U.S. History: Grades 9-12

How To Approach

Recap

- Take a second to recall what you read previously in the same book or topic.
- If the previous passage is difficult to remember, try looking back at any chapter/section headings or illustrations or reading the first paragraph to jog the memory.

Read

- Read the selection assigned OR read for the number of minutes allocated, leaving time for narration and mapwork. Use whichever guide (i.e., pages or minutes) works best for you. You want to read enough to be interesting, but not so much that you feel overwhelmed.
- If a book is challenging for you as a student, try stopping to narrate to yourself silently for a minute every now and then to make sure you are tracking. You might also want to read aloud to yourself. Or you might want to listen to an audiobook version of the text and read along with it.
- If a book is an easy read, enjoy the ride!
- Keep an eye out for quotes to put in your commonplace book or events or characters to put down in your Book of Centuries.

Narrate

- Process and integrate your reading by narrating either orally or in writing. Some lesson plans will give you a suggestion of how best to narrate.
- To keep yourself on track, you might want to set a timer, so you stop reading with enough time to narrate.

Connect

- After your narration, think about how what you read connects to other subjects, other books, and other things you've read, watched, or seen in the past or present.
- Share any ideas that are particularly interesting to you with your fellow classmates, teachers, parents, friends, or others. You might even want to do a bit more reading or research on something on your own time in the afternoon or evenings.

Teacher Note

These lessons are written directly to the student, but to assist them throughout the year, please read through this section and the lesson plans so you are familiar with the instructions and flow of the lessons. Accountability components are added to facilitate teacher/student discussion and growing independence.

Those educating at home might pick one or two history lessons to read aloud with their students to keep up the habit of oral narration and foster conversation and relationship, and then simply give students these lesson plans and the rest of the books and check in with them throughout the term for conversation, support, and accountability.

It is valuable for those in a classroom setting to also have a mix of lessons that students complete themselves silently and others read aloud and narrated together. Classroom settings lend themselves well to additional discussion and sharing at the end of lessons, after everyone has narrated either together or independently in writing.

Term 1

WEEK 1 40m U.S. History: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 1

Materials: American History: Volume 1

→ INTRO

Starting this year, we will be reading through Thomas Kidd's American History: Volume 1 & 2. We will begin in chapter seven, as this is the chapter opening up the 19th century. The United States of America has established its independence from Britain but must now recover from war and navigate the land, the laws, and find new leaders. Over the course of the next hundred years, we will walk alongside people as they navigate the formation of what would become a fifty-state nation. If you are interested and have the time, you are invited to peruse the first few chapters of the textbook for a quick review of where we have left off.

→ ANNOTATE

American History is a non-fiction book, which makes it a good candidate for annotation. While you are reading through the text, you may encounter an interesting point or main idea that you want to underline. You could put a question mark next to a statement you find unclear. You may place sticky notes on a page that you want to return to. Experiment with different ways to engage with the information in the book. Some students will record themselves reading or talking about the reading. Others may start a discussion with an acquaintance about the material. Try different ways and see what works and what doesn't work for you. You can discuss your findings with your teacher.

2. In one paragraph, summarize the political climate in the early 1800s seen in the text. Who are the people you are encountering? What are the popular movements of the day? What themes are popping up in the reading that Kidd mentioned in his introduction?

• STUDENT TIP

Be sure to add some people, events, and drawings of artifacts to your book of centuries. Mark potential items with a Post-it note as you read so you remember to find something when you sit down to work in your book.

Intro to Primary Sources

Materials: American Horizons: Volume 1

→ INTRO

Primary Sources are one of the ways that you can encounter the real lives of people in history. American Horizons is a collection of visual and written documents that show how people were thinking and feeling throughout the 1800s. There are questions at the end of each reading section, and while not all of them are assigned, you are invited to ponder them as you read through the different documents. Use this reading to place yourself in the time and place in history.

WEEK 4

40m U.S. History: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 7

Materials: American History: Volume 1

→ INTRO

In his book Why Study History, author and Historian John Fea writes, "Indeed, anyone who studies the past realizes that there are no heroes in history. While people may perform heroic acts, all humans are tainted by sin and are susceptible to acting in ways that preference themselves over others and God. Historians understand, perhaps better than most, the reality of the pain, suffering, injustice, anger, and vice brought on by sin. In other words, they understand the tragic dimensions of life."

As you enter into this next chapter, you will encounter more and more people tainted by sin. As the struggle over slavery begins in the United States of America, there will be people who inspire and people who reveal the depravity of humanity in their actions towards others. I invite you to think like a historian and enter into the pain, suffering, injustice, anger, and vice brought on by sin that you witness within the next pages. It's important to remember that while John Fea's earlier words are important and true, what he adds later is, "A belief in the reality of sin should provide us with a healthy skepticism about movements in the past committed to utopian ends, unlimited progress, or idealistic solutions to the problems of this world. This, of course, does not mean that we should stop working toward these ends, but history certainly teaches us that we live in a broken world that will not be completely fixed on this side of eternity. Similarly, a belief in depravity helps us to better explain the human condition—the restlessness, the search for meaning, and the prideful ambition that has defined much of the past, especially in the modern era. Augustine was quite correct when he opened his Confessions with the famous words, "Our hearts are restless until they rest in you."

→ INTRO

Have you ever watched a western? Perhaps there is a favorite book you've read set in the time of cowboys and early American exploration? The chapter you are about to read concerns the American West. As you will see, the American West is more complicated than what we encounter in books, television, and movies. There are battles that change the trajectory of many people's lives, as well as political choices that fuel a later war. There is constant movement from every people-group as they hope to find a new home. I invite you to ponder a couple of questions as you read through the chapter. What are some things happening in the reading that shocked you? What was new? What has changed based on your reading? What have you learned that isn't consistent with what you already know?

Materials: American History: Volume 1

→ INTRO

As you read Chapter 10, you will encounter many topics. The first being education in America in the 1800s. From higher education like Harvard and Dartmouth College, all the way to education for young boys and girls. The second will be science and faith and the intertwining of these two social spheres. There will be many events that spark conversation about science and faith, but the most important will be the publishing of Charles Darwin's Origin of Species in 1859. As you will read, Christians and non-Christians will be in discussion over the topic of evolution and the Genesis 1 narrative. The third topic you will encounter is the Bible and slavery. This section will focus on the reaction from Christians to slavery and to the Bible. Is slavery something you find in the Bible? Yes. Does that mean slavery is acceptable? This question, along with many others, will become the topic of conversation for North and South for years and years.

WEEK 8 30m U.S. History: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 16

Materials: The Narrative of Lunsford Lane

→ INTRO

The fight for freedom for many slaves did not begin and end with the Civil War. There had been continuous struggles for freedom prior to 1861. Men and women escaped the horrors of slavery by many avenues. The Narrative of Lunsford Lane explores an avenue that isn't talked about often: purchasing one's freedom.

Lunsford Lane is an autobiography written and published in 1842. His story is one of bravery, perseverance, family, and struggle. He encounters the worst of humanity, but he also encounters people who will help him take on entire systems of injustice.

As Christians, we grieve as we read these stories, where those made in the image of God are dehumanized and abused. Nevertheless, hearing these stories of suffering and overcoming is essential. We pray that your heart remains soft and that you read and process these stories with a longing for justice and an empathy for those who have gone through what no man or woman should go through.

John Fea, in his book Why Study History, challenges the reader with the line, "Historians also study the past in context." In reading about the subject of history, there is a challenge in looking at the past through the eyes of someone living in the 21st century. To quote Fea again, "Any event from the past should be understood in light of the circumstances, settings, or belief systems in which it occurred." I invite you to ponder what circumstances, settings, and belief systems are being carried by those you are reading about in both American History and American Horizons. How do they differ from your own? What do you know now that they did not know at the time? And what knowledge did they have that you might be lacking?

A Year in the South: 1865 by Stephen Ash

WEEK 1 30m U.S. History: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 26

Materials: They Fought Like Demons

→ INTRO

The Civil War lasted for four years. Over those four years, there are many letters from husbands and fathers and sons to their loved ones. But if one looks deeper into the Military Archives—like Deanne Blanton and Lauren Cook did—they will find peculiar letters to family members from people like Francis Clayton and Albert Cashier. The peculiarity comes from the fact that these men did not really exist. Instead, they were aliases that women took on to be able to join the fight—on both sides. These women masqueraded as men, became spies, doctors, and nurses, and shared in the fate of their fellow soldiers. Their stories show that women were not just within the home but were actively participating and dying for their country and their beliefs. They Fought Like Demons is a book about a war. Thus, this book has tales of violence and death. But it also tells the stories of women whose love for their families, their beliefs, and their country drove them to hide their identity and brave the battlefield.

WEEK 1 40m U.S. History: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 49

Materials: American History: Volume 2

→ INTRO

The Civil War has ended, but the building of America is just beginning. War has once again ravaged the land and has left its mark on everyone. American History: Volume 2 is going to begin with reforging the nation. The United States of America must now recover from war.

→ READ

Ch.16 p.3-10 beginning of chapter - "New Lands and New..."

WEEK 1 30m U.S. History: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 50

Materials: I Am a Man

→ INTRO

The story you are about to read is riddled with violence. I Am a Man is about the forced removal of a tribe called the Ponca. They were given a plot of land to live and cultivate, but years later, they found themselves thrown off that land. The Ponca were made to travel to a harsh climate that had none of the benefits of their previous home. The violence that you will encounter in today's reading is included to give us a better sense of the realities of these men, women, and children and to help us sympathize and empathize with their plight.

As you read through this book, you will be grieved, and we grieve with you. We grieve the poor treatment of those who are made in God's image. We grieve the loss of life because of the actions of our fellow man. We pray that your hearts will remain soft as you read these tales of loss, bravery, struggle, and injustice. As Dr. McKenzie writes in A Little Book for New Historians, "We can't study the past for long without encountering individuals who did or said or believed things that we now hold to be immoral, even evil. And when that happens, our hearts and minds will lead us down one of two paths: toward self-exaltation-'God, I thank you that I am not like other people'--or toward a deeper awareness of our need for grace-'God, have mercy on me, a sinner.'"

→ READ

p.1-19

→ NARRATE

Narrate orally or in writing to yourself or others.

→ WRITE

Answer the questions in three paragraphs:

What shocked you about the reading? What was new to you? What have you encountered before?

WEEK 2 40m U.S. History: Grades 9-12 - Lesson 51

Materials: American History: Volume 2

→ INTRO

The nation is being reformed after the Civil War. But there isn't just one place or one group of people doing the work. Many people are stepping up. Who are these people? What actions are they taking? What are they contributing to the nation? Do we still see the effects of their contributions today? Ponder these questions as you read through the section.
