About the Course

This course includes the following topic(s): Old Testament: Grade 2, New Testament: Grade 2, Church History: Grades 1-3

About Old Testament: Grade 2

When students are young, we want them to come to know God through his stories. In Grade 2, students read the stories directly from the Bible, which they were introduced to in Grade 1. Lesson plans also include occasional artwork illustrating the story read and suggested prep selections for teachers from resources such as the Bible Story Handbook, which provides biblical context, helps with interpretational issues, and points out mistakes to avoid when reading specific Bible passages.

About New Testament: Grade 2

New Testament events from the life of Christ are read throughout the year, with beautiful artwork and teacher helps periodically included in the lesson plans to enrich and give context to the stories covered.

About Church History: Grades 1-3

Each year in elementary grades, students read biographies of influential people from church history. This course features the stories of Christians from Alveary's modern history rotation for the years (1800-1900). The selections in these grades are chosen for their accessibility for younger students to learn about the lives and ministries of great men and women of faith.

Placement & Combining Tips

Old Testament: Grade 2

Students in Grade 2 may take this course, which reads straight from the Bible, or First Bible Stories. They may also combine with Grades 3-6 Bible if they are familiar with OT narratives.

Church History: Grades 1-3

Those who wish to combine students in Grades 1-3 with older students should choose either this course or the Church History for grades 4-6.

Bible: Grade 2

How To Teach

Recap

- Connect to previous lessons by asking students to recall where they left off.
- If students have difficulty recalling, teachers might try showing them a picture from the reading, sharing something the teacher remembers, or prompting them with the first sentence of the last reading. This will often refresh their memory enough to allow them to recall.
- If students still cannot recall anything from the last reading, teachers might consider continuing anyway (with a shorter reading this time) or repeating the previous lesson, depending on the reading and the nature of the book.

Read

- Read the chapter or selection aloud. When reading to pre-readers, point to the words as you read, even if it seems they aren't paying attention.
- Move at the students' pace during the lesson, rather than feeling that a particular number of pages must be completed. It is vitally important that teachers not overload students with more material than they can absorb in one sitting.
- Students who have difficulty sitting still or listening may benefit from a fidget of their choice, such as a piece of putty or clay or an afghan; flexible positioning, such as a wobble seat or inverted sitting; or sensory modulation, such as a weighted vest or blanket or adjustment of light, temperature, or sound.
- Students with regular difficulty engaging often benefit from having a picture to associate with the story WHILE listening. Feel free to view the artwork during the reading rather than after the narration.

Narrate

- Have students retell the passage orally.
- Alternatively, learners may use words, pictures, Legos, dolls, etc., to process and convey ideas in the manner most natural to them.
- Teachers may take turns to model.
- Narration is a complex skill requiring the coordination of several parts of the brain. If a student struggles to narrate in general, with a specific subject or book, or on one day but not others, then this is an opportunity to learn. Observe when they struggle with this or any other activity today. Notice facial expressions and body language; listen to what they say about why it is hard or how they feel about it. Take note of these observations for later, tell them that you see how hard they are working, and then offer whatever support they need to end on a positive note. If necessary, take a break for the day.

View

- Optional: Share a piece of fine art that illustrates the story.

Discuss

- Give students an opportunity to share their thoughts on the lesson and any connections made.

Introduction to George Müller

Materials: The Bandit of Ashley Downs: George Müller, globe or wall map

→ INTRO

This year in Church History, we are reading about Christians from the past who lived between the years 1800-1900 AD. You will read about people who loved God, loved the Bible, and wanted others to know the good news that salvation is found in Jesus Christ. They followed God even when it was hard and they faced difficulty.

The first book we will read is "The Bandit of Ashley Downs: George Müller," where we are introduced to George Müller, a historical person

• IMPORTANT DATES

1805 - George Muller is Born

• TERMINOLOGY

sexton - a person whose job is to take care of a church and the area around it, and ring the church bell pickpocket - a person who steals from people's pockets, or the actual act of stealing money who lived a life of pursuing God through faith and prayer. In the story, a fictional (made-up) character named Curly Roddy is introduced, who the authors use to introduce us to George Müller's life of faith. Curly was an orphan. What do you know about orphans? An orphan was a child whose mother and father had died, or had one parent who died, and the other parent couldn't take care of the child properly. In the late 1800s, only children who had money in their families could afford to live in an orphanage. That's why Curly lived on the streets and, in the story, tries to steal money and is hungry for food.

Thankfully, the historical figure of George Müller loved Jesus and wanted to show that love to orphans by opening orphanages for children who may not be able to help pay for their care. George Müller was born in 1805 and became a Christian when he was 20 years old, when his friend took him to a Bible study. After that, George decided to become a missionary and moved to London, England. During that time, he met a friend, Henry Craik, who would be his friend for life as they shared the Gospel message and ministered to children.

→ INTRO

In today's reading, we learn a little more about Curly, including the fact that he had nine brothers and sisters. After their parents died, they were separated and put in different places. Sometimes orphans would be sent to workhouses, where they would have to work for long days. Others would be sent to help out in houses or businesses. Since the character of Curly did not have an adult helping him, he chose to work for a criminal and made choices that led him to running away from the man at the church.

In today's reading, we'll hear about a stagecoach going from London to Bristol. The distance between the two cities is about 120 miles. A stagecoach can only go about 5-10 miles per hour, which means the trip would take between 12 and 24 hours! If we drove a car today between those two cities, it might only take us two hours. Today, we will read what plan Curly comes up with to steal some money from that stagecoach. But first, let's look at a picture of a stagecoach.
