

Shakespeare

About the Course

As foundational and influential English texts, students read three Shakespeare plays per year - usually a tragedy, a comedy, and a history (occasionally also connected to the historical time period). This year's plays are The Tempest, Henry IV Part 2, and The Winter's Tale.

Shakespeare: Grades 5-8

William Shakespeare (1564-1616) is perhaps the greatest writer in the English language. Reading and speaking his beautiful words will delight students as they learn his timeless stories, meet a variety of characters, enrich their minds, and instruct their consciences. Students will begin by simply enjoying the plays and later by writing short compositions, comparisons, and commonplace entries. Shakespeare covers the wide panorama of human experience through his nearly 40 plays; the comedies, tragedies, and histories that students read will spark their imaginations with stories that transcend time and culture.

Placement & Combining Tips

Most Shakespeare lessons are shared with Grades 5-12. Students new to Shakespeare may choose to start with the Shakespeare Beginner Track lessons for two terms to ease into the plays.

Shakespeare: Grades 5-8

☐ You may want to read "Shakespeare and a Christian Worldview," which is Ch. 9 in the book

Echoes of Eden – Reflections on Christianity, Literature, and the Arts by Jerram Barrs. This is an excellent overview of why Shakespeare is important for everyone to know, including Christians.

☐ If your students are new to Shakespeare, read the tips for beginners (Found in the Appendix link)

☐ You may want to read a retelling beforehand so you are familiar with the play. (Suggestions found in Extra Helpings)

☐ Read the discussion questions and skim the summaries of each scene each week before the reading to help guide emphasis and discussion with your students.

☐ Consider purchasing puppets to use while reading to keep track of all the characters.

NOTE on VERSIONS

Students should have an unabridged copy that is not in a modern language edition, such as the ones linked in the program. The language complexity gets easier to understand with practice. (Note: Shakespeare's work does often contain bawdy jokes or off-color content that will go over the heads of students if left in its original form; a modern language version will lay it all right out there in plain, modern English.) We like the Folger editions because they are inexpensive, the lines are numbered (making it easy to find your place), and they contain good notes. These are available on the Folger website as free PDFs as well, though the notes are omitted.

NOTE on CONTENT

Teachers are sometimes wary of reading Shakespeare with their students because the plays do contain material that they would deem inappropriate. The Alveary generally follows Mason's programs for younger students. That does not mean, however, that your student will never encounter anything unsavory. Our best advice is to read in such a way that these things are moved over quickly, without added attention being drawn to them. Mason assures us that Shakespeare provides students with rich language and character lessons that are unparalleled.

Shakespeare: Grades 5-8

How To Teach

Prepare

- Read through the lesson and gather any materials or find any necessary links.
- If you have not already read the book, you may want to read the selected pages in advance, especially for Shakespeare lessons. It is helpful to read the play or a preview of it beforehand.
- Choose which books to have students start reading independently (General Literature selections are especially good for independent work).

Recap

- Connect back to the previous lesson. Ask students to give a summary of what they remember and/or predict what might come next. (Full narration is not necessary.)
- If students have difficulty recalling, teachers might try showing them an illustration, sharing something that the teacher remembers, or prompting them with the first sentence of the last reading. This will often refresh their memory enough to allow them to recall.
- If students still cannot recall anything from the last reading, then teachers might consider continuing anyway (with a shorter reading and/or using a combination of visual and audio support this time) or repeating the last lesson, depending on the reading and the nature of the book.

Introduce

- Use a picture, map, or engaging question to pique the student's interest in the day's lesson.
- If necessary, you may talk about one or two unfamiliar words that will be crucial to understanding.

Read

- Read the day's passage aloud or have students read independently. For Shakespeare, it is highly recommended that each student have their own copy of the play and that you read it aloud together or read along and underline/make notes while listening to the audio recording.
- Use supportive strategies and educational tools to reduce frustration and better engage the mind, as appropriate. These could include, but are not limited to, the use of eBooks, pictures, audio, read-aloud, buddy reading, colored reading strips, etc.
- Some students may benefit from having a notebook or piece of scrap paper available to externalize ideas by drawing, recording names, or making symbolic 'squiggle' notes.
- Students who have a difficult time sitting still or listening may benefit from: a fidget of their choice, such as a piece of putty or clay or an afghan; flexible positioning, such as a wobble seat or inverted sitting; or sensory modulation, such as a weighted vest or blanket or adjustment of light, temperature, or sound.

Narrate

- Have students retell the passage orally or in writing. If writing, encourage students to use the full remaining lesson time and include as much detail as they can remember. For Shakespeare or challenging books, it may be helpful to narrate more frequently and/or use props.
- Alternatively, learners may use words, pictures, Legos, dolls, etc., to process and convey ideas in the manner most natural to them.

- Students who used paper or a notebook to externalize may refer to these for support. Other students who need external support may benefit from looking at a map or picture from the book while narrating.
- Students who tend to use the same type of narration all the time can be encouraged to try another form of narration by first doing it together through play or discussion.
- Teachers may take turns to model.
- Narration is a complex skill that requires the coordination of several parts of the brain. If a student struggles to narrate in general, with a specific subject or book, or on one day but not others, then this is an opportunity to learn. Observe when they struggle with this or any other activity today; notice facial expressions and body language; listen to what they tell you about why it is hard or how they feel about it. Take note of these observations for later, tell them that you see how hard they are working, and then offer whatever support they need to end on a positive note or take a break for the day, if necessary.

Discuss

- Give the student an opportunity to share thoughts on the lesson and any connections made.
- To stimulate discussion, you could ask them what they thought about the passage or ask an open-ended question.

Term 1

WEEK 1 30m Shakespeare: Grades 5-8 - Lesson 1

Materials: The Tempest

PREP: Read an overview of the play (one synopsis is located at the beginning of the Folger edition of the play). If you are not familiar with the play, you will want to read other retellings. We highly suggest Stories from Shakespeare by Marchette Chute. Resources are listed on the Extra Helpings Page. Also, be sure to read the note about mature content and language in Shakespeare in the Planning and Prep section.

→ INTRO

- What makes a tragedy a tragedy or a comedy a comedy?
- Our play this term is sometimes called a tragicomedy because it has both comedic and tragic elements. Overall, the play has a happy ending, which places it in the comedic category. The name of the play, "The Tempest," means "a violent storm," and it will give us lots of things to ponder about power, betrayal, magic, slavery, and the restoration of relationships.
- Take time to review the elements of tragedy and comedy before beginning.
∞ Link: Genres of Shakespeare

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Act 1: Scene 1-2 p.7-25 "Boatswain!" - "Approach, my Ariel. Come."

- How do each of the characters respond to the storm? What is the tone of this scene?
- Re-read lines 84-95. Discuss the context this gives for the story.
- Put the following quote from Miranda into your own words. What does it tell us about what Miranda is like?

"A brave vessel,
Who had, no doubt, some noble creature in her,
Dashed all to pieces. O, the cry did knock
Against my very heart! Poor souls, they perished.
Had I been any god of power, I would
Have sunk the sea within the earth or ere
It should the good ship so have swallowed, and
The fraughting souls within her."

★ TEACHER TIP

Take turns reading the play aloud if using these lessons in a group. We recommend reading the summaries of each scene to briefly preview content and help orient students.

Ariel?

WEEK 3 30m Shakespeare: Grades 5-8 - Lesson 3

→ READ, NARRATE, & DISCUSS

Act 1 Scene 2 p.41-49 "Come unto these" - "Speak not for him."

- What does Ferdinand think of Miranda? How do you think this relationship will develop or change?

→ ACTIVITY

With the remaining time, let's dig into Caliban's speech from earlier in this scene to work to stretch our imaginations and seek to understand his world from his perspective as well as Prospero's.
∞ Link: Caliban Visual

★ TEACHER NOTE

The activity at the end of the lesson requires you to be present. Also, there are more layers to the activity than will likely fit in the remaining time after the reading is done. The point is to practice seeing the play from a different perspective, so feel free to stop at the end of the lesson time and move on, or continue the activity if desired and time allows.

WEEK 4 30m Shakespeare: Grades 5-8 - Lesson 4

Materials: The Tempest

→ RECAP

What is the setting (background story and situation) of The Tempest?

→ INTRO

The setting of The Tempest is unique. The play takes place on a remote island (meaning no one lives there) with the exception of Caliban and Ariel. This island is in the Mediterranean Sea. However, there are two important Italian Kingdoms mentioned – Naples and Milan. Prospero and Miranda, as well as the characters who crashed on the island, are from these kingdoms. Let's review the map and the character list. Consider sketching a map in your notebook.

Act 3 Scene 1-2 p.91-109 "There be some" - "I'll follow, Stephano."

→ DISCUSS

Pretend you are an investigative reporter covering Caliban's plot to overthrow Prospero in Act 3, Scene 2. Look back at the scene and see what evidence you can find to explain the conspiracy to the public. Use these questions to guide you:

1. What is Caliban's plan?
2. Why does Caliban want Stephano to rule the island?
3. How does Ariel disrupt the plan and cause confusion?
4. Is Stephano a strong leader? Does he do anything to suggest he isn't?

• EXTRA HELPING

• COMPOSITION - News Report
Build on the discussion from the lesson and create a news report. If you are doing these lessons alone, write up your findings as a news article. In this scene, we will encounter a puzzling stage direction: "He exits, pursued by a bear." One question that interpreters ask is, did they use a real bear? At the time, chained-up bears were used as live entertainment. Many have speculated whether or not the Bard would have used an actual bear in a live performance. Watch a clip of Aslan's breath. C.S. Lewis was an English professor and was very familiar with Shakespeare's works. There is an intriguing parallel between The Winter's Tale and The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe. Watch the scene, Aslan's breath, and see if the students can spot the parallel. Consider too how the breath of God is used in Scripture to create life (Gen. 2:7), to resurrect the dead (Ezek. 37:9-10), and to impart the Holy Spirit (John 20:22).
