ EXAMS

Answer question(s) related to the course.

Questions will come from:
Steering the Craft

Language Study: Grade 11

Click THIS text or scan the QR code for links.

Term 3
WEEK 12 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 142 Exam Week → EXAMS Answer question(s) related to the course. Questions will come from: Communicating with Grace and Virtue
WEEK 12 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 143 Exam Week → EXAMS Answer question(s) related to the course. Questions will come from: Composition Lessons
WEEK 12 40m Composition: Grade 11 - Lesson 144 Exam Week → EXAMS Answer question(s) related to the course. Questions will come from: Composition Lessons

Language Study: Grade 11

Examination

Term 1

Composition: Grade 11

- Steering the Craft: What can you say about “the sound of your writing,” “punctuation and grammar,” or “sentence length and complex syntax”?
- Steering the Craft: Explain the use of repetition, rhythm, and echoes (structural repetition) in writing.
- Name three logical fallacies you learned this term and give examples of each.

Term 2

Composition: Grade 11

- Steering the Craft: Tell why “the person and the tense of the verb matter.”
- Steering the Craft: Explain the differences and use of point of view and voice in writing; give examples from this term's readings.
- Why do citation systems exist? Explain plagiarism and how to avoid it.

Term 3

Composition: Grade 11

- Steering the Craft: Explain what Le Guin means by “the world is full of stories” and tell about “invisible exposition.”
- Steering the Craft: Explain “Crowding and Leaping”.
- Describe your favorite writing assignment from the term or year. Did you find that writing helped you think more deeply about your topic?